Austrian Treaty Talks Progress

Figl Declares Chances Good

VIENNA, Austria, May 2 (AP)—Ambassadors of the four powers occupying Austria talked 4½ hours today about concluding an Austrian independence treaty. Austrian Foreign Minister Leopold Figl emerged from the conference with the words: "The chances are good."

A communique said "notable progress was made." Participating were envoys from Britain, France, Russia and the United States and an Austrian delegation.

Informed sources reported U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr., won the first round of the conference.

Soviets Persuaded

Thompson was said to have persuaded the Russians that any delegation could discuss any of the treaty's 59 articles. Most of the articles have been agreed on in previous Big Four meetings, but the Western powers want several reviewed.

After 10 years of stalling, the Russians recently said they were willing to sign the long-delayed pact that would bring freedom to this occupied land and the withdrawal of the Big Four's 70,000 troops.

A sudden change in the Soviet position at Easter made today's conference possible. Unless there's a breakup, the Big Four foreign ministers are expected to come to Vienna in mid-May to sign the treaty after ironing out points on which the ambassadors cannot agree.

Russia Wants Speed

The Russians were believed to have agreed quickly to Western proposals on how the conference should be conducted. They apparently want the treaty adopted quickly in the hope it will persuade West Germany to halt her rearmament plans. Austria would be militarily neutralized.

The ambassadors agreed to meet daily. Thompson was chairman today. The chair will rotate in order to Soviet Ambassador Ivan I. Ilyichev, British Ambassador Sir Geoffrey Wallinger and French Charge d'Affaires Roger LaLouette.

CIO Unions Aid Phone Strikers

ATLANTA, May 2 (AP)—The CIO said in Washington today that a group of its unions has arranged to lend the CIO Communications Workers of America 1¼ million dollars to help its 50-day-old strike against the Southern Bell Telephone Co. in nine Southeastern states.

CIO President Walter Reuther said the loan "will enable the union to provide necessary relief and assistance to the strikers and their families."

In Atlanta, the CWA district director, W. A. Smallwood termed the loan "a shining symbol of the labor unity that gives workers their strength."

Arrangements for the loan were announced only a few days after the CWA reported receipt of an anonymous donation of a half-million dollars toward its strike fund.

The loan was announced shortly after Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama cited economic losses caused by the telephone and railroad strikes and said he expects to ask for legislation permitting the state to operate strikebound utilities.

Extension Of Disabled Vets' Auto Law Voted

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP) — House passage sent to the Senate today a bill extending for two years the time allowed for certain disabled veterans to obtain specially-equipped automobiles.

Existing law provides for a federal payment of $1,600 toward the purchase of automobiles for veterans suffering from designated disabilities.

President Golfs, Delays Receiving Formosa Report

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—The White House underlined its no-crisis attitude about Formosa today by waiting until tomorrow to receive a formal report from a top level mission just back from the scene.

President Eisenhower, in fact, took time off for a game of golf with the visiting Prime Minister of Thailand, Field Marshal P. Pibulsonggram.

Pair Talked With Chiang

Asst. Secretary of State Walter Robertson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, flew to Formosa nearly two weeks ago for talks with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and other Chinese Nationalist leaders. They returned to this country yesterday.

It was announced at the time they left that they were undertaking the mission "in view of the tense situation which continues in the area." However, Secretary of State Dulles said then that "no crisis is involved."

Presumably one of the topics which they took up with Chiang was the matter of whether the United States should negotiate with the Chinese Communists on a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait. The Nationalists oppose any negotiations with the Reds.

Return Almost Leisurely

While there was an air of urgency about their departure, announced April 20 in a change of plans—Radford had been scheduled tog o to Europe—their return to Washington was almost leisurely.

They didn't get back here until last night, having stopped first for a visit at Robertson's home in Richmond, Va.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said Radford would report to Eisenhower tomorrow; he said he didn't know whether Robertson would join him.

Salesman Halts TV In Winning $5 Bet

WINNIPEG, Man., May 2 (AP)—For five dollars, soft drink salesman Norman Fennell halted operations of a television station last night.

He climbed the station's 248-foot transmission tower to win a $5 bet made in a bar. But when he reached the antenna's top, he froze with fear. The station had to go off the air.

George Smith, 25, a former St. Paul, Minn., steeplejack visiting here, climbed up after Fennell and coaxed him down. Fennell pleaded guilty today to a charge of obstructing or interfering with the lawful use, enjoyment or operation of property. He will be sentenced tomorrow.

Station officials said the station went off the air as a precautionary measure when Smith started up the tower. They said Fennell might have been killed if he had grounded the 10,000-watt power of the station when he started his climb.

Reluctant Skipper, Crew Taken Off Leaking "Lehi"

MONTEREY, Calif., May 2 (AP)—The Coast Guard, bucking waves 10 feet high in a black, predawn search, today pulled a reluctant skipper and four seasick crewmen off a leaking raft—only 56 miles along the 2,400 they had hoped to drift to Hawaii.

While the wind howled and the sea tossed, the raft's skipper, Devere Baker, a Mormon Church elder, pleaded in vain by radio for the Coast Guard to take the raft in tow so he could make a third try.

The minute he got ashore, Baker, who wants to prove a legend of 600 B.C., cast about for a fishing boat to go after his wandering derelict, Lehi II.

But the Coast Guard took a dim view, pointing out that both the Lehi I last year in a five-day voyage and the Lehi II in three days never went anywhere except south along the coast.

Coast Guard Capt. Donald E. McKay said that landlubber Baker "just doesn't understand the sea" and twice has tried a "foolhardy" trip to find out what the Coast Guard has known all along: There is a coastal current south but "no current to the West."

"If a man wants to commit suicide, the federal government has no legal way of stopping it as far as I know," McKay added crisply.

Baker wants to prove that an Israelite sect, led by a priest, Lehi, drifted on a raft out of the Persian Gulf and across the Indian ocean in 600 B.C., subsisting on what they caught in the sea.

Hearings On Salk Vaccine Controls Will Start Soon

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Chairman Spence (D-Ky) of the House Banking Committee said today he would hold hearings "as soon as possible" on appeals for federal controls over distribution of the Salk polio vaccine.

Spence said a warm controversy is developing over whether the government should step in and decide who will get the vaccine first, or whether allocations should be left to private channels.

"Certainly it is very essential that the vaccine be distributed properly and equitably," the chairman added in an interview. "We will look into it immediately."

His committee has jurisdiction in the House over price and wage controls, priorities and allocations.

Morse, Lehman Urge Action

Sens. Morse (D-Ore) and Lehman (D-NY) added their voices today to demands for a quick federal law to see to it that the vaccine goes first to those who need it most. Generally speaking, these are children from 5 to 9 years of age.

Meanwhile, the National Advisory Committee on Polio Vaccine went ahead with its work on details of a voluntary system of allocations and age-group priorities.

Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele of the Public Health Service said the administration is sticking to its position that a voluntary system is the best way to handle the "very difficult problem."

Committee Subjects

Among the subjects listed for the advisory committee: state-by-state allocations; age group priorities within the over-all age group of 1-through-19; and the possibility of firmer government action to assure fair distribution.

Spence said he hoped hearings before his committee could be arranged within a week.

Spence said he didn't know now whether he would favor federal priorities and allocations in distributing the vaccine, but if the shortage is acute and abuses are likely then, "I think maybe these may be very meritorious bills."

He referred to a number of bills introduced by House members calling for federal intervention.

Audience Walking Out On Atomic Production

SURVIVAL CITY, Nev., May 2 (AP)—The multitude which flocked here to see an atomic Civil Defense-military test was melting away fast tonight.

When Wednesday morning rolls around, the earliest time at which a new attempt can be made at firing the 40-kiloton explosive, nine days of postponements will be in the books.

Forty kilotons are the equivalent of 40,000 tons of TNT.

Diem Defies Bao Dai

Viet Nam Army Moves To Crush Rebel Remnants

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, May 2 (AP)—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem—backed by army leaders and reassured of U.S. support—tonight defied ex-Emperor Bao Dai's power to change governments.

While guns boomed in a fresh drive against rebels who challenged Diem's authority last week, a message sent by Diem and three army generals to Bao Dai's villa on the French Riviera advised him that any new government he might name would not be recognized.

A "states general," an assembly of Vietnamese provincial delegates, has been called for Wednesday by the National Revolutionary Committee with the declared purpose of approving the committee's action Saturday declaring Bao Dai deposed.

French Officials Back Diem

Diem learned directly from Gen. J. Lawton Collins, special envoy of President Eisenhower, that the United States still backs his conduct of the embattled South Vietnamese government in the face of local rebellion, French animosty and Bao Dai's disapproval.

In Paris French officials, who had been blaming Diem for plunging his country into civil war and clinging to a government they thought did not represent the people, joined the United States today in supporting the hard-fighting little Premier. Authoritative French government sources said France and the United States were now prepared to "sacrifice" Bao Dai as chief of state if his removal would produce stability. This was in sharp contrast to French Premier Edgar Faure's summary statement last week that Diem was unequal to his task.

New Mopup Drive Begins

Diem and his supporters bustled through another action-packed day in the beleagured capital while the army moved anew to wipe out the rebellious Binh Xuyen forces whose outbreak turned the capital into a battlefield last week.

The sound of massive explosions rocked Saigon again tonight as the national army unleashed a new mopup drive against a new Le Van Vien's Binh Xuyen commandos, ending 48 hours of comparative quiet on the military front.

Anastasia Trial Witness Missing And Feared Slain

MIAMI, Fla., May 2 (AP)—Police of three states delved for clues today to the mysterious disappearance of Charles Ferri, a government witness in the Albert Anastasia income tax evasion trial, and his wife.

The Ferris' richly - furnished suburban home northeast of Miami was found spattered with blood. A vase had been broken, a drape ripped from the living room wall, there was a bloody heelprint in the carport, and Ferri's bloody shoes were found on the lawn.

Pools of blood were found in the living room and bedroom, and the torn drape and some blankets, all bloodstained, were discovered in the bathroom.

"It sure looks bad," said Sheriff's Deputy Floyd Alsbury," but we can't call it murder until some bodies are found."

Ferri, 68, and his wife, 61, moved here 18 months ago after selling a heating and plumbing business in Fort Lee, N. J., where Anastasia has a home. They were last seen Friday, and that day Ferri was served with a subpoena to appear as a witness in a new income tax evasion trial against Anastasia, reputed one-time head of the Brooklyn Murder, Inc., mob.

The new trial was to start May 10. Ferri was a government witness in the previous trial which ended in a jury disagreement last October. He testified that Anastasia paid him $8,700 for four bathrooms and a heating system installed in the mobster's Fort Lee home overlooking the Hudson River.

Dade County (Miami) authorities asked the aid of New York and New Jersey police in the search for clues. Federal officials said they had not been asked to enter the case.

No Car And No Fence For Joey

This badly-damaged car, battered in a 150-foot plunge down an embankment into the Mississippi river near St. Paul, Minn., means no picket fence for Joey Sommers, 3. Joey released the hand brake while waiting for his parents to buy a picket fence to hold him in at home. Two other Sommers children leaped to safety. Joey flew out on the first bump. Joey's father couldn't complete the fence deal because he lacked a vehicle to carry it.

U. S. Steel Board Names Fairless Successor Today

HOBOKEN, N. J., May 2 (AP) — Benjamin F. Fairless stepped down as board chairman of U.S. Steel Corp., today after 18 years of high executive posts in the world's biggest steel company and 42 years in the steel business.

He told the biggest stockholders' meeting in the company's history that he would reach his 65th birthday tomorrow and "under the retirement rule which prevails in our corporation, I must then step aside and surrender the responsibilities of my office to capable and younger hands."

Fairless Given Ovation

More than 900 stockholders gathered in a public auditorium and the announcement brought a round of "ohs." Later the packed throng gave Fairless a standing ovation and sang, "Happy Birthday to You."

He then announced that a successor would be chosen at a meeting of the board of directors tomorrow. Fairless said he would remain as a director and as a member of the finance committee.

Fairless has served as board chairman since 1953. He was president of U.S. Steel from 1937 to 1953.

Son Of Coal Miner

The son of a coal miner, Fairless began his steel career in 1913 and advanced rapidly in the industry.

In steel circles, speculation concerning his successor centered about the names of Roger M. Blough, vice chairman of the board and general counsel, and Clifford F. Hood, president of the corporation.

In his address to the stockholders, Fairless called the firm's present prospects "the brightest in its history."

Dr. Salk Says Proper Spacing Of Shots Vital

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 2 (AP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk said today proper spacing of antipolio shots is vital if a child is to gain full protection against later attacks by polio virus.

The celebrated scientist told the American Society for Clinical Investigation that the presence of "measurable amounts" of virus-blocking antibodies in the bloodstream may not be enough to prevent paralysis. The child must also reach a "hyper - reactive" state that assures overwhelming production of antibodies whenever polio virus enter the body,

Dr. Salk said the series of three antipolio shots he recommends cause the creation of antibodies first and the "hyper-reactive" state second.

Egyptian-Israel Talks

GAZA, Egypt - held Palestine, May 2 (AP) — Egyptian and Israeli representatives talked for four hours today about methods of easing border tension. An Egyptian source said afterward no definite settlement was reached and further talks would be held soon.

Ike Says Prosperity, Freer Trade Needed To Halt Communism

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP) — Prosperity at home and freer trade abroad are major ingredients for a victory over communism, President Eisenhower told the U.S. Chamber of Commerce today.

If the United States adheres to the principles which made it great and at the same time works to develop international trade, Eisenhower said, "we are as certain of defeating communism as we are that we are all in this hall this morning."

The President received a standing ovation before and after he delivered his informal remarks at the chamber's annual meeting in Constitution Hall.

"I feel that the aspiration of global peace is based on justice and decency and respect for others, and that it means that we must continue our prosperity at home," he said.

Depressions Seen Obsolete

Other speakers painted a glowing picture of America's future—an economic era in which they predicted depressions will be obsolete, the standard of living possibly doubled and "three-car families" commonplace.

About 3,500 businessmen are attending the meeting which runs through Wednesday.

Eisenhower, plugging for the foreign trade program he has asked Congress to enact, told the delegates that in the interests of freer world trade "we must make some concessions—and some here and there will be a bit painful."

But if the program goes through and international trade is strengthened "we simply cannot lose in the struggle against communism," he said.

President's Program

The Eisenhower program calls for a three-year extension of the reciprocal trade agreements act with authority for the President to reduce tariffs 15 per cent during that period in return for similar trade advantages in foreign markets. It has passed the House and is being debated in the Senate.

As to government regulation of business, Eisenhower said, "we must never accept it if it means surrender of this vital principle" of individual rights—"the greatest good for all of us."

He said the Communists urge on the other hand: "Forget yourselves and build up the state."

"To do this, the Communists have to substitute the state organism for the Almighty—and that we reject," the President said.

Baltimore Seeks Missing Policeman

BALTIMORE, May 2 (AP) — A 14-state lookout was issued today for a policeman who left his suburban Catonsville home last night dressed and fully equipped for work, then disappeared.

The police flashed the teletype message in an attempt to locate Patrolman Thomas R. Hall, 34. He lived with his wife and two children in a nearby Baltimore County apartment about five blocks from the station where he was scheduled to report for duty at 11 p.m.

Pulitzer Prizes For 1955 Go To Faulkner, Williams

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—William Faulkner's "A Fable" today won him his first Pulitzer Prize in literature. Tennessee Williams received his second Pulitzer drama award for "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof."

Faulkner, 1949 Nobel Prize winner, wrote an allegory of mutiny in the trenches of the First World War.

Williams' Broadway hit deals with the dissolution of a Mississippi Delta family. He won in 1948 for "A Streetcar named Desire."

Both Faulkner and Williams are Mississippi-born.

The Columbus, Ga., Ledger and Sunday Ledger-Enquirer won the 1955 prize for disinterested and meritorious public service by a newspaper. It stems from the paper's news coverage and editorial attack on corruption in neighboring Phenix City, Ala.

For the first time, local reporting awards went to two small town newspaper reporters, both in Texas.

Mrs. Caro Brown of the Alice, Tax., Daily Echo, won her award for risking her life in an expose of 40 years of corruption and terrorism in Duval County, Tex. It was adjudged the best example of local reporting against the pressure of edition times. She covered for The Associated Press as well as her own newspaper.

For local reporting where edition time was not a factor, Managing Editor Roland K. Towery of the Cuero, Tex., Daily Record was given the prize. He exposed and covered a Texas land scandal involving a 100 million dollar fund set up by the state to help veterans buy land.

The 38th annual Pulitzer Prizes, set up in the will of the late Publisher Joseph Pulitzer, were awarded by the Columbia University Board of Trustees. Recommendations came from an advisory board of notables in the newspaper and publishing fields.

Other 1955 winners:

History — "Great River, The Rio Grande in North American History," by Paul Horgan, a book that took the Roswell, N. M., author 15 years to compile.

Biography — "The Taft Story," William S. White's story of the late Republican leader and U.S. senator from Ohio. White works in the Washington Bureau of the New York Times.

Poetry — "The Collected Poems of Wallace Stevens," a compilation in honor of the 75th birthday last year of the Pennsylvania poet, who

45 Governors Contend Laws Not Adequate

H-Bomb Can Totally Devastate 80 Square Miles, Peterson Says

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—President Eisenhower told the governors of the states tonight he welcomes their honest differences of opinion with him—no matter how violent they may be.

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Governors of 45 states were told today that a single nuclear weapon can totally devastate 80 square miles of territory. They promptly turned on the heat for more federal help in handling Civil Defense.

Val Peterson, Civil Defense administrator, informed the governors of the widespread devastation that can be expected from an H-bomb—a hundred times as great as that from the original atom bomb dropped on Hiroshima.

From Secretary of Defense Wilson, the governors got assurances that, "Our retaliatory possibilities are very great and we are prepared to use everything we have, if necessary, and that is a great deal."

The Civil Defense discussion ended the opening day of a two-day conference set up by President Eisenhower for top administration officials to brief the governors on problems of foreign relations, national security, highways, and health, education and welfare.

Communism Losing Ground

The state executives were told at a morning session that communism is losing ground in Europe and Latin America.

Vice President Nixon, who recently toured the Caribbean, said communism definitely is on the decline in the Latin-American republics.

Harold E. Stassen, the President's special assistant on disarmament, reported that communism is receding in Europe, although it remains a problem in France and Italy. From now on the major struggle will be in Asia, he said.

All the deliberations were behind closed doors in the Executive Office Building, across the street from the White House, in the room where Eisenhower holds his news conferences. Frank Bane, executive secretary of the annual Governor's Conference, gave newsmen a fill-in on what went on.

"Heated" Discussion

Bane said the conference "got into an extensive, heated discussion on Civil Defense." He said it was "pretty generally agreed" that the present Civil Defense law was based on conditions existing prior to 1950 and is "not at all adequate" in the age of the H-bomb.

The upshot, he said, was a proposal that the Council of State Governments and the Civil Defense organization "sit down at the earliest possible time and consider what changes are necessary in statutes and administrative procedures." Bane said this was suggested by half a dozen governors and Peterson.

The present Civil Defense law says that primary responsibility for defense rests on the states and localities. Various governors took the position, Bane said, that this should be changed to place primary responsibility on the federal government as well as states and localities.

He said the states feel there should be more leadership and direction by the federal government and there was a "feeling on the part of the federal government that it was going to try to provide it and try to get more money."

Viscose Plant Swept By Fire

FRONT ROYAL, Va., May 2 (AP)—A fire which erupted under the American Viscose Corp.'s spinning department here early today was fanned through other sections of the plant by an elaborate system of air ducts and, for a while, threatened the entire sprawling installation.

Company officials declined to estimate the damage but police placed the figure at between $500,000 and one million dollars.

A large amount of equipment was either damaged or destroyed but none of the 2,600 employes was reported injured.

The fire raged out of control for nearly two hours, sending 100-foot flames soaring skyward. Fire companies from this Shenandoah Valley community and the nearby towns of Luray, Strasburg and Winchester were called in to help the plant's own fire crew put out the blaze.

Although the fire apparently started in a fume tunnel under the spinning department, the cause could not be learned immediately.

Meanwhile, the National Advisory Committee on Polio Vaccine went ahead with its work on details of a voluntary system of allocations and age-group priorities.

Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele of the Public Health Service said the administration is sticking to its position that a voluntary system is the best way to handle the "very difficult problem."

Committee Subjects

Among the subjects listed for the advisory committee: state-by-state allocations; age group priorities within the over-all age group of 1-through-19; and the possibility of firmer government action to assure fair distribution.

Spence said he hoped hearings before his committee could be arranged within a week.

Spence said he didn't know now whether he would favor federal priorities and allocations in distributing the vaccine, but if the shortage is acute and abuses are likely then, "I think maybe these may be very meritorious bills."

He referred to a number of bills introduced by House members calling for federal intervention.

Audience Walking Out On Atomic Production

SURVIVAL CITY, Nev., May 2 (AP)—The multitude which flocked here to see an atomic Civil Defense-military test was melting away fast tonight.

When Wednesday morning rolls around, the earliest time at which a new attempt can be made at firing the 40-kiloton explosive, nine days of postponements will be in the books.

Forty kilotons are the equivalent of 40,000 tons of TNT.

Diem Defies Bao Dai

Viet Nam Army Moves To Crush Rebel Remnants

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, May 2 (AP)—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem—backed by army leaders and reassured of U.S. support—tonight defied ex-Emperor Bao Dai's power to change governments.

While guns boomed in a fresh drive against rebels who challenged Diem's authority last week, a message sent by Diem and three army generals to Bao Dai's villa on the French Riviera advised him that any new government he might name would not be recognized.

A "states general," an assembly of Vietnamese provincial delegates, has been called for Wednesday by the National Revolutionary Committee with the declared purpose of approving the committee's action Saturday declaring Bao Dai deposed.

French Officials Back Diem

Diem learned directly from Gen. J. Lawton Collins, special envoy of President Eisenhower, that the United States still backs his conduct of the embattled South Vietnamese government in the face of local rebellion, French animosty and Bao Dai's disapproval.

In Paris French officials, who had been blaming Diem for plunging his country into civil war and clinging to a government they thought did not represent the people, joined the United States today in supporting the hard-fighting little Premier. Authoritative French government sources said France and the United States were now prepared to "sacrifice" Bao Dai as chief of state if his removal would produce stability. This was in sharp contrast to French Premier Edgar Faure's summary statement last week that Diem was unequal to his task.

New Mopup Drive Begins

Diem and his supporters bustled through another action-packed day in the beleaguered capital while the army moved anew to wipe out the rebellious Binh Xuyen forces whose outbreak turned the capital into a battlefield last week.

The sound of massive explosions rocked Saigon again tonight as the national army unleashed a new mopup drive against a new Le Van Vien's Binh Xuyen commandos, ending 48 hours of comparative quiet on the military front.

Anastasia Trial Witness Missing And Feared Slain

MIAMI, Fla., May 2 (AP)—Police of three states delved for clues today to the mysterious disappearance of Charles Ferri, a government witness in the Albert Anastasia income tax evasion trial, and his wife.

The Ferris' richly - furnished suburban home northeast of Miami was found spattered with blood. A vase had been broken, a drape ripped from the living room wall, there was a bloody heelprint in the carport, and Ferri's bloody shoes were found on the lawn.

Pools of blood were found in the living room and bedroom, and the torn drape and some blankets, all bloodstained, were discovered in the bathroom.

"It sure looks bad," said Sheriff's Deputy Floyd Alsbury," but we can't call it murder until some bodies are found."

Ferri, 68, and his wife, 61, moved here 18 months ago after selling a heating and plumbing business in Fort Lee, N. J., where Anastasia has a home. They were last seen Friday, and that day Ferri was served with a subpoena to appear as a witness in a new income tax evasion trial against Anastasia, reputed one-time head of the Brooklyn Murder, Inc., mob.

The new trial was to start May 10. Ferri was a government witness in the previous trial which ended in a jury disagreement last October. He testified that Anastasia paid him $8,700 for four bathrooms and a heating system installed in the mobster's Fort Lee home overlooking the Hudson River.

Dade County (Miami) authorities asked the aid of New York and New Jersey police in the search for clues. Federal officials said they had not been asked to enter the case.

No Car And No Fence For Joey

This badly-damaged car, battered in a 150-foot plunge down an embankment into the Mississippi river near St. Paul, Minn., means no picket fence for Joey Sommers, 3. Joey released the hand brake while waiting for his parents to buy a picket fence to hold him in at home. Two other Sommers children leaped to safety. Joey flew out on the first bump. Joey's father couldn't complete the fence deal because he lacked a vehicle to carry it.

U. S. Steel Board Names Fairless Successor Today

HOBOKEN, N. J., May 2 (AP) — Benjamin F. Fairless stepped down as board chairman of U.S. Steel Corp., today after 18 years of high executive posts in the world's biggest steel company and 42 years in the steel business.

He told the biggest stockholders' meeting in the company's history that he would reach his 65th birthday tomorrow and "under the retirement rule which prevails in our corporation, I must then step aside and surrender the responsibilities of my office to capable and younger hands."

Fairless Given Ovation

More than 900 stockholders gathered in a public auditorium and the announcement brought a round of "ohs." Later the packed throng gave Fairless a standing ovation and sang, "Happy Birthday to You."

He then announced that a successor would be chosen at a meeting of the board of directors tomorrow. Fairless said he would remain as a director and as a member of the finance committee.

Fairless has served as board chairman since 1953. He was president of U.S. Steel from 1937 to 1953.

Son Of Coal Miner

The son of a coal miner, Fairless began his steel career in 1913 and advanced rapidly in the industry.

In steel circles, speculation concerning his successor centered about the names of Roger M. Blough, vice chairman of the board and general counsel, and Clifford F. Hood, president of the corporation.

In his address to the stockholders, Fairless called the firm's present prospects "the brightest in its history."

Dr. Salk Says Proper Spacing Of Shots Vital

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 2 (AP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk said today proper spacing of antipolio shots is vital if a child is to gain full protection against later attacks by polio virus.

The celebrated scientist told the American Society for Clinical Investigation that the presence of "measurable amounts" of virus-blocking antibodies in the bloodstream may not be enough to prevent paralysis. The child must also reach a "hyper - reactive" state that assures overwhelming production of antibodies whenever polio virus enter the body.

Dr. Salk said the series of three antipolio shots he recommends cause the creation of antibodies first and the "hyper-reactive" state second.

Egyptian-Israel Talks

GAZA, Egypt - held Palestine, May 2 (AP) — Egyptian and Israeli representatives talked for four hours today about methods of easing border tension. An Egyptian source said afterward no definite settlement was reached and further talks would be held soon.

Ike Says Prosperity, Freer Trade Needed To Halt Communism

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP) — Prosperity at home and freer trade abroad are major ingredients for a victory over communism, President Eisenhower told the U.S. Chamber of Commerce today.

If the United States adheres to the principles which made it great and at the same time works to develop international trade, Eisenhower said, "we are as certain of defeating communism as we are that we are all in this hall this morning."

The President received a standing ovation before and after he delivered his informal remarks at the chamber's annual meeting in Constitution Hall.

"I feel that the aspiration of global peace is based on justice and decency and respect for others, and that it means that we must continue our prosperity at home," he said.

Depressions Seen Obsolete

Other speakers painted a glowing picture of America's future—an economic era in which they predicted depressions will be obsolete, the standard of living possibly doubled and "three-car families" commonplace.

About 3,500 businessmen are attending the meeting which runs through Wednesday.

Eisenhower, plugging for the foreign trade program he has asked Congress to enact, told the delegates that in the interests of freer world trade "we must make some concessions—and some here and there will be a bit painful."

But if the program goes through and international trade is strengthened "we simply cannot lose in the struggle against communism," he said.

President's Program

The Eisenhower program calls for a three-year extension of the reciprocal trade agreements act with authority for the President to reduce tariffs 15 per cent during that period in return for similar trade advantages in foreign markets. It has passed the House and is being debated in the Senate.

As to government regulation of business, Eisenhower said, "we must never accept it if it means surrender of this vital principle" of individual rights—"the greatest good for all of us."

He said the Communists urge on the other hand: "Forget yourselves and build up the state."

"To do this, the Communists have to substitute the state organism for the Almighty—and that we reject," the President said.

Baltimore Seeks Missing Policeman

BALTIMORE, May 2 (AP) — A 14-state lookout was issued today for a policeman who left his suburban Catonsville home last night dressed and fully equipped for work, then disappeared.

The police flashed the teletype message in an attempt to locate Patrolman Thomas R. Hall, 34. He lived with his wife and two children in a nearby Baltimore County apartment about five blocks from the station where he was scheduled to report for duty at 11 p.m.

Pulitzer Prizes For 1955 Go To Faulkner, Williams

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—William Faulkner's "A Fable" today won him his first Pulitzer Prize in literature. Tennessee Williams received his second Pulitzer drama award for "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof."

Faulkner, 1949 Nobel Prize winner, wrote an allegory of mutiny in the trenches of the First World War.

Williams' Broadway hit deals with the dissolution of a Mississippi Delta family. He won in 1948 for "A Streetcar named Desire."

Both Faulkner and Williams are Mississippi-born.

The Columbus, Ga., Ledger and Sunday Ledger-Enquirer won the 1955 prize for disinterested and meritorious public service by a newspaper. It stems from the paper's news coverage and editorial attack on corruption in neighboring Phenix City, Ala.

For the first time, local reporting awards went to two small town newspaper reporters, both in Texas.

Mrs. Caro Brown of the Alice, Tax., Daily Echo, won her award for risking her life in an expose of 40 years of corruption and terrorism in Duval County, Tex. It was adjudged the best example of local reporting against the pressure of edition times. She covered for The Associated Press as well as her own newspaper.

For local reporting where edition time was not a factor, Managing Editor Roland K. Towery of the Cuero, Tex., Daily Record was given the prize. He exposed and covered a Texas land scandal involving a 100 million dollar fund set up by the state to help veterans buy land.

The 38th annual Pulitzer Prizes, set up in the will of the late Publisher Joseph Pulitzer, were awarded by the Columbia University Board of Trustees. Recommendations came from an advisory board of notables in the newspaper and publishing fields.

Other 1955 winners:

History — "Great River, The Rio Grande in North American History," by Paul Horgan, a book that took the Roswell, N. M., author 15 years to compile.

Biography — "The Taft Story," William S. White's story of the late Republican leader and U.S. senator from Ohio. White works in the Washington Bureau of the New York Times.

Poetry — "The Collected Poems of Wallace Stevens," a compilation in honor of the 75th birthday last year of the Pennsylvania poet, who

45 Governors Contend Laws Not Adequate

H-Bomb Can Totally Devastate 80 Square Miles, Peterson Says

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—President Eisenhower told the governors of the states tonight he welcomes their honest differences of opinion with him—no matter how violent they may be.

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Governors of 45 states were told today that a single nuclear weapon can totally devastate 80 square miles of territory. They promptly turned on the heat for more federal help in handling Civil Defense.

Val Peterson, Civil Defense administrator, informed the governors of the widespread devastation that can be expected from an H-bomb—a hundred times as great as that from the original atom bomb dropped on Hiroshima.

From Secretary of Defense Wilson, the governors got assurances that, "Our retaliatory possibilities are very great and we are prepared to use everything we have, if necessary, and that is a great deal."

The Civil Defense discussion ended the opening day of a two-day conference set up by President Eisenhower for top administration officials to brief the governors on problems of foreign relations, national security, highways, and health, education and welfare.

Communism Losing Ground

The state executives were told at a morning session that communism is losing ground in Europe and Latin America.

Vice President Nixon, who recently toured the Caribbean, said communism definitely is on the decline in the Latin-American republics.

Harold E. Stassen, the President's special assistant on disarmament, reported that communism is receding in Europe, although it remains a problem in France and Italy. From now on the major struggle will be in Asia, he said.

All the deliberations were behind closed doors in the Executive Office Building, across the street from the White House, in the room where Eisenhower holds his news conferences. Frank Bane, executive secretary of the annual Governor's Conference, gave newsmen a fill-in on what went on.

"Heated" Discussion

Bane said the conference "got into an extensive, heated discussion on Civil Defense." He said it was "pretty generally agreed" that the present Civil Defense law was based on conditions existing prior to 1950 and is "not at all adequate" in the age of the H-bomb.

The upshot, he said, was a proposal that the Council of State Governments and the Civil Defense organization "sit down at the earliest possible time and consider what changes are necessary in statutes and administrative procedures." Bane said this was suggested by half a dozen governors and Peterson.

The present Civil Defense law says that primary responsibility for defense rests on the states and localities. Various governors took the position, Bane said, that this should be changed to place primary responsibility on the federal government as well as states and localities.

He said the states feel there should be more leadership and direction by the federal government and there was a "feeling on the part of the federal government that it was going to try to provide it and try to get more money."

Viscose Plant Swept By Fire

FRONT ROYAL, Va., May 2 (AP)—A fire which erupted under the American Viscose Corp.'s spinning department here early today was fanned through other sections of the plant by an elaborate system of air ducts and, for a while, threatened the entire sprawling installation.

Company officials declined to estimate the damage but police placed the figure at between $500,000 and one million dollars.

A large amount of equipment was either damaged or destroyed but none of the 2,600 employes was reported injured.

The fire raged out of control for nearly two hours, sending 100-foot flames soaring skyward. Fire companies from this Shenandoah Valley community and the nearby towns of Luray, Strasburg and Winchester were called in to help the plant's own fire crew put out the blaze.

Although the fire apparently started in a fume tunnel under the spinning department, the cause could not be learned immediately.

Ridgway's Army Cut Contention Disputed By Defense Officials

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Two top defense officials have disputed Gen. Matthew Ridgway's contention that President Eisenhower's decision to cut the Army strength an additional 75,000 men came with little warning and without due consideration of the Army's objections.

Secretary of Defense Wilson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said the cut was long planned and that the Army's views were "fully considered" beforehand and were rejected.

The two gave this testimony at a closed session of a House Appropriations subcommittee a few days before Ridgway offered his views last February. The Wilson and Radford testimony was made public today, Ridgway's last Sunday.

Ridgway, who is Army chief of staff, said he was told with "little warning" last December that the Army would be cut 146,000 men by mid-1956 to 1,102,000, instead of the "new look" 1,173,000 total it had expected. He said the Army had completed its proposed budget based on the larger goal, fixed in 1953.

Ridgway said he had no chance to protest the extra cutback to the National Security Council, the nation's top strategic planning board.

In their testimony, Wilson and Radford also disputed arguments that the added cutback would encourage the Chinese Communists to make stronger military moves.

They painted a picture of the Army, Navy and Air Force rapidly increasing combat power through improved weapons, particularly in the atomic and guided missile fields.

Radford said he believed U.S. strength in the last three or four years had increased more than Soviet Russia's, "due primarily to the tremendous development of our jet aircraft and our weapons delivery system."

Wilson said the 75,000 man Army cut represented a "cushion" left in earlier estimates to meet any deterioration in world conditions. He said it was decided last December, in making a final review of the budget, that the situations in Korea and Indochina had "changed to the point where this cushion was no longer necessary."

AFL, CIO At Odds Over Union Name

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—AFL and CIO leaders hit a snag today in merger negotiations over a name for the proposed single union organization.

They announced agreement on a new constitution to govern the proposed 15-million member union group except for one possibly important detail—what the new federation will be called.

George Meany, AFL president, said he expects "trouble" over the issue but quickly added that, "We've had trouble before and we've gotten over it."

"We found that we disagreed completely over what to name the new organization, so we're going to have to discuss it some more," Meany said.

Both Meany and CIO President Walter Reuther declined to say what names each side has in mind. It was reported, however, Meany and the AFL want to retain their name, while the CIO wants some change such as the "American Congress of Labor" indicative of a brand new organization.

7-Year-Old Boy General For Day

FT. KNOX, Ky., May 2 (AP)—Being a general isn't so hard, 7-year-old "Maj. Gen." Mike Kelly decided today after his fling at commanding 50,000 fighting men.

The Louisville boy, excited but poised and confident, was "general for a day" at this sprawling Army base.

Litte Mike wrote Maj. Gen. George W. Read Jr. to ask how a fellow goes about becoming a general.

The commanding general of Ft. Knox passed over the "hard work" advice and gave the boy a shortcut fling at his ambition.

So early today, an Army staff car with the two stars of a major general picked up Mike and his mother at their home and hustled them to headquarters.

Mike, wearing a uniform to match the two stars, sat proudly in the car as GIs "came to" when it passed.

Fugitive Defies Troopers, Dies In Hail Of Bullets

HOPKINTON, N. Y., May 2 (AP)—Desperado Frank (The Hook) Talarico, haunted by fear of a lifetime behind bars, defied a ring of state police rifles today and died in a volley of shots that wounded a fellow fugitive.

The 44-year-old Talarico, from Utica, was cut down as he and Ralph LaShomb, 29, of Potsdam, awoke under a pine tree to face nine rifles held by troopers. LaShomb was taken to Potsdam General Hospital, where his right leg was amputated. Attaches said he was expected to survive.

Troopers still sought Patrick Brooks, 26-year-old Indian from Gabriels, another jailbreaker who was with Talarico and LaShomb. Whether Brooks had a gun was not known.

Talarico and LaShomb were found asleep in a sun-drenched clearing on a farm a few miles west of here. Troopers formed a semicircle around them and shouted.

The pair scrambled awake. "Shoot," Talarico commanded LaShomb. Police rifles cracked first. Talarico died with his shoes off. He had three felony convictions against him. A fourth meant life.

LaShomb's leg was fractured by the police fire.

Last Wednesday, LaShomb slugged the jailer at the St. Lawrence County jail in Conton, near this northern New York farm community. He stole two revolvers and freed three other prisoners.

One, Leon Caskinette, 24, of Raymondville, was captured last Friday.

Ike, Turkish Envoy To Sign Atomic Pact

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—President Eisenhower and the Turkish ambassador tomorrow will sign what the White House described as "the first international agreement on peaceful use of atomic energy."

Announcing this, assistant presidential press secretary Murray Snyder refused to give newsmen any information about the agreement.

"I could but I won't," Snyder replied when a reporter asked him to describe the agreement at least in general terms. "I am not going to announce terms of an agreement which has not yet been initialed."

The Atomic Energy Commission likewise declined comment. A spokesman said further information probably would be given out at the ceremony tomorrow.

Baltimore Boy, 9, Regains Pogo Title

BALTIMORE, May 2 (AP)—Nine-year-old Don Saboe Jr. got hopping mad when he lost his claim to a world's record for non-stop jumps on a pogo stick.

So today the hop title is back in Baltimore.

It all started last week when 11-year-old Charles Cook 3d of Columbus, O., said he jumped 2,153 times. After reading a newspaper story about it, Don grabbed a pogo stick and hopped 3,154 times for a new record.

Last Saturday the title changed hands again, with Buddy Covey of Roanoke, Va., upping the mark to 5,613.

Don bounced back last night. The new record, he said after a session in the family basement, is 8,500.

Imports From Reds Far Exceed Exports

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—The Commerce Department said today the United States bought $33,638,000 worth of goods last year from Communist countries. It sold products worth $5,958,000 behind the Iron Curtain.

Red-dominated countries thus sold the United States some $27,680,000 more of their goods than they bought here.

This represented trade with the Soviet Union and its satellites in Europe. Trade with Red China and other Communist countries of the Far East is banned.

Elbe Vets Given Passports, Lack Funds For Trip

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Nine ex-GIs who say they believe they are doing something for peace in the world got passports today to go to Moscow.

But they're still looking for the money to finance the trip, which they hope to start tomorrow night.

A tenth was due in tonight and was to get his passport in the morning. All then were going to the Russian Embassy where visas have been promised them, they said.

They were at the link-up of American and Soviet armies at the Elbe River in Germany on April 23, 1945, in World War II and held a tenth anniversary dinner here last April 23. They have been invited by Soviet veterans to a Moscow celebration May 9—the day the Soviets celebrate victory over Germany.

The Soviet government has offered to pay their expenses from Paris, France, to Moscow and back to Paris, they said. They have their plane reservations out of New York tomorrow night even if they don't have the money yet to pay for the tickets.

"We need some philanthropist who can sign a check for $5,600," said Joseph Polowsky of Chicago, "and who wants to do something for peace.

"If we handle this right, it can be the beginning of something good between the two countries, and we're going to handle it right. You wait and see."

Deaths From Polio Show Slight Rise

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—The Public Health Service said today there were an estimated 230 deaths from polio over the nation during January and February. This compares with an estimated 210 in the same 1954 months.

The service explained that a 10 per cent sample of death certificates for those months showed 23 deaths this year and 21 last year.

It said these are the latest available figures on deaths.

The service also said that through April 23, a total of 1,305 cases of polio had been reported this year, compared with 1,854 in the same 1954 span.

Picture Of Marilyn Monroe Aids Doctor Explain Curves

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 2 (AP)—A Seattle doctor used a huge color picture of a nude Marilyn Monroe today to show scientists that some curves are understandable and others aren't.

Roars of laughter and applause rocked a national meeting of medical men when Dr. Robert H. Williams flashed the picture on a movie theater screen. The slide was an enlargement of an oft-viewed calendar picture of the undraped actress on a field of red velvet.

The scientists, members of the American Society for Clinical Investigation, had gathered in the theater to hear a series of technical papers.

Dr. Williams, head of the society, said he wanted to open the program with his presidential address and illustrate it with some slides.

He wished to demonstrate that statistical graphs and charts which scientists draw up to illustrate their talks are too complicated.

His first slide showed a mathematical equation so lengthy it took up two 20-foot lines on the screen. Next he displayed a baffling chart with as many loops and curves as a plate of spaghetti.

Then came Miss Monroe.

Using a special flashlight that throws a pointed dot of light on the screen, Dr. Williams asked the scientists to notice the kind of curves that are quickly understood and appreciated.

"Do I make my point?" he asked. A burst of applause gave the answer.

Berliners Relive Hitler's Last Days

BERLIN, May 2 (AP)—Ten years ago today Berlin fell to the Russians.

Film audiences relived some of the final scenes, in tense wonder, at the premier Berlin showing of "The Last Act," Austrian-made account of Hitler's weird finish in the Reichschancellory air raid shelter.

Unlike Rhineland audiences, which were shocked at Hitler's declaration that, "The German people do not deserve me," Berliners burst out in sardonic laughter.

The audience rumbled in anger when Hitler ordered the subway flooded, drowning thousands, shortly before he and Eva Braun took their lives.

Leader Outlines Pa. Job Program

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Gov. Leader of Pennsylvania today outlined a 5-point program to help unemployment-ridden localities in his state.

Leader is here for a conference of the nation's governors. The details of the program were given reporters by Leader's press secretary, Thomas Hodges.

Pennsylvania's Legislature has already enacted one phase of the program by increasing state unemployment compensation benefits.

Hodges said the essential idea behind Leader's program is give localities, particularly in the hard coal and textile areas, every assistance in creating local industrial authorities like those established in Pittsburgh and Scranton.

Under the industrial authority plan the State would match funds subscribed in various localities for the construction of factory facilities. The facilities are then offered to industry under attractive terms.

The matching fund proposal, totaling 20 million dollars, is now pending in the Pennsylvania Legislature and Hodges said there is "every reason to believe" that it will be enacted.

Four Swedish Jets Crash In Wilderness

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 2 (AP)—Four Swedish jet fighters crashed in a fog-swept wilderness near the Baltic today.

Wreckage was sighted on the melting ice of Lake Glottern, 14 miles north of Norrkoping in a region of steep mountains, lakes and dense woods.

Patrol boats hewed through the lake ice and hundreds of soldiers combed the area. Helicopters hovered above.

"We don't know if all four planes are in the lake or if some crashed in the wilderness around it," an air force spokesman said.

Old Export

the beer that's

BREWED A LITTLE AT A TIME

Western Maryland's most popular beer

There are two golden rules in brewing that have always produced the finest beers in the world . . . whether the brewery is in this country or abroad. The rules are simple and it costs more money to make beer this way . . . but it's worth it.

First you start with good water, Second, you don't brew in big batches.

Old Export uses wonderful mountain water, as you know.

Old Export brews in small quantities. Brewing in this way gives the master brewer many times more a day to check every step of his brews. Gives him more flavor control.

Brewing in small kettles . . . and not in big batches, brings out of each kernel of grain and from each fragrant hop leaf all the richness and peak flavor.

Thus, Export never tastes thin or stretched out.

Do you wonder that this is Western Maryland's most popular beer?

If you want a beer that's different . . . and the difference you want is good taste . . . you ought to try Old Export. It's running better than ever.

For a better glass of beer everytime . . . OLD Export

AFL, CIO At Odds Over Union Name

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—AFL and CIO leaders hit a snag today in merger negotiations over a name for the proposed single union organization.

They announced agreement on a new constitution to govern the proposed 15-million member union group except for one possibly important detail—what the new federation will be called.

George Meany, AFL president, said he expects "trouble" over the issue but quickly added that, "We've had trouble before and we've gotten over it."

"We found that we disagreed completely over what to name the new organization, so we're going to have to discuss it some more," Meany said.

Both Meany and CIO President Walter Reuther declined to say what names each side has in mind. It was reported, however, Meany and the AFL want to retain their name, while the CIO wants some change such as the "American Congress of Labor" indicative of a brand new organization.

7-Year-Old Boy General For Day

FT. KNOX, Ky., May 2 (AP)—Being a general isn't so hard, 7-year-old "Maj. Gen." Mike Kelly decided today after his fling at commanding 50,000 fighting men.

The Louisville boy, excited but poised and confident, was "general for a day" at this sprawling Army base.

Litte Mike wrote Maj. Gen. George W. Read Jr. to ask how a fellow goes about becoming a general.

The commanding general of Ft. Knox passed over the "hard work" advice and gave the boy a short-cut fling at his ambition.

So early today, an Army staff car with the two stars of a major general picked up Mike and his mother at their home and hustled them to headquarters.

Mike, wearing a uniform to match the two stars, sat proudly in the car as GIs "came to" when it passed.

Fugitive Defies Troopers, Dies In Hail Of Bullets

HOPKINTON, N. Y., May 2 (AP)—Desperado Frank (The Hook) Talarico, haunted by fear of a lifetime behind bars, defied a ring of state police rifles today and died in a volley of shots that wounded a fellow fugitive.

The 44-year-old Talarico, from Utica, was cut down as he and Ralph LaShomb, 29, of Potsdam, awoke under a pine tree to face nine rifles held by troopers. LaShomb was taken to Potsdam General Hospital, where his right leg was amputated. Attaches said he was expected to survive.

Troopers still sought Patrick Brooks, 26-year-old Indian from Gabriels, another jailbreaker who was with Talarico and LaShomb. Whether Brooks had a gun was not known.

Talarico and LaShomb were found asleep in a sun-drenched clearing on a farm a few miles west of here. Troopers formed a semicircle around them and shouted.

The pair scrambled awake. "Shoot," Talarico commanded LaShomb. Police rifles cracked first. Talarico died with his shoes off. He had three felony convictions against him. A fourth meant life.

LaShomb's leg was fractured by the police fire.

Last Wednesday, LaShomb slugged the jailer at the St. Lawrence County jail in Conton, near this northern New York farm community. He stole two revolvers and freed three other prisoners.

One, Leon Caskinette, 24, of Raymondville, was captured last Friday.

Ike, Turkish Envoy To Sign Atomic Pact

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—President Eisenhower and the Turkish ambassador tomorrow will sign what the White House described as "the first international agreement on peaceful use of atomic energy."

Announcing this, assistant presidential press secretary Murray Snyder refused to give newsmen any information about the agreement.

"I could but I won't," Snyder replied when a reporter asked him to describe the agreement at least in general terms. "I am not going to announce terms of an agreement which has not yet been initialed."

The Atomic Energy Commission likewise declined comment. A spokesman said further information probably would be given out at the ceremony tomorrow.

Baltimore Boy, 9, Regains Pogo Title

BALTIMORE, May 2 (AP)—Nine-year-old Don Saboe Jr. got hopping mad when he lost his claim to a world's record for non-stop jumps on a pogo stick.

So today the hop title is back in Baltimore.

It all started last week when 11-year-old Charles Cook 3d of Columbus, O., said he jumped 2,153 times. After reading a newspaper story about it, Don grabbed a pogo stick and hopped 3,154 times for a new record.

Last Saturday the title changed hands again, with Buddy Covey of Roanoke, Va., upping the mark to 5,613.

Don bounced back last night. The new record, he said after a session in the family basement, is 8,500.

Imports From Reds Far Exceed Exports

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—The Commerce Department said today the United States bought $33,638,000 worth of goods last year from Communist countries. It sold products worth $5,958,000 behind the Iron Curtain.

Red-dominated countries thus sold the United States some $27,680,000 more of their goods than they bought here.

This represented trade with the Soviet Union and its satellites in Europe. Trade with Red China and other Communist countries of the Far East is banned.

Elbe Vets Given Passports, Lack Funds For Trip

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Nine ex-GIs who say they believe they are doing something for peace in the world got passports today to go to Moscow.

But they're still looking for the money to finance the trip, which they hope to start tomorrow night.

A tenth was due in tonight and was to get his passport in the morning. All then were going to the Russian Embassy where visas have been promised them, they said.

They were at the link-up of American and Soviet armies at the Elbe River in Germany on April 23, 1945, in World War II and held a tenth anniversary dinner here last April 23. They have been invited by Soviet veterans to a Moscow celebration May 9—the day the Soviets celebrate victory over Germany.

The Soviet government has offered to pay their expenses from Paris, France, to Moscow and back to Paris, they said. They have their plane reservations out of New York tomorrow night even if they don't have the money yet to pay for the tickets.

"We need some philanthropist who can sign a check for $5,600," said Joseph Polowsky of Chicago, "and who wants to do something for peace.

"If we handle this right, it can be the beginning of something good between the two countries, and we're going to handle it right. You wait and see."

Deaths From Polio Show Slight Rise

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—The Public Health Service said today there were an estimated 230 deaths from polio over the nation during January and February. This compares with an estimated 210 in the same 1954 months.

The service explained that a 10 per cent sample of death certificates for those months showed 23 deaths this year and 21 last year.

It said these are the latest available figures on deaths.

The service also said that through April 23, a total of 1,305 cases of polio had been reported this year, compared with 1,854 in the same 1954 span.

Picture Of Marilyn Monroe Aids Doctor Explain Curves

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 2 (AP)—A Seattle doctor used a huge color picture of a nude Marilyn Monroe today to show scientists that some curves are understandable and others aren't.

Roars of laughter and applause rocked a national meeting of medical men when Dr. Robert H. Williams flashed the picture on a movie theater screen. The slide was an enlargement of an oft-viewed calendar picture of the undraped actress on a field of red velvet.

The scientists, members of the American Society for Clinical Investigation, had gathered in the theater to hear a series of technical papers.

Dr. Williams, head of the society, said he wanted to open the program with his presidential address and illustrate it with some slides.

He wished to demonstrate that statistical graphs and charts which scientists draw up to illustrate their talks are too complicated.

His first slide showed a mathematical equation so lengthy it took up two 20-foot lines on the screen. Next he displayed a baffling chart with as many loops and curves as a plate of spaghetti.

Then came Miss Monroe.

Using a special flashlight that throws a pointed dot of light on the screen, Dr. Williams asked the scientists to notice the kind of curves that are quickly understood and appreciated.

"Do I make my point?" he asked. A burst of applause gave the answer.

Berliners Relive Hitler's Last Days

BERLIN, May 2 (AP)—Ten years ago today Berlin fell to the Russians.

Film audiences relived some of the final scenes, in tense wonder, at the premier Berlin showing of "The Last Act," Austrian-made account of Hitler's weird finish in the Reichschancellory air raid shelter.

Unlike Rhineland audiences, which were shocked at Hitler's declaration that, "The German people do not deserve me," Berliners burst out in sardonic laughter.

The audience rumbled in anger when Hitler ordered the subway flooded, drowning thousands, shortly before he and Eva Braun took their lives.

Leader Outlines Pa. Job Program

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Gov. Leader of Pennsylvania today outlined a 5-point program to help unemployment-ridden localities in his state.

Leader is here for a conference of the nation's governors. The details of the program were given reporters by Leader's press secretary, Thomas Hodges.

Pennsylvania's Legislature has already enacted one phase of the program by increasing state unemployment compensation benefits.

Hodges said the essential idea behind Leader's program is give localities, particularly in the hard coal and textile areas, every assistance in creating local industrial authorities like those established in Pittsburgh and Scranton.

Under the industrial authority plan the State would match funds subscribed in various localities for the construction of factory facilities. The facilities are then offered to industry under attractive terms.

The matching fund proposal, totaling 20 million dollars, is now pending in the Pennsylvania Legislature and Hodges said there is "every reason to believe" that it will be enacted.

Four Swedish Jets Crash In Wilderness

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 2 (AP)—Four Swedish jet fighters crashed in a fog-swept wilderness near the Baltic today.

Wreckage was sighted on the melting ice of Lake Glottern, 14 miles north of Norrkoping in a region of steep mountains, lakes and dense woods.

Patrol boats hewed through the lake ice and hundreds of soldiers combed the area. Helicopters hovered above.

"We don't know if all four planes are in the lake or if some crashed in the wilderness around it," an air force spokesman said.

Old Export

the beer that's

BREWED A LITTLE AT A TIME

Western Maryland's most popular beer

There are two golden rules in brewing that have always produced the finest beers in the world . . . whether the brewery is in this country or abroad. The rules are simple and it costs more money to make beer this way . . . but it's worth it.

First you start with good water, Second, you don't brew in big batches.

Old Export uses wonderful mountain water, as you know.

Old Export brews in small quantities. Brewing in this way gives the master brewer many times more a day to check every step of his brews. Gives him more flavor control.

Brewing in small kettles . . . and not in big batches, brings out of each kernel of grain and from each fragrant hop leaf all the richness and peak flavor.

Thus, Export never tastes thin or stretched out.

Do you wonder that this is Western Maryland's most popular beer?

If you want a beer that's different . . . and the difference you want is good taste . . . you ought to try Old Export. It's running better than ever.

For a better glass of beer everytime . . . OLD Export

Baltimore's Voters Elect Mayor Today

D'Alesandro Faces Republican Hopkins

BALTIMORE, May 2 (AP)—Democratic Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro seeks a third term tomorrow against Republican Sam Hopkins who has campaigned hard in an effort to hand the colorful D'Alesandro his first defeat at the polls in 28 years of campaigning.

Hopkins has the backing of Maryland's Republican Governor and the Baltimore Sunpapers.

D'Alesandro had joined the race for governor last year but withdrew after a series of personal misfortunes that threatened to end his political career. Politicians consider the current campaign something of a comeback attempt. He won renomination in a breeze.

Fair weather forecast for tomorrow is expected to lure out more than half of the 400,000 registered voters in the nation's sixth largest city.

D'Alesandro, 51-year-old son of an Italian immigrant, has served in the city council, the Maryland legislature and Congress in addition to two four-year terms as mayor. In the primary last March he won re-nomination with ease over six other Democrats.

D'Alesandro is known in the baseball world for his work in helping to bring Baltimore into the American League last year.

Hopkins, 41-year-old bank official, was the only Republican among 42 Baltimore candidates to win election to the Legislature in 1950. He won in the third district which is nearly 4-1 Democratic.

Baltimore, which has about 310,000 registered Democrats and about 80,000 Republicans gave Republican Gov. McKeldin an overwhelming majority last fall. McKeldin picked Hopkins to run and has been stumping for him. McKeldin nominated Eisenhower for president in 1952.

D'Alesandro has pointed to physical improvements in Baltimore during his tenure—schools, highways, Memorial Stadium and Friendship International Airport.

Hopkins has cited a 59 per cent budget increase, a 43 per cent increase in the taxable basis and a drop in the city's credit rating since the D'Alesandro administration took over.

D'Alesandro answered by saying the $3.05-per-$100 valuation is the lowest tax rate of any city among the nation's 10 biggest.

D'Alesandro withdrew from the race for governor last year after his 20-year-old son Franklin was among 16 youths named in morals charges involving two adolescent girls and after two close associates, Contractor Dominic Piracci and Comptroller J. Neil McCardell, were named in criminal charges involving city-financed parking garages.

Young D'Alesandro was acquitted as was McCardell. Piracci was fined $6,000 and given a suspended sentence on charges of conspiring to defraud and attempting to obstruct justice.

Baltimore tomorrow also elects a president of city council, 20 city councilmen and a city comptroller. The present council is entirely Democratic.

Polls open at 6 a.m., close at 7 p.m. (EDT).

Drunk And Disorderly Cases Irk Magistrate

HAGERSTOWN, May 2 (AP)—Magistrate Paul Ottinger estimated today there are between 200 and 300 persons in Washington County who should be locked up every Friday night at 5 p.m. and held until 7 a.m. Monday, just to keep them out of trouble.

He made the comment after hearing a greater than average number of drunk and disorderly cases.

"Of course," the magistrate said, "we don't have the manpower or space to keep them, but if these people could be locked up it would be of benefit to their families and the public.

"Every week, it's the same faces."

Magistrate Ottinger heard two dozen drunk and disorderly cases this morning. All resulted from weekend incidents.

AKRON, Ohio, May 2 (AP)—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. today reported sales of $333,286,839 for the three months ended March 31—a new quarter-year high and 22 per cent above sales of $273,322,247 in the same period a year ago. Slaying Probers Remain Baffled CLARKSBURG, W. Va., May 2 (AP)—Investigators continued sifting evidence today in an effort to uncover a lead in the murder of Mrs. Frances Laughlin and her part-time maid here last week.

State Police Sgt. T. A. Welty said two men were questioned over the weekend, but were released today. He said the two had been collecting old magazines in the neighborhood of the Laughlin home the day of the murder.

Mrs. Laughlin, 44, socially prominent wife of a Clarksburg dentist, and her maid, Mrs. Joan Bland, 31, were found on the living room floor of the Laughlins' fashionable Goff Plaza home. They had both been shot through the head with a pistol.

Sgt. Welty said that police had uncovered a revolver but ballistic tests at the state police laboratory in Charleston had established it wasn't the murder weapon.

The officer said police are not holding anyone at present and added that all possible leads are being checked.

Bethlehem Steel Co. To Convert Four Ships

BALTIMORE, May 2 (AP)—Bethlehem Steel Co.'s shipbuilding division today was awarded a contract for conversion of four merchant ships at a cost of nearly 7 million dollars.

Clarence G. Morse, chairman of the Federal Maritime Board announced the contract.

Bethlehem bid $6,946,440 for the work, which will include modification of the four ships to meet trade needs of American President Lines. It recently bought the four vessels—the S. S. Old Dominion Mariner, S. S. Volunteer Mariner, S. S. Palmetto Mariner and S. S. Cracker State Mariner—for about $17,700,000.

Bermuda Shorts For Men Approved

BALTIMORE, May 2 (AP) — Bermuda shorts as summer garb for men arrived socially today—after years in the anteroom of respectability—when the staid University Club gave its official stamp of approval.

"It has been ruled by the House Committee," a club directive said, "that Bermuda shorts with long stockings, coat and tie will be permitted at the University Club during June, July and August."

The exclusive club at Charles and Madison streets went a bit farther. It also approved sport shirts with tie and jacket and said "tie pulled half way up to the neck with a sport shirt (presumably an open-neck sports shirt) is permissible."

Explosion Rips 40-Foot Cruiser

DOVER, Del., May 2 (AP)—A boat blew up today seconds after its Baltimore owner and a nearby wharf operator stepped from the 40-foot cruiser.

Neither Capt. George A. Whiteley of Baltimore nor Harry Killen, wharf operator at nearby Port Mahon, were hurt.

The blast ripped apart the boat. It sank and flames set fire to the wharf. Firemen from East Dover and Little Creek fought the fire.

Whiteley said an oil heater in the cabin of the "Charles Wright" might have touched off the blast.

Whiteley estimated damage to the boat at $3,000. The explosion ripped up the cabin and split the sides of the craft, which sank almost immediately.

Whiteley said he had cleared the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal yesterday and moored on Delaware Bay last night. He pulled in this morning for gas at the Port Mahon wharf, four miles east of Dover.

To Make Restitution

CAMBRIDGE, May 2 (AP)—A man accused of receiving stolen goods—$1,400 in dimes—was given a two-year suspended sentence today after pleading guilty in Dorchester County Circuit Court.

Whiteley said an oil heater in the cabin of the "Charles Wright" might have touched off the blast.

Whiteley estimated damage to the boat at $3,000. The explosion ripped up the cabin and split the sides of the craft, which sank almost immediately.

Whiteley said he had cleared the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal yesterday and moored on Delaware Bay last night. He pulled in this morning for gas at the Port Mahon wharf, four miles east of Dover.

★ Saves money—
★ Beauty lasts and lasts

Linoleum, wood and asphalt tile floors gradually lose their new-like sparkle and beauty even though waxed regularly.

This is because a thin wax coating is not enough to prevent deep scratches and wear caused by particles of sand and cement tracked into the home.

These, together with sharp heels and shoe nails, cut through the wax and ruin the smooth surface of the flooring.

Wipe-On reconditions the surface and repairs the scratches and heavy wear. Original smoothness and new-like beauty are restored. Wipe-On is new—it's different—not a wax or a polish, but a lustrous, beautiful finish just like you get on new furniture and new floors.

Wipe-On is easy to apply—takes only 10 minutes to do an average room with the free handy applicator with every can. The transparent coating dries in 4 hours and gives your floors lustrous beauty and lasting protection.

Action Set On Garbage Contract

Temporary action on city garbage collection service was taken yesterday by the Mayor and Council, after lengthy discussion over the re-advertising for bids, and the legality of extending the term of the present contractor.

Two weeks ago, the council voted to reject all bids received on city garbage collection and re-advertise. The reason advanced was that the original advertisement contained no specification for emergency pickup service.

At that time, the council made a verbal agreement with John J. Riley and Son, the contractor for the past four years, to continue the service for 90 days.

However, the attorney for the low bidder appeared yesterday and asked some pointed questions, and said his client was prepared to seek an injunction against the Mayor and Council awarding the contract upon receiving bids from a second advertisement.

Dougherty Low Bidder

Harold M. Naughton appeared in behalf of Emmett Dougherty, the low bidder under the original advertisement.

Also appearing to ask the Mayor and Council about that body's procedure was Mrs. C. L. Beck, wife of the second lowest bidder.

Naughton asked the council to rescind its order advertising for new bids, and give the contract to Dougherty.

Naughton, who said he was also speaking as a taxpayer, said Dougherty, a former garbage collection contractor, was low bidder under Riley and Son, the third highest by $3,545, which, in a five-year period, could save the city $17,725 in taxes.

"I can see no legitimate reason for not awarding the contract to Mr. Dougherty," Naughton declared. "I can only see someone favored Riley," he added.

Naughton added he understood that at the executive meeting of the council prior to its regular session two weeks ago, the order to give the contract to Riley and Son was presented to the Mayor and Council, but after a few minutes an order to reject all bids and re-advertise was introduced in its place.

Naughton said he sincerely doubted whether the council had the power under the city code to enter into the 90-day contract with Riley during the period of re-advertisement.

He claimed the re-advertisement of bids was for one reason only, to give Riley the chance to underbid Dougherty.

In answer to Mayor Roy W. Eves, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said it was his opinion that under the circumstances, the temporary extension of Riley and Son's contract was under the council's proper authority.

Complaints Alleged

Mayor Eves, in recalling the council's action for re-advertising for bids, said while the council took the stand it could not ignore the low bidder, the body must give some consideration to previous performance. He said some credence must be given to the complaints received by the city when Dougherty was the contractor four years ago.

Pointing to pickup service, Naughton said Dougherty always provided for it. Eves answered this feature was not in the contract, and had been performed by Riley and Son on their own.

Instead of "an understanding," the Mayor said this service should be in the contract.

After about 45 minutes of discussion, Naughton said his client would be willing to add to the contract the pickup service stipulation.

Mrs. Beck asked the council why it was so lax in not including the pickup service specification in the advertisement, Mayor Eves admitted the laxity.

She pointed out her husband had been second lowest bidder, by a few dollars a week.

Contractor Outstanding

William H. Buchholtz, commissioner of streets and public property, declared the concensus of council was that while other contractors had performed satisfactorily, Riley and Son's service had been outstanding.

The pickup service of cans missed, garbage dropped, or other items was the key to Riley's operation, and it was deemed advisable to get this service set out in the contract, Buchholtz added.

Buchholtz said Dougherty submitted a bid two weeks ago of $64,445, which was $3,000 less than he bid four years ago. In view of rising prices and other factors, Commissioner Buchholtz said he did not feel the bid to be justified in view of the fact Riley and Son had to have an additional $1,000 to meet wage increase demands of garbage truck crews.

"The bonding company cannot carry the garbage," he added.

Naughton said Dougherty could bid $3,000 less as all of his trucks had been in storage four years and were depreciating in value, whether they were used or not.

Final action had the council giving Riley the 90-day extension and agreeing to take final action at next Monday's meeting.

Hazard, Zoning Complaints Referred To City Officials

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker yesterday filed a report showing hazards exist on the lot at 618-22 Brookfield Avenue, owned by Ray M. Athey.

He said scrap lumber was stored on the back of the lot, oil was in open containers, and a gas pump on the rear in bad mechanical shape.

Chief Parker said no permit is on file with the Fire Department for the gas storage tanks in the rear of the lot.

However, Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, said he had been asked last week to check into the Athey lot, located in a residential area. Finan reported Athey produced a permit, signed in 1946 by former City Engineer Ralph Rizer, for the gas tanks.

Athey also told Finan he could prove by affidavits that he had been using the lot to store lumber since before the new zoning laws went into effect in 1944.

The matter of Athey's use of the lot was the subject of complaints to the Mayor and Council, it was pointed out. As a result, Finan and Chief Parker made their reports.

The matter was referred to the City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and city attorney.

Wallace Wilson, 418 Columbia Avenue, who said he represented a group of residents of Columbia Street, maintained city zoning laws were being violated on the properties at 410-412 and 414 Columbia Street.

He presented two affidavits concerning this issue, which was referred to the city engineer and the city attorney.

City Commends Marean, Heller For Work Here

The Mayor and Council yesterday ordered placed in the city's records commendations for two veteran municipal workers who retired recently.

The resolutions were for William H. Marean, assistant city engineer, and Charles F. Heller, former superintendent of maintenance and construction at Municipal Airport.

Marean's commendation pointed out he had served the city past 22 years, and intermittently during the period between 1910 and 1930.

He was lauded for having made lasting contributions to his fellow citizens for his vigilance and skill with regard to construction of public works.

Marean, who was assistant city engineer when he retired, had served as city engineer on a temporary basis, but had declined the appointment as city engineer.

Heller, the resolution stated, has been a city employe for 21 years, and also noted that he served as commissioner of streets and public property between 1926 and 1930, and 1932 and 1934.

This tribute, the council stated, was to attest to the affection and esteem in which he was held by those associated with him in the administration of the city government and supervision of the airport.

Because Heller had not taken a vacation in 21 years, the council awarded him a bonus of $293.70 which was the amount of one month's pay. The council also granted him $146.85 for the 15 days he spent building an oil house for the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company hangar at the airport in lieu of taking a vacation.

Chamber Group To Tour A&P

The reconstruction of the A&P Supermarket, Wineow Street, fits in so well with the revitalizing of Cumberland business that the Industrial Promotion Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will make an official visit to the market Thursday at 7:30 a. m., a half-hour before the public grand opening.

A tour of the renovated market will be made by the group. The project includes many improvements and has been virtually completed at a cost "approaching six figures."

With the placement of new aluminum and glass "magic eye" doors for entrance and exit, the work is about done and the grand opening set for Thursday, according to Ray Reuss, manager.

The A&P manager said the firm is planning a four-week celebration program with hundreds of valuable gifts for visitors and customers.

Chairman Joseph Naughton, president of the Second National Bank, and other members of the Promotion Committee as well as Albert Hargreaves, director, will be shown the improvements.

Holtzman Given Park Concession

Only one person bid on the privilege of operating the concession at the Constitution Park pool this summer when the Mayor and Council acted on the matter yesterday morning.

As he was the sole bidder, Paul W. Holtzman, 216 Seymour Street, was given the right to operate the Casino for $600. Bids had been requested in advertisements.

Two sets of bids were received for putting up fences on the Thomas Post, Lamont Street and the North End playgrounds.

Bidding were the Wilson Hardware Company and the Cyclone Fence Company. The bids were referred to the finance commissioner for tabulation and report at next week's meeting.

Auto Club To Meet

The Potomac Valley Auto Club will meet today at 7:30 p. m. at Central Y.M.C.A.

Wage Increase Is Requested By City Police And Firemen

The Police and Firemen's Welfare Association yesterday asked the Mayor and Council for a wage increase for members of the City Police and Fire Departments.

The request, presented by letter from Robert C. Long, secretary of the association, pointed out that the last wage hike received by police and firemen was in 1952.

Living costs have continued to rise since then, he said, and it is necessary that some adjustments in wages be made.

On motion of Finance Commissioner John J. Long, the matter was referred to Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan for recommendation.

Keegan commented that it was not a matter for the police commissioner alone but for all of the council.

However, he voted in favor of the motion and will report his findings to the Mayor and Council in the near future for that body's action.

In other council action, upon motion of Commissioner Keegan, pool room licenses were approved for the Savoy, Baltimore Street, to the Peter V. Firlie heirs; to Howard W. Vandegrift, 10 South Mechanic Street, and to William F. Leake for 526 Pine Avenue.

The council approved a second-hand dealers license to Carl E. Billmyre for the Cumberland Motor Sales, 14 Wineow Street.

A second hand license for new and used furniture was issued to Robert E. Shrout Jr. for 20 North Mechanic Street.

The women will meet with U. S. Senators Beall and John Marshall Butler and the Maryland representatives in Congress on Monday night to hear a report on Washington and the national government.

Chamber Group To Tour A&P

"The reconstruction of the A&P Supermarket, Wineow Street, fits in so well with the revitalizing of Cumberland business that the Industrial Promotion Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will make an official visit to the market Thursday at 7:30 a. m., a half-hour before the public grand opening.

A tour of the renovated market will be made by the group. The project includes many improvements and has been virtually completed at a cost "approaching six figures."

With the placement of new aluminum and glass "magic eye" doors for entrance and exit, the work is about done and the grand opening set for Thursday, according to Ray Reuss, manager.

The A&P manager said the firm is planning a four-week celebration program with hundreds of valuable gifts for visitors and customers.

Chairman Joseph Naughton, president of the Second National Bank, and other members of the Promotion Committee as well as Albert Hargreaves, director, will be shown the improvements.

Wage Increase Is Requested By City Police And Firemen

The Police and Firemen's Welfare Association yesterday asked the Mayor and Council for a wage increase for members of the City Police and Fire Departments.

The request, presented by letter from Robert C. Long, secretary of the association, pointed out that the last wage hike received by police and firemen was in 1952.

Living costs have continued to rise since then, he said, and it is necessary that some adjustments in wages be made.

On motion of Finance Commissioner John J. Long, the matter was referred to Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan for recommendation.

Keegan commented that it was not a matter for the police commissioner alone but for all of the council.

However, he voted in favor of the motion and will report his findings to the Mayor and Council in the near future for that body's action.

In other council action, upon motion of Commissioner Keegan, pool room licenses were approved for the Savoy, Baltimore Street, to the Peter V. Firlie heirs; to Howard W. Vandegrift, 10 South Mechanic Street, and to William F. Leake for 526 Pine Avenue.

The council approved a second-hand dealers license to Carl E. Billmyre for the Cumberland Motor Sales, 14 Wineow Street.

Gas Lease Acreage Now Tops 17,500

Chunk Of State Forest Acquired

More than 17,500 acres of Allegany County land now has been leased for oil and gas well drilling with the leasing by the Columbia Carbon Company of some 5,607 acres of Green Ridge State Forest.

District Forester William H. Johnson announced over the weekend the leasing of the state-owned acreage, located in the general area between Piney Plains and Paw Paw. The forest comprises more than 30,000 acres.

Under the leasing agreement the company will pay $1 per acre per year during the 10-year lease and royalties on any gas or oil found on the forest land over a certain amount. The $5,607 which will be paid each year will go into the treasury of the State of Maryland but in turn will be allocated to the Forestry Department for use in its program.

There are various restrictions placed on the company in its operation in the state forest land such as how close to any buildings or roads the drilling will be allowed. Other features protect the state-owned land from being damaged. Johnson said.

Announcement of the leasing of the big tract follows the recording of numerous deeds to land in the eastern part of Allegany County in the general area of Green Ridge State Forest by the Columbia Company and other concerns interested in the possibilities of oil and gas in that terrain.

If gas is found the company will pay the state two and one-fourth cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas over and above $5,600 it realizes during any one year. The royalty on oil would be one-eighth of the income realized from the fuel over the $5,600.

Meanwhile, the board has set May 17 at 10 a. m. for a hearing on the application for beer licenses for two establishments on Polish Mountain, east of this city on Route 40.

The four licenses held in abeyance are those of the Clarysville Inn, Barton Hose Company, Nutzy Ruffo, who operates a tavern in Frostburg, and Helen S. Jenkins, who operates a tavern at Moscow.

All four establishments were convicted in Circuit Court two weeks ago for violations of the liquor laws.

Marine Corps Is Offering College Grads Commissions

Re-emphasizing its traditional air-ground relationship, the US Marine Corps has announced a new training program for prospective Marine aviators, according to Sgt. Donald Coleman, local recruiter.

The first new program for Marine officers since World War II, it has been termed the Aviation Officer Candidate Course. It will result in earlier commissions as second lieutenants for men who desire to become Marine pilots.

Previously all Marine Corps aviators were drawn from the Naval Aviation Cadet Program (NavCad) or from the ranks of Marine officers on active duty. This new program is intended to supplement the present ones.

The AOCC will be offered to college graduates who will attend a 10-week basic indoctrination course at Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va. This course will give them basic Marine Corps training, with an emphasis on infantry aspects.

Successful graduates of this orientation course will receive Marine Corps reserve commissions and be ordered to active duty as student aviators. Upon completion of Flight Training, which lasts from 15 to 18 months, they will be obligated to serve a minimum of two years with the air arm of the Marine Corps.

Applications for the Marine Officer Candidate Course will be accepted commencing today. Twenty-one officer procurement officers located at major cities throughout the country will be authorized to accept applications. It is expected that the first session will convene at Quantico this fall, with a second one after the new year.

Requirements for the program include:

1. Age of more than 20 years and less than 27 on July of the year in which commissioned;
2. Highly motivated and adapted for flying, and of a high moral character;
3. Citizen of the United States of America;
4. Graduate of an accredited college;
5. Able to meet the physical requirements for aviation.

Tree Planting Program Opens At Lake Gordon

10,000 Rainbow Trout Placed In Lake Koon

The staff of the Evitts Creek Water Company yesterday replanted a three-acre plot at the right of the city's filter plant at Lake Gordon, according to William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light.

Some 6,000 seedlings were used to plant the area which was cut over in 1949 during the first phase of a woodland management plan for the watershed of the city's water supply system.

To be planted today are about 6,000 more of the 20,000 trees and shrubs which are to be used in the area this year. They will be planted in the Blubaugh Bend area near the Lake Gordon bridge.

Officials said Pennsylvania officials last Thursday placed 1,500 eight inch rainbow trout into Lake Koon, bringing the trout stocking program to the 10,000 mark this year.

They said the fact that the fish provide good sport is only incidental to their real value—of reducing algae in the big dam.

Workers recently installed a fence, about 100 yards from the shore of Lake Koon, to reduce the dangers of pollution at the dam. Gates are provided to allow pedestrian use of the shoreline.

Movies will be shown at the playground tonight at dusk for children of the neighborhood and members of the playground association will open the concession stand for the occasion.

Movies each Tuesday and Thursday night is one of the many attractions offered at the South End play center.

Officials said the City Recreation Department is placing equipment on the field which will be operated by the association until the city playground season begins.

The playground association, headed by Samuel Noel, is planning to brighten up all buildings and equipment on the field by painting them with cheerful colors.

Clinics Set Today

The Health Department will hold child health clinics today at 9:30 a. m. in City Hall and at 10 a. m. in John Humbird School.

W. Va. Children Get Polio Shot

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 2 (AP)—Clinics for inoculation of first and second graders in West Virginia with their first dose of Salk polio vaccine have been completed, except for possible make-up clinics in some places.

State Health Director N. H. Dyer said today, however, that 17 of the 55 counties have not yet sent in their reports showing the number of boys and girls inoculated.

This information is needed, Dr. Dyer said, as the basis for determining the quantity of vaccine the state will require for the second round of inoculations. The second shot is supposed to be given from two to four weeks after the first.

Dyer emphasized that he has not yet received any word from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to indicate when the vaccine for the second series of clinics in the state will be shipped.

The counties from which clinic reports have not yet been received include Mineral.

Officials To Confer On Damage Claim

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners, members of the Upper Potomac River Commission and the Mayor and Council of Westernport will meet at 12:15 p. m. today at the Cumberland Country Club.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss damage claimed by the Town of Westernport due to the construction of the Savage River Dam.

A bill was passed by the General Assembly at the recent session, authorizing the County Commissioners to pay damages to the town, up to, but not to exceed $50,000.

Driver Is Given 50 Days In Jail

Chester Leroy Collins of RD 3, Cumberland, pleaded guilty to a state motor vehicle charge and to failure to answer a written summons and was fined $25 on each count yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court by Magistrate Donald W. Mason.

Mason ordered Collins to Allegany County Jail for a term of 50 days when the driver was unable to pay the imposed fines.

Collins was arrested Saturday on Route 40 in LaVale by Trooper First Class R. D. Wolford of the Maryland State Police.

Paul Dircks, 611 Baltimore Avenue, was fined $101.45 on a state motor violation in Trial Magistrates Court by Magistrate J. Milton Dick. Dircks was arrested on Virginia Avenue Saturday night.

John M. Bridges, of Flintstone, was fined $125 on two motor vehicle violations after being arrested Sunday night on Baltimore Street where his car bumped into another which was stopped for a traffic light. Magistrate Dick imposed the two fines.

Also fined yesterday was Leo Emerick who paid a $10 impost for fishing with an improper license in the C&O Canal at the Town Creek Station. Emerick pleaded guilty before Magistrate Mason.

Transformer To Delay Formal Completion Of Valley Street Span

The S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company is expected to complete virtually all of the construction work on the Valley Street Bridge today, according to city officials.

The only tag end of the job, they said, will be the installation of a transformer for the bridge's lighting system.

City officials said the manufacturer has informed the contractor he cannot make delivery on the transformer for from six to eight weeks.

Registration Begins

The Associated Charities and the Salvation Army Citadel opened registration for June supplies of surplus foods yesterday. The Associated Charities expects to continue the registration through Wednesday, and the Citadel through Friday.

Marine Corps Is Offering College Grads Commissions

Re-emphasizing its traditional air-ground relationship, the US Marine Corps has announced a new training program for prospective Marine aviators, according to Sgt. Donald Coleman, local recruiter.

The first new program for Marine officers since World War II, it has been termed the Aviation Officer Candidate Course. It will result in earlier commissions as second lieutenants for men who desire to become Marine pilots.

Previously all Marine Corps aviators were drawn from the Naval Aviation Cadet Program (NavCad) or from the ranks of Marine officers on active duty. This new program is intended to supplement the present ones.

The AOCC will be offered to college graduates who will attend a 10-week basic indoctrination course at Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va. This course will give them basic Marine Corps training, with an emphasis on infantry aspects.

Successful graduates of this orientation course will receive Marine Corps reserve commissions and be ordered to active duty as student aviators. Upon completion of Flight Training, which lasts from 15 to 18 months, they will be obligated to serve a minimum of two years with the air arm of the Marine Corps.

Applications for the Marine Officer Candidate Course will be accepted commencing today. Twenty-one officer procurement officers located at major cities throughout the country will be authorized to accept applications. It is expected that the first session will convene at Quantico this fall, with a second one after the new year.

Requirements for the program include:

1. Age of more than 20 years and less than 27 on July of the year in which commissioned;
2. Highly motivated and adapted for flying, and of a high moral character;
3. Citizen of the United States of America;
4. Graduate of an accredited college;
5. Able to meet the physical requirements for aviation.

Water Overflows Dams

Water consumption for the week ending Sunday totaled 86,030,000 gallons, an average of 12,201,000 gallons daily, the Mayor and Council was told yesterday. Three inches of water was flowing over Lake Gordon and an inch over Lake Koon.

Tree Planting Program Opens At Lake Gordon

10,000 Rainbow Trout Placed In Lake Koon

The staff of the Evitts Creek Water Company yesterday replanted a three-acre plot at the right of the city's filter plant at Lake Gordon, according to William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light.

Some 6,000 seedlings were used to plant the area which was cut over in 1949 during the first phase of a woodland management plan for the watershed of the city's water supply system.

To be planted today are about 6,000 more of the 20,000 trees and shrubs which are to be used in the area this year. They will be planted in the Blubaugh Bend area near the Lake Gordon bridge.

Officials said Pennsylvania officials last Thursday placed 1,500 eight inch rainbow trout into Lake Koon, bringing the trout stocking program to the 10,000 mark this year.

They said the fact that the fish provide good sport is only incidental to their real value—of reducing algae in the big dam.

Workers recently installed a fence, about 100 yards from the shore of Lake Koon, to reduce the dangers of pollution at the dam. Gates are provided to allow pedestrian use of the shoreline.

Delegation Attends C. Of C. Convention

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce sent four official delegates to the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which opened yesterday in Washington.

They are Henry W. Price, a national councilor; C. William Gilchrist and Harry I. Stegmaier, directors, and Anthony Saeli, manager.

Other members of the local chamber are expected to attend some of the sessions which continue through Wednesday.

The Armed Forces Reserve Medal was presented to members of Company "C" First Battalion, 115th Infantry, Maryland National Guard, recently at a formal battalion inspection. Captain Eugene Light, adjutant of the first battalion, read the orders governing the award. They were presented by Lt. Col. Robert C. Matlick, commander of the battalion. The medals are awarded to those completing 10 years in the active and reserve forces of the Army. Left to right in the above picture are Captain Light; Lt. Col. Matlick; Lt. Robert M. Cultural Exchange Helps Democracy

It is customary to think of U. S. foreign relations in diplomatic, military and economic terms. This is as it should be since it is these things that make the greatest impress on the American people, either in terms of headlines, relatives in service or taxes.

Equally vital in this country's ideological battle with communism for the minds and loyalties of other peoples of the world is the U. S. educational exchange program.

The purpose of this well defined phase of American foreign relations is simply to win friends and influence people — not so much by means of governmental and official channels as through person to person contacts. Democracy has a tremendous selling job to do abroad but the unhappy experiences of the post-World War I era showed that it cannot be done through the export of 14-point idealism.

To make the program successful, flesh-and-blood ambassadors are needed, traveling a two-way street, from this country to those of our allies and former enemies, but perhaps, more importantly, from their respective homelands to the U. S.

In the year ended last June, the cost of the American educational exchange program was $14.7 million, or .007 per cent of the total international expenditures, yet half of this amount represented counterpart foreign currency originating and spent in the countries themselves.

Little heralded though it is, the U. S. exchange program carries its full weight in democracy's battle for survival and merits continuing support.

These Days

The Formosan View

When last February, the Nationalists on Formosa evacuated the Tachen Islands, with the assistance of the American Seventh Fleet, they assumed that they had an agreement, in writing, with the United States that because of such evacuation, Quemoy and Matsu would be defended by the United States. They believed that to be true up to Sunday, April 24, when Admiral Arthur W. Radford, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson arrived on Formosa to tell them otherwise.

(In this article, I am trying to give the picture as I understand the Chinese on Formosa see it. I do not know, of my own knowledge, what the Tachen evacuation agreement was.)

As a matter of fact, the initial rejection of Chou En-lai's invitation to talk on a Saturday, which was nullified on the following Tuesday, was in conformity with the spirit, if not the letter, of such an agreement.

To the Nationalists, therefore, the change of attitude between Saturday and Tuesday is in the nature of a double cross — "walk the garden path," as the Chinese say it—and they are blaming it, as usual, on the British, by which they mean that the constant necessity for adjusting American to British policy, or, to put it differently, the readjustments of American and British policy give the British, who dislike Chiang Kai-shek, an opportunity to influence American views.

The Nationalists intend to stay put which is embarrassing to the United States, because the question then arises, will the United States blast the Nationalists off Quemoy and Matsu in the interest of Communist China. The alternative to that is to let the Nationalists do their own fighting, the Seventh Fleet watching the engagement. The Nationalists will, of course, fight with American equipment just as the Chinese Communists will fight with Russian equipment. It will be something like the Civil War in Spain during which one side was supported by Soviet Russia and the other side by Nazi Germany. It might even be regarded in Asia as a prelude to the big fight.

Should the Nationalists be defeated and the Communists decide to push on to Formosa, the Seventh Fleet would become engaged automatically, unless the United States decided to violate its treaty of alliance with Nationalist China. Should such a violation occur, the Communists could readily take Formosa and Japan would be forced to reconsider her position vis-a-vis the United States. The Japan-Australia line would be in a state of collapse, and the United States would have to form a new defensive line, probably with Pearl Harbor as the core. Then Southeast Asia would go pro-Communist China and anti-American because no country can accept the reliability of a treaty-breaker.

Nobody in Asia is quite sure as to what American policy is. Chiang Kai-shek has put his faith in Radford and Robertson, two excellent officials, who have been required to make proposals to him which he cannot and will not accept. Suicide is, for him, more acceptable, and may some day be the only way out.

Chiang has been dealing with countries for a long time. He understands that Radford and Robertson were sent on the mission to nullify the agreement concerning Quemoy and Matsu precisely because the Nationalists regard them as friends and trust them. He recognizes that public officials are often required to perform wholly unpalatable duties. Therefore, in his mind, their arguments are discounted because he does not believe that they mean what they say. They are merely carrying out their public duties, whatever their private opinions may be.

Further, all governments dealing with the United States recognize that there are actually two State Departments, if not more, and that the two do not always agree, which is why it was possible to say something officially on Saturday and to back away from it on Tuesday.

The formal State Department, presided over by John Foster Dulles and Herbert Hoover Jr., holds the view that was expressed on Saturday; the White House group, which includes Dr. Milton Eisenhower, Harold Stassen and Nelson Rockefeller, holds the view which was expressed on Tuesday. The British, who frankly do not like Dulles, try to by-pass him by going directly to the White House group, and that makes for confusion and uncertainty.

Army Wants Subways Built Under Ice; Chinese To Hit 2 Tiny Isles This Month

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — It hasn't been announced yet, but the Army Engineers will burrow under Greenland's mighty icecap this summer and, if successful, run subway trains beneath the packed snow and ice just as subways now run under New York City.

This spectacular project, known as Operation Icecube, is awaiting final approval by the Danish authorities who govern Greenland. A volunteer construction crew of six officers and 172 men, commanded by Lt. Col. Elmer Clark, is standing by to begin the dangerous tunneling through the solid, million-year-old ice. Their work will be supervised by 60 scientists, all Arctic specialists.

Using the latest snow-tunneling equipment, they will bore 100 feet below the ice to build this unique, deep-freeze subway. Purpose is to link scattered Arctic outposts by fast electric trains that will streak under the icecap with troops and supplies.

Greenland stands—a mammoth, stationary iceberg—in the path of Soviet bombers that could strike America from Arctic bases. Actually the island is a huge submerged valley, packed to the brim with snow that spills over the mountainous outer rim into the sea. This tremendous snowdrift, accumulated for centuries, is nearly two miles deep at some points.

The surface is a Sahara of snow, whipped by winds over 150 miles an hour, frozen by stark, 70-below temperatures. But underneath, the conditions are calm, the temperature is a constant 13 degrees below zero.

Besides protection from the terrible storms and severe temperatures, the proposed under-ice transportation system would be safe from detection by enemy bombers. Already the Army Engineers have built sinking Arctic outposts, whose buildings are designed like submarines to sink on an even keel, leaving only antennas and hatchways poking above the snow.

Construction on the Arctic subway will begin in July, probably near Thule Air Force Base. The first effort will be experimental to determine how feasible the project is. Cost is expected to run no more than it takes to build an average, two-lane concrete highway.

But its value may be immeasurable in conquering the forbidding but strategic Arctic—another triumph for American ingenuity.

Hall Gets Panned

Genial, barren-beaned Len Hall, chairman of the GOP National Committee, has to carry a lot of gripes and trouble on his broad shoulders. He is used to most of them, takes them in his stride. But he was flabbergasted when an explosive gripe was delivered in his office by an old backer of the GOP.

He was Sam Pryor, former GOP national committeeman from Connecticut, a Wendell Willkie campaign manager, and now vice president and chief lobbyist for Pan American Airways. Pryor has helped to raise a lot of money for Republican campaigns and his visits are not unwelcome at GOP headquarters—except for this one. This time he came storming into Chairman Hall's office fit to be tied.

"I am going to get you if it's the last thing I do," the angry Pryor told the genial Hall.

And he proceeded to blame the GOP committee for failure to reappoint Oswald Ryan to the Civil Aeronautics Board. Ryan is the friend of Pan American Airways, who, from his vantage point on the CAB, had helped deliver important routes to the "world's biggest airline." Though Pryor consistently denied—to this writer and others—that Ryan was a friend of Pan Am or had done any favors, he seemed to have forgotten these denials when he talked to Hall.

Hall was too amazed to say very much during the interview, but afterward he remarked to associates that never in his life had anyone ever talked to him that way and he wasn't going to let it happen again.

NOTE: Ryan has been replaced on the CAB by Ross Rizley, a straight-shooting former GOP national committeeman from Oklahoma, who doesn't favor the big airlines and has been doing one of the best jobs in the CAB in recent years.

Other Chinese Islands

Chou En-lai's latest olive branch may be Communist camouflage to hide war moves along the Chinese coast. Intelligence reports warn that a Red assault is imminent against two Nationalist-held coastal islands—not Quemoy and Matsu, but two whose names haven't broken into the headlines.

They are Wuchiu and Pinghai, two small Nationalist outposts lying midway between Quemoy and Matsu. Their capture would cut one side of the Quemoy-Matsu-Formosa triangle and provide supply lines.

Wuchiu is defended by 1,800 tough Nationalist troops; the Pinghai garrison is even smaller. Another 400 guerrillas use the islands as bases for raids against the mainland. Yet they would be no match for a junk-borne invasion army of 35,000 Reds, known to be massing for the assault.

Communist patrol boats have already taken soundings and charted the approaches to the two islands. The attack is expected early in May.

Menon's Activities On Formosa Bad News For U. S.

By David Lawrence

PARIS — Announcement that Krishna Menon has been invited to Peiping by Chou En-lai to arrange for talks with the United States on the Formosa question is bad news for America. For Menon is perhaps the shrewest ally the Communists have roaming around the free world. It was he who engineered the sell-out by the West in Indochina at the Geneva conference last year, and it is he who is believed to have a stronge but powerful influence over India's Jawaharlal Nehru.

Krishna Menon is everywhere moving mysteriously behind the scenes. He holds the title now of permanent representative of India at the United Nations, but actually he is as much at home in London with the diplomats there as he is in Moscow. Menon once tried to run for Parliament in England, and today has some influential relationships with the Socialist Labor party in Britain.

Antagonized Some Indians

Menon's reputation in the United States has been not as good as he would like it to be, for he is aware of the distrust that exists with respect to his peculiar kind of diplomacy. Accordingly, he has tried to cultivate American friendships in the financial district in New York and in State Department circles in Washington. He has to some extent antagonized some of the people from India who reside in America, and they speak openly of his friction with other members of the Indian diplomatic colony.

When Menon appeared at Geneva last year during the big conference on Indochina, he was frequently in the company of Chou En-lai. He sought and obtained conferences with American officials, who maintained a cautious reserve with respect to his proposals.

If Menon is going to be Chou En-Lai's mediator, it merely means that he is going to play the Red China game. For he dislikes America's policy and has not hesitated in private to express his contempt for it. The amazing thing is that Menon is accepted in Britain. But at the moment British policy inclines toward the very thing Menon would try to accomplish—namely, the evacuation of the Chinese offshore islands by the Nationalists, who are expected to be pressured to abandon those areas at the behest of the United States.

Will Look Plausible

On paper, the solution which will be proposed will look plausible. It will involve some sort of declaration whereby Red China does not give up her claim to Formosa but will for the time being hold it in abeyance until some international tribunal—not necessarily the United Nations—works out a plan for the acquisition of Formosa by Red China's government.

Curiously enough, Britain has indicated that, if there is a cease-fire around the offshore islands, she will join in some kind of general statement urging that force shall not be used. But, at the same time, there is no probability that the Eden government will dare to pledge that British military force will be used to protect Formosa in case of attack. On the contrary, the most that will ever be forthcoming is a declaration by the United Nations or a group of nations concerned with the Far East that force shall not be employed.

All such pledges are not worth much, because they cannot bind the Chinese Communists, who will always find an excuse to threaten to use force to gain control of Formosa.

A plan has been cooking in Washington to reassure the Nationalists by sending to Formosa a regiment of American Marines in what is described as a "token" force. But this will not sit well with the American people, who do not want American boys engaged in any Far Eastern defense measure unless British and French troops and those of other nations are stationed there, too. But, just as happened in Korea, it may well be that in the end Americans would furnish the bulk of the force and there might be a "token" representation from the armies of other countries.

"Sell-Out" Possible

The intrigue which will start in Peiping under Krishna Menon's guidance will certainly embarrass the United States government, which will be compelled in the face of opposition from Britain to recede from the stand taken last week by President Eisenhower, who said there would be direct talks with the Chinese Communists only with respect to a cease-fire for the offshore islands area and that anything relating to Formosa would have to include the Nationalists. This is an easy one for the Menon technique. He will hold talks with the Chinese Reds and with United States representatives, and he will expect the latter to hold their own conferences with the Nationalists.

It is perhaps too early to predict a "sell-out" or a new Munich, but anything in which Menon is engaged could easily wind up that way as far as the United States is concerned.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

When you ask if one of the fair sex will ever be president do you mean state fair or world fair?

There has already been a governess of a state. It was Ma Ferguson who barged in after Pa Ferguson had lost out. It got me into a hassel of trouble with no more protection than an albino's eyebrows.

I happened to write a line that went, "In the old days of Texas when men were men — and so were the governors."

It arrived in Houston eventually by the vaudeville route via Bill Halligan, Ned Clothes Norton and Jim Corbett.

Pa Ferguson heard it and was fit to be tied. He challenged me to a duel. My choice of weapons was oyster forks at different banquets. Amon Carter stepped in and smoothed things out like the upper deck of a galloping camel.

We have had lady representatives and lady senators. Also many delegates to the national conventions have been of the shriller sex. Bill Bryan's daughter was a diplomat before Perle Mesta raised Luxembourg to the nth power of umph.

I think the only ingredient that bars Clare Boothe Luce from the Casa Blanca is the age limit. As soon as this charmer gets to be 35 I'm voting for her.

Beneath The Surface

By Joseph Alsop

TOKYO

On the surface, America's relations with Japan seem to be as satisfactory as ever. But look beneath the surface a little. You quickly find all sorts of signs that President Eisenhower was being a bit premature when he officially described Japan as "the bastion of American defense in the Pacific."

A national mood is always hard to detect correctly, and even harder to define without exaggeration. But a great many scores of conversations with leading Japanese have convinced this reporter that the Japanese mood now quite seriously jeopardizes the vital link between Japan and America.

It is a mood of impatience, irritation, doubt, and even rising anger with the United States. These emotions are controlled and repressed for the present, to be sure, by highly practical considerations. But remove the repression by changing Japan's practical situation. The emotions that are now quite largely bottled up may then burst forth with quite astonishing force.

Disturbing Factors

Thus far, the American policy makers have succeeded in blandly ignoring this Japanese mood. They have not been shaken out of their politically convenient camplacency about Japan because the outwardly pro-American and anti-Communist Japan conservative parties still possess a substantial majority. But even in the case of the Japanese conservatives, if you look beneath the surface what you discover is disturbing.

The two conservative parties, the Liberals and Democrats, still have the majority because they have more money, more political organization and more political experience. But they are not only split into rival groups which are in turn riddled by internal faction and intrigue. They also lack the confident leadership and the bold, clear programs that are so desperately needed by this nation looking for a new direction.

Moreover, while their anti-communism is sincere enough, the pro-Americanism of Japanese conservatives is strictly a matter of expediency. The big businessmen who dominate the conservative parties think that as yet Japan cannot survive economically without the link to America. Hence the Japanese conservative politicians are officially pro-American. But it is very clear their hearts are not in it.

For example, the conservative strong man, Finance Minister Hisato Ichimada, would no doubt formally deny any anti-Americanism. But one cannot resist the suspicion that if circumstances permitted, Ichimada would like nothing better than to tell America to go to hell and launch into an aggressively independent policy. As for the two socialist parties of the Japanese left, they are still a political minority. But the trades unions are now giving the socialists both the funds and the political organization in the big towns that they need so badly to compete with the conservatives. The young people are all socialists, and mostly left-wing socialists. And while both socialist parties are strongly anti-American, the left-wing socialists are also strongly pro-Soviet.

Two Reasons For Opinion

The Japanese socialists suffer, perhaps even more than the conservatives, from a shortage of leaders and a lack of practical programs. But in this nation which has not yet found itself since the war, the political left can quite conceivably win one day if the trend of world events continues to discredit the American alliance. In any case, one must face the fact that the American alliance is not something the Japanese of any party like, but rather something the majority still submit to because they think they must.

There are two reasons why a majority of Japanese still hold this opinion. The first is plain hard cash.

By far the largest item in the Japanese balance of trade is the annual exchange of more than $800,000,000 with the United States. The exchange is uneven since we import less than half the value in goods from Japan that Japan takes from us. For the present the margin is covered by American military expenditures here. For the present, therefore, money is the chief motive of the staunch insistence of the Japanese big business on the American alliance.

Stay With Winner

But no one knows what the future business attitude may be, when and if the Eisenhower-Wilson-Humphrey disarmament program greatly cuts out military spending here, and Japan can no longer pay for American imports with American dollars.

As to the second Japanese motive for reluctantly holding to the American alliance, it is just as crudely practical as the first.

Everyone likes to be with the winner. Asians like it more than most people, and the Japanese are Asians. Almost 10 years later, the aftertaste of America's victory in 1945 is still strong in Japan. Thus far, the great majority of Japanese find it hard to believe that America will not be the final victor in any world showdown.

This is the real heart of the matter. It is foolish to provoke needless resentments among allies, as we have done with the Japanese. But it is absolutely fatal to forget the rule laid down some 18 centuries ago by the great Tacitus, "let them detest us so long as they respect us." The consequences that have to be anticipated if developments in Asia undermine Japan's respect for the United States are so serious, that they need analysis in a further report.

Good General Hospital Means Ample Medical Care

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A good general hospital assures a community adequate medical care. It attracts the better physicians and provides facilities for laboratory tests and procedures that might not be obtainable otherwise.

The majority of neighborhood hospitals are built to care for the acutely ill. The emergency rooms are open 24 hours a day to sew up a lacerated finger or set a fractured bone. Here babies are born, operations are performed, and pneumonia and other serious infections are treated.

The general hospital always must have beds available for emergencies and catastrophes. It is the responsibility of the superintendent to be careful lest too many beds are occupied by persons with chronic ailments calling for months or years of continuous care. These hospitals are not nursing homes or tuberculosis sanatoriums.

Among the common exceptions are accidents, heart attacks, and cancer. Recovery from a fractured hip or leg bone requires 6 to 12 weeks in the hospital and a year or two may elapse before victims of a severe burn or traffic casualty are able to go home.

People are talking about the high cost of hospital care. Statistics show a one per cent rise per month over the past 10 years. This is plenty but not out of line, considering the increase in the cost of living.

The same can be said of almost all goods and services contributing to individual and family well being including housing, clothing, autos, food, and household devices. For every bed, most hospitals have more than 2.5 employes, many of them highly skilled technicians.

During the past decade, however, expenses have been tempered by insurance and improved remedies. Penicillin has shortened the hospital stay of the pneumonia patient by weeks. Convalescence from an appendectomy is reduced from 14 days to three or four. The cost per day has gone up but not the cost per illness.

Many communities want a hospital but have been unable to raise enough funds to start construction. This was true even with the state and federal government defraying almost half the expenses. In addition, there are the usual arguments concerning ownership and management.

In many ways, the hospital is like a church; it is not owned by a single member nor is the individual entitled to special privileges just because he contributes. Nevertheless there is no other way for a group to have a house of worship unless all share the expenses. The same applies to the hospital and good medical care.

Cultural Exchange Helps Democracy

It is customary to think of U. S. foreign relations in diplomatic, military and economic terms. This is as it should be since it is these things that make the greatest impress on the American people, either in terms of headlines, relatives in service or taxes.

Equally vital in this country's ideological battle with communism for the minds and loyalties of other peoples of the world is the U. S. educational exchange program.

The purpose of this well defined phase of American foreign relations is simply to win friends and influence people — not so much by means of governmental and official channels as through person to person contacts. Democracy has a tremendous selling job to do abroad but the unhappy experiences of the post-World War I era showed that it cannot be done through the export of 14-point idealism.

To make the program successful, flesh-and-blood ambassadors are needed, traveling a two-way street, from this country to those of our allies and former enemies, but perhaps, more importantly, from their respective homelands to the U. S.

In the year ended last June, the cost of the American educational exchange program was $14.7 million, or .007 per cent of the total international expenditures, yet half of this amount represented counterpart foreign currency originating and spent in the countries themselves.

Little heralded though it is, the U. S. exchange program carries its full weight in democracy's battle for survival and merits continuing support.

These Days

The Formosan View

When last February, the Nationalists on Formosa evacuated the Tachen Islands, with the assistance of the American Seventh Fleet, they assumed that they had an agreement, in writing, with the United States that because of such evacuation, Quemoy and Matsu would be defended by the United States. They believed that to be true up to Sunday, April 24, when Admiral Arthur W. Radford, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson arrived on Formosa to tell them otherwise.

(In this article, I am trying to give the picture as I understand the Chinese on Formosa see it. I do not know, of my own knowledge, what the Tachen evacuation agreement was.)

As a matter of fact, the initial rejection of Chou En-lai's invitation to talk on a Saturday, which was nullified on the following Tuesday, was in conformity with the spirit, if not the letter, of such an agreement.

To the Nationalists, therefore, the change of attitude between Saturday and Tuesday is in the nature of a double cross — "walk the garden path," as the Chinese say it—and they are blaming it, as usual, on the British, by which they mean that the constant necessity for adjusting American to British policy, or, to put it differently, the readjustments of American and British policy give the British, who dislike Chiang Kai-shek, an opportunity to influence American views.

The Nationalists intend to stay put which is embarrassing to the United States, because the question then arises, will the United States blast the Nationalists off Quemoy and Matsu in the interest of Communist China. The alternative to that is to let the Nationalists do their own fighting, the Seventh Fleet watching the engagement. The Nationalists will, of course, fight with American equipment just as the Chinese Communists will fight with Russian equipment. It will be something like the Civil War in Spain during which one side was supported by Soviet Russia and the other side by Nazi Germany. It might even be regarded in Asia as a prelude to the big fight.

Should the Nationalists be defeated and the Communists decide to push on to Formosa, the Seventh Fleet would become engaged automatically, unless the United States decided to violate its treaty of alliance with Nationalist China. Should such a violation occur, the Communists could readily take Formosa and Japan would be forced to reconsider her position vis-a-vis the United States. The Japan-Australia line would be in a state of collapse, and the United States would have to form a new defensive line, probably with Pearl Harbor as the core. Then Southeast Asia would go pro-Communist China and anti-American because no country can accept the reliability of a treaty-breaker.

Nobody in Asia is quite sure as to what American policy is. Chiang Kai-shek has put his faith in Radford and Robertson, two excellent officials, who have been required to make proposals to him which he cannot and will not accept. Suicide is, for him, more acceptable, and may some day be the only way out.

Chiang has been dealing with countries for a long time. He understands that Radford and Robertson were sent on the mission to nullify the agreement concerning Quemoy and Matsu precisely because the Nationalists regard them as friends and trust them. He recognizes that public officials are often required to perform wholly unpalatable duties. Therefore, in his mind, their arguments are discounted because he does not believe that they mean what they say. They are merely carrying out their public duties, whatever their private opinions may be.

Further, all governments dealing with the United States recognize that there are actually two State Departments, if not more, and that the two do not always agree, which is why it was possible to say something officially on Saturday and to back away from it on Tuesday.

The formal State Department, presided over by John Foster Dulles and Herbert Hoover Jr., holds the view that was expressed on Saturday; the White House group, which includes Dr. Milton Eisenhower, Harold Stassen and Nelson Rockefeller, holds the view which was expressed on Tuesday. The British, who frankly do not like Dulles, try to by-pass him by going directly to the White House group, and that makes for confusion and uncertainty.

Menon's Activities On Formosa Bad News For U. S.

By David Lawrence

PARIS—Announcement that Krishna Menon has been invited to Peiping by Chou En-lai to arrange for talks with the United States on the Formosa question is bad news for America. For Menon is perhaps the shrewest ally the Communists have roaming around the free world. It was he who engineered the sell-out by the West in Indochina at the Geneva conference last year, and it is he who is believed to have a stronge but powerful influence over India's Jawaharlal Nehru.

Krishna Menon is everywhere moving mysteriously behind the scenes. He holds the title now of permanent representative of India at the United Nations, but actually he is as much at home in London with the diplomats there as he is in Moscow. Menon once tried to run for Parliament in England, and today has some influential relationships with the Socialist Labor party in Britain.

Antagonized Some Indians

Menon's reputation in the United States has been not as good as he would like it to be, for he is aware of the distrust that exists with respect to his peculiar kind of diplomacy. Accordingly, he has tried to cultivate American friendships in the financial district in New York and in State Department circles in Washington. He has to some extent antagonized some of the people from India who reside in America, and they speak openly of his friction with other members of the Indian diplomatic colony.

When Menon appeared at Geneva last year during the big conference on Indochina, he was frequently in the company of Chou En-lai. He sought and obtained conferences with American officials, who maintained a cautious reserve with respect to his proposals.

If Menon is going to be Chou En-Lai's mediator, it merely means that he is going to play the Red China game. For he dislikes America's policy and has not hesitated in private to express his contempt for it. The amazing thing is that Menon is accepted in Britain. But at the moment British policy inclines toward the very thing Menon would try to accomplish—namely, the evacuation of the Chinese offshore islands by the Nationalists, who are expected to be pressured to abandon those areas at the behest of the United States.

Will Look Plausible

On paper, the solution which will be proposed will look plausible. It will involve some sort of declaration whereby Red China does not give up her claim to Formosa but will for the time being hold it in abeyance until some international tribunal—not necessarily the United Nations—works out a plan for the acquisition of Formosa by Red China's government.

Curiously enough, Britain has indicated that, if there is a cease-fire around the offshore islands, she will join in some kind of general statement urging that force shall not be used. But, at the same time, there is no probability that the Eden government will dare to pledge that British military force will be used to protect Formosa in case of attack. On the contrary, the most that will ever be forthcoming is a declaration by the United Nations or a group of nations concerned with the Far East that force shall not be employed.

All such pledges are not worth much, because they cannot bind the Chinese Communists, who will always find an excuse to threaten to use force to gain control of Formosa.

A plan has been cooking in Washington to reassure the Nationalists by sending to Formosa a regiment of American Marines in what is described as a "token" force. But this will not sit well with the American people, who do not want American boys engaged in any Far Eastern defense measure unless British and French troops and those of other nations are stationed there, too. But, just as happened in Korea, it may well be that in the end Americans would furnish the bulk of the force and there might be a "token" representation from the armies of other countries.

"Sell-Out" Possible

The intrigue which will start in Peiping under Krishna Menon's guidance will certainly embarrass the United States government, which will be compelled in the face of opposition from Britain to recede from the stand taken last week by President Eisenhower, who said there would be direct talks with the Chinese Communists only with respect to a cease-fire for the offshore islands area and that anything relating to Formosa would have to include the Nationalists. This is an easy one for the Menon technique. He will hold talks with the Chinese Reds and with United States representatives, and he will expect the latter to hold their own conferences with the Nationalists.

It is perhaps too early to predict a "sell-out" or a new Munich, but anything in which Menon is engaged could easily wind up that way as far as the United States is concerned.

Army Wants Subways Built Under Ice; Chinese To Hit 2 Tiny Isles This Month

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — It hasn't been announced yet, but the Army Engineers will burrow under Greenland's mighty icecap this summer and, if successful, run subway trains beneath the packed snow and ice just as subways now run under New York City.

This spectacular project, known as Operation Icecube, is awaiting final approval by the Danish authorities who govern Greenland. A volunteer construction crew of six officers and 172 men, commanded by Lt. Col. Elmer Clark, is standing by to begin the dangerous tunneling through the solid, million-year-old ice. Their work will be supervised by 60 scientists, all Arctic specialists.

Using the latest snow-tunneling equipment, they will bore 100 feet below the ice to build this unique, deep-freeze subway. Purpose is to link scattered Arctic outposts by fast electric trains that will streak under the icecap with troops and supplies.

Greenland stands—a mammoth, stationary iceberg—in the path of Soviet bombers that could strike America from Arctic bases. Actually the island is a huge submerged valley, packed to the brim with snow that spills over the mountainous outer rim into the sea. This tremendous snowdrift, accumulated for centuries, is nearly two miles deep at some points.

The surface is a Sahara of snow, whipped by winds over 150 miles an hour, frozen by stark, 70-below temperatures. But underneath, the conditions are calm, the temperature is a constant 13 degrees below zero.

Besides protection from the terrible storms and severe temperatures, the proposed under-ice transportation system would be safe from detection by enemy bombers. Already the Army Engineers have built sinking Arctic outposts, whose buildings are designed like submarines to sink on an even keel, leaving only antennas and hatchways poking above the snow.

Construction on the Arctic subway will begin in July, probably near Thule Air Force Base. The first effort will be experimental to determine how feasible the project is. Cost is expected to run no more than it takes to build an average, two-lane concrete highway.

But its value may be immeasurable in conquering the forbidding but strategic Arctic—another triumph for American ingenuity.

Hall Gets Panned

Genial, barren-beaned Len Hall, chairman of the GOP National Committee, has to carry a lot of gripes and trouble on his broad shoulders. He is used to most of them, takes them in his stride. But he was flabbergasted when an explosive gripe was delivered in his office by an old backer of the GOP.

He was Sam Pryor, former GOP national committeeman from Connecticut, a Wendell Willkie campaign manager, and now vice president and chief lobbyist for Pan American Airways. Pryor has helped to raise a lot of money for Republican campaigns and his visits are not unwelcome at GOP headquarters—except for this one. This time he came storming into Chairman Hall's office fit to be tied.

"I am going to get you if it's the last thing I do," the angry Pryor told the genial Hall.

And he proceeded to blame the GOP committee for failure to reappoint Oswald Ryan to the Civil Aeronautics Board. Ryan is the friend of Pan American Airways, who, from his vantage point on the CAB, had helped deliver important routes to the "world's biggest airline." Though Pryor consistently denied—to this writer and others—that Ryan was a friend of Pan Am or had done any favors, he seemed to have forgotten these denials when he talked to Hall.

Hall was too amazed to say very much during the interview, but afterward he remarked to associates that never in his life had anyone ever talked to him that way and he wasn't going to let it happen again.

NOTE: Ryan has been replaced on the CAB by Ross Rizley, a straight-shooting former GOP national committeeman from Oklahoma, who doesn't favor the big airlines and has been doing one of the best jobs in the CAB in recent years.

Other Chinese Islands

Chou En-lai's latest olive branch may be Communist camouflage to hide war moves along the Chinese coast. Intelligence reports warn that a Red assault is imminent against two Nationalist-held coastal islands—not Quemoy and Matsu, but two whose names haven't broken into the headlines.

They are Wuchiu and Pinghai, two small Nationalist outposts lying midway between Quemoy and Matsu. Their capture would cut one side of the Quemoy-Matsu-Formosa triangle and provide supply lines.

Wuchiu is defended by 1,800 tough Nationalist troops; the Pinghai garrison is even smaller. Another 400 guerrillas use the islands as bases for raids against the mainland. Yet they would be no match for a junk-borne invasion army of 35,000 Reds, known to be massing for the assault.

Communist patrol boats have already taken soundings and charted the approaches to the two islands. The attack is expected early in May.

Beneath The Surface

By Joseph Alsop

TOKYO

On the surface, America's relations with Japan seem to be as satisfactory as ever. But look beneath the surface a little. You quickly find all sorts of signs that President Eisenhower was being a bit premature when he officially described Japan as "the bastion of American defense in the Pacific."

A national mood is always hard to detect correctly, and even harder to define without exaggeration. But a great many scores of conversations with leading Japanese have convinced this reporter that the Japanese mood now quite seriously jeopardizes the vital link between Japan and America.

It is a mood of impatience, irritation, doubt, and even rising anger with the United States. These emotions are controlled and repressed for the present, to be sure, by highly practical considerations. But remove the repression by changing Japan's practical situation. The emotions that are now quite largely bottled up may then burst forth with quite astonishing force.

Disturbing Factors

Thus far, the American policy makers have succeeded in blandly ignoring this Japanese mood. They have not been shaken out of their politically convenient camplacency about Japan because the outwardly pro-American and anti-Communist Japan conservative parties still possess a substantial majority. But even in the case of the Japanese conservatives, if you look beneath the surface what you discover is disturbing.

The two conservative parties, the Liberals and Democrats, still have the majority because they have more money, more political organization and more political experience. But they are not only split into rival groups which are in turn riddled by internal faction and intrigue. They also lack the confident leadership and the bold, clear programs that are so desperately needed by this nation looking for a new direction.

Moreover, while their anti-communism is sincere enough, the pro-Americanism of Japanese conservatives is strictly a matter of expediency. The big businessmen who dominate the conservative parties think that as yet Japan cannot survive economically without the link to America. Hence the Japanese conservative politicians are officially pro-American. But it is very clear their hearts are not in it.

For example, the conservative strong man, Finance Minister Hisato Ichimada, would no doubt formally deny any anti-Americanism. But one cannot resist the suspicion that if circumstances permitted, Ichimada would like nothing better than to tell America to go to hell and launch into an aggressively independent policy. As for the two socialist parties of the Japanese left, they are still a political minority. But the trades unions are now giving the socialists both the funds and the political organization in the big towns that they need so badly to compete with the conservatives. The young people are all socialists, and mostly left-wing socialists. And while both socialist parties are strongly anti-American, the left-wing socialists are also strongly pro-Soviet.

Two Reasons For Opinion

The Japanese socialists suffer, perhaps even more than the conservatives, from a shortage of leaders and a lack of practical programs. But in this nation which has not yet found itself since the war, the political left can quite conceivably win one day if the trend of world events continues to discredit the American alliance. In any case, one must face the fact that the American alliance is not something the Japanese of any party like, but rather something the majority still submit to because they think they must.

There are two reasons why a majority of Japanese still hold this opinion. The first is plain hard cash.

By far the largest item in the Japanese balance of trade is the annual exchange of more than $800,000,000 with the United States. The exchange is uneven since we import less than half the value in goods from Japan that Japan takes from us. For the present the margin is covered by American military expenditures here. For the present, therefore, money is the chief motive of the staunch insistence of the Japanese big business on the American alliance.

Stay With Winner

But no one knows what the future business attitude may be, when and if the Eisenhower-Wilson-Humphrey disarmament program greatly cuts out military spending here, and Japan can no longer pay for American imports with American dollars.

As to the second Japanese motive for reluctantly holding to the American alliance, it is just as crudely practical as the first.

Everyone likes to be with the winner. Asians like it more than most people, and the Japanese are Asians. Almost 10 years later, the aftertaste of America's victory in 1945 is still strong in Japan. Thus far, the great majority of Japanese find it hard to believe that America will not be the final victor in any world showdown.

This is the real heart of the matter. It is foolish to provoke needless resentments among allies, as we have done with the Japanese. But it is absolutely fatal to forget the rule laid down some 18 centuries ago by the great Tacitus, "let them detest us so long as they respect us." The consequences that have to be anticipated if developments in Asia undermine Japan's respect for the United States are so serious, that they need analysis in a further report.

Don Paye And Donnie Wilkinson Hurl No-Run, No-Hit Games

Camper Lefty Beats Aggies By Score 6-0

Bruce Hurler Stops Indians, 6-0; LaSalle Takes Second Place

Don Paye, Allegany High School southpaw, and Donnie Wilkinson, Bruce High righthander, turned in no-run, no hit pitching performances in the Bi-State Conference in games played yesterday at Campobello and Westernport.

Paye pitched Coach Roy Lester's Campers to a 6-0 victory over the Flintstone Aggies while Wilkinson turned back Mt. Savage High School by the same score.

Only 24 Face Paye

Only 24 batsmen faced Paye in the contest at Campobello. Two were safe on fielding miscues and one drew a base on balls. The Camper southpaw struck out 10.

Allegany obtained only five hits off Kenny Lough who went the route for Flintstone. Breedlove and Sullivan batted in two runs each for the winners.

Wilkinson won the decision over Lefty Wayne Fleegle in the tilt at Westernport. In the 7th inning with two out Mt. Savage came near spoiling Wilkinson's no-hitter when Ahern momentarily lost Clauson's fly in the sun but he managed to get under the ball then muffed it. Donnie gave up two bases on balls and struck out six.

Bruce collected eight hits, four of which were shared by Kertesz and Richard Metz. Clyde Broadwater and Kertesz rapped triples for Augie Eichhorn's Bulldogs.

Beall Tops Valley, 6-2

Beall High School moved into a tie with Hyndman for third place by beating Valley High School at Barton, 6-2.

A four-run uprising in the sixth inning decided this contest and gave Ronnie Rice the decision over Ronnie Young.

LaSalle In 2nd Place

LaSalle High School took over the runner-up spot, one game off the pace, by thumping Hyndman High School's Hornets at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 13-5.

Lefty Bill Roberts, who relieved Ritter on the mound in the first inning, got credit for the victory, his third against a single defeat. Harold Hudson led the Explorers' 11-hit assault with a double and two singles in three official trips. Don May obtained two of Hyndman's seven safeties.

Aikins Flattens Delaney In 8th

Knockout Features Fight At St. Nick

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP) — Virgil Aikins, a 4 to 1 underdog knocked out highly rated Ronnie Delaney tonight with a left hook-right cross combination in 2:41 of the eighth round at St. Nicholas Arena. Delaney weighed 149¾, Aikins 146½ pounds.

Delaney, the No. 6 middleweight contender, never had been stopped and had lost only once in 53 previous bouts. He hadn't been beaten since Aug. 30, 1948 when he dropped an eight round decision to Jimmy Welch.

Going into this battle Delaney had a 49-1-3 record, including a decision over Johnny Saxton, then the welter champ, in a non-title go Feb. 11.

A left hook to the jaw staggered Delaney, who backed off to become a sitting duck for the finishing right hand wallop.

Moon, Mueller Lead National Loop Batsmen

Both Hitting .375; Skowron Heads A. L.

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—Wally Moon, one of the shining lights of the St. Louis Cardinals, apparently isn't going to be botherered by baseball's sophomore jinx.

Moon, last season's national league rookie of the year, currently is tied for the senior circuit's batting lead with Don Mueller of the New York Giants. Each is hitting .375.

In 1954 Moon finished with a .304 average and had the distinction of hitting home runs on his first and last at bats of the season.

The speedy St. Louis outfielder has collected 27 hits in 72 trips while Mueller has 24 safeties in 64 times at bat.

Bill Skowron of the New York Yankees is the American League's leader with a .451 mark. He collected 23 hits in 51 at bats before he was sidelined with a torn leg muscle last Wednesday.

Al Kaline, the young Detroit outfielder who received a $34,000 bonus for signing two years ago, is paying the Tigers back in base hits. He's second to Skowron with .419.

Vic Power of Kansas City is third with .414. followed by Detroit's Harvey Kuenn with .386. The records include afternoon games of Monday.

In the National League, the Cards' Rip Repulski holds down the No. 3 spot with .357 followed by Johnny Logan of Milwaukee with .356.

Carl Furillo, Brooklyn's celebrated No. 8 batter, is the National League's home run leader with seven. In the American League, Sherman Lollar of Chicago is the top man with six homers.

Gromek Baffles New York Yanks, Tigers Win, 7-1

Detroit Is Victor Over Lefty Wiesler

DETROIT, May 2 (AP) — Steve Gromek, who has made a career of beating the Yankees, did it again today with a six-hitter that gave the Detroit Tigers a 7-1 victory over the New Yorkers.

Gromek retired the first 12 batters in order and seldom was in trouble as he ran his lifetime record against the Yanks to 17-10.

The Yankees defense, considered one of the best in baseball, fell apart in the third inning, committing three errors to hand the Tigers a pair of unearned runs.

The loss knocked New York back to fourth place.

Gromek was sharp with his control, issuing no walks, and his teammates backed him up with eight hits, including a two-run double by Ferris Fain in the first inning and a home run by Jim Delsing in the eighth.

The Yankees used four pitchers, with starter Bob Wiesler getting the loss. It was Wiesler's first appearance of any kind this season, and the young left hander was wild. In 2 1-3 innings he gave up five walks, three of them resulting in runs.

Furillo's Home Run In 12th Nets Brooks 2-0 Win Over Braves

BROOKLYN, May 2 (AP) — Carl Furillo slammed his eighth home run of the season with Jackie Robinson on base in the 12th inning to break up a brilliant scoreless pitching duel between Brooklyn's Carl Erskine and Milwaukee's Gene Conley tonight and give the Dodgers a thrilling 2-0 triumph.

Furillo's blow, a long drive that landed in the lower left field stands, came after Gil Hodges had opened the bottom half of the 11th by becoming Conley's eighth strikeout victim and Robinson followed with a walk, Conley's sixth of the game.

Until then, Conley had outpitched Erskine, permitting only three hits to six for the Brooklyn righthander. The Braves had Erskine in trouble in both the 11th and 12th innings but each time Carl wriggled out of a jam, leaving three runners stranded in the 11th and two in the 12th.

The victory, Brooklyn's 16th in 18 starts this season, put them six games in front of the second place Chicago Cubs and 6½ ahead of the third place Braves.

The victory enabled the Cubs to complete a double win over the Phils. They had won the first Sunday game 8-7, coming from behind in the ninth inning with a pair of runs.

The victory was the fifth straight in league competition for the Colonials while the loss was the fourth in seven outings for Richmond.

Phils Lose 2-1 Battle To Cubs

PHILADELPHIA, May 2 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies and the Chicago Cubs traded homers in the second inning tonight, then a Dee Fondy double and an Eddie Miksis single in the third gave the Cubs a 2-1 win in the afterpiece of an abbreviated twin bill.

The Cubs earlier wrapped up a 4-2 win over the Phils in the carried-over second game of a Sunday doubleheader that was called because of the curfew law with Jim Greengrass at bat and one out in the Phils' ninth.

Archie Moore Whips Valdes

Jim Braddock Gives Decision To Champ

LAS VEGAS, Nev., May 2 (AP)—Ancient Archie Moore of California moved his heavyweight campaign into high gear tonight when he pounded out a decision over Nino Valdes of Cuba in a bruising 15-round fight.

The 38-year-old king of the light heavyweights, weighing 196½ captured the verdict over the Havana fighter, 209½, who is rated the No. 1 challenger to Marciano's heavyweight championship.

Referee Jimmy Braddock, the sole arbiter, called the champion from San Diego the winner of eight rounds. He gave the 30-year-old Nino five and called two even.

It was Archie's 20th straight victory and the first loss in 12 straight matches for Valdes.

Moore closed fast to win the decision, and in the eyes of many ringsiders, he had to come with a rush to overtake the long armed Cuban. The Associated Press had it all even going into the fifteenth.

Archie started Valdes' left eye swelling in the sixth round and this may have been the payoff, because Moore knocked it completely shut toward the end of the 13th.

Valdes fought the last two rounds blind in one eye.

There were no knockdowns but this was a bruiser from start to finish.

A turnout estimated at around 7,000 watched the non-televised match in the Las Vegas ball park. Promoter Jack Kearns said the turnout was 10,800 and gate receipts were $102,608, most of it taken in blocks of tickets bought by the hotel people.

Whether Moore will get a chance to meet Marciano, provided Rocky whips Don Cockell in San Francisco May 16, is anyone's guess.

In his dressing room, Moore said he still wants to fight Rocky for the title, but if he can't he will risk his own crown against Bobo Olson, the world middleweight champion.

Moorefield Cops 7th In Row, Halts Franklin Tossers, 11-2

Mongold Yields Four Hits And Whiffs 11; Bean Heads Attack

MOOREFIELD, May 2—A four-hit pitching performance by Harold Mongold and some lusty clouting on the part of Allen Bean who rapped a triple, double and two singles for a perfect day at the plate, highlighted Moorefield High School's seventh consecutive victory of the season over Franklin High School here today. The score was 11-2.

The undefeated Yellow Jackets bunched five of their hits for five runs in the first inning.

Franklin's defeat reduced to two the number of undefeated teams in the Potomac Valley Conference. Moorefield's record in the circuit is 7-0 and Keyser High has scored five consecutive victories. Franklin was 4-0 before today's setback.

Mongold posted his third straight win of the campaign and struck out eleven Franklin batters. Harry Knicely went the route for the Pendleton countians, yielding 10 hits, fanned eight, issued five bases on balls and uncorked six wild pitches. Mongold failed to issue a free ticket.

Puleo And Costa Battle To Draw

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP) — Tony Puleo, a Brooklyn youngster making his debut as a main eventer, tonight surprised Carmelo Costa by holding the sixth ranking featherweight to a ten-round draw in a televised bout at Eastern Parkway Arena. Puleo weighed 134½, Costa 132¼.

Going 10 rounds for the first time, the harder-hitting Puleo, 4-1 underdog, started fast, sagged in the middle rounds, and finished strong to earn his draw.

Judges Art Aidala and Frank Fullam scored the fight evenly while Referee Harry Ebbets had Costa, another Brooklynite, far in front, 7-2-1. The majority votes made it a draw. Aidala had it 4-4-2 with four points for each. Fullam made it 5-5 with five points for each. The AP card had Costa in front, 6-4.

Shoremen Cop Pair

CHESTERTOWN, Md., May 2 (AP)—A pair of three hitters by righthanders Dean Wood and Arnold Sten gave Washington College's undefeated baseball team a doubleheader victory over Mt. St. Mary's today, 5-2 and 6-1.

Senators Crush Athletics, 12-1

KANSAS CITY, May 2 (AP)—Roy Sievers and Jim Busby hit two home runs apiece tonight to lead the Washington Senators to a 12-1 victory over the Kansas City Athletics. Sievers hit both of his home runs with two men on base.

Johnny Schmitz, veteran Washington left-hander, gave up 12 hits but kept them so well scattered that he held the Athletics scoreless until the eighth inning when Gus Zernial hit his fifth home run of the season.

The victory was Schmitz third without a loss. Coming into tonight's game had had a string of 14 consecutive scoreless innings and he ran it to 21 before Zernial connected in the eighth.

Orioles Leader Refuses Trucks For Woodling

Richards Would Like To Land Vic Power

KANSAS CITY, May 2 (AP)—Baltimore Oriole Manager Paul Richards, who needs an effective pitcher who can go the distance, was reported today to have refused to give up outfielder Gene Woodling for Chicago hurler Virgil Trucks in a straight swap.

Before the White Sox and Orioles split a seven-and-a-half-hour doubleheader yesterday, Richards and Chicago's Frank Lane talked trade.

Among other propositions discussed, it was learned, was Lane's bid to exchange the veteran righthander, Trucks, for Woodling, former Yankee who has batted a poor .189 in 17 Baltimore games to date.

"I'd like to have Woodling," Lane admitted, "despite his low batting average. Don't worry about that fellow. The records show he's a good hitter and a solid all-around player. He'll hit for you and I'd like to have him hitting for me."

It was understood Lane offered Trucks for Woodling even up, but Richards turned him down.

The Oriole manager has made no bones about wanting to get Trucks, a 19-12 performer for the Sox last year. But he figures he'd have to get more for Woodling.

Richards has gone on the trading path again. When the team left Chicago yesterday to come here for a two-game series beginning tomorrow, Richards took off to look over some minor league talent.

But before leaving Chicago, he also admitted he would like to have Vic Power, the Athletics' outfielder-first baseman.

Richards and Boudreau will probably have their heads together the next two days.

Don Paye, Allegany High School southpaw, and Donnie Wilkinson, Bruce High righthander, turned in no-run, no hit pitching performances in the Bi-State Conference in games played yesterday at Campobello and Westernport.

Paye pitched Coach Roy Lester's Campers to a 6-0 victory over the Flintstone Aggies while Wilkinson turned back Mt. Savage High School by the same score.

Only 24 Face Paye

Only 24 batsmen faced Paye in the contest at Campobello. Two were safe on fielding miscues and one drew a base on balls. The Camper southpaw struck out 10.

Allegany obtained only five hits off Kenny Lough who went the route for Flintstone. Breedlove and Sullivan batted in two runs each for the winners.

Wilkinson won the decision over Lefty Wayne Fleegle in the tilt at Westernport. In the 7th inning with two out Mt. Savage came near spoiling Wilkinson's no-hitter when Ahern momentarily lost Clauson's fly in the sun but he managed to get under the ball then muffed it. Donnie gave up two bases on balls and struck out six.

Bruce collected eight hits, four of which were shared by Kertesz and Richard Metz. Clyde Broadwater and Kertesz rapped triples for Augie Eichhorn's Bulldogs.

Beall Tops Valley, 6-2

Beall High School moved into a tie with Hyndman for third place by beating Valley High School at Barton, 6-2.

A four-run uprising in the sixth inning decided this contest and gave Ronnie Rice the decision over Ronnie Young.

LaSalle In 2nd Place

LaSalle High School took over the runner-up spot, one game off the pace, by thumping Hyndman High School's Hornets at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 13-5.

Lefty Bill Roberts, who relieved Ritter on the mound in the first inning, got credit for the victory, his third against a single defeat. Harold Hudson led the Explorers' 11-hit assault with a double and two singles in three official trips. Don May obtained two of Hyndman's seven safeties.

Aikins Flattens Delaney In 8th

Knockout Features Fight At St. Nick

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP) — Virgil Aikins, a 4 to 1 underdog knocked out highly rated Ronnie Delaney tonight with a left hook-right cross combination in 2:41 of the eighth round at St. Nicholas Arena. Delaney weighed 149¾, Aikins 146½ pounds.

Delaney, the No. 6 middleweight contender, never had been stopped and had lost only once in 53 previous bouts. He hadn't been beaten since Aug. 30, 1948 when he dropped an eight round decision to Jimmy Welch.

Going into this battle Delaney had a 49-1-3 record, including a decision over Johnny Saxton, then the welter champ, in a non-title go Feb. 11.

A left hook to the jaw staggered Delaney, who backed off to become a sitting duck for the finishing right hand wallop.

Both Hitting .375; Skowron Heads A. L.

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—Wally Moon, one of the shining lights of the St. Louis Cardinals, apparently isn't going to be botherered by baseball's sophomore jinx.

Moon, last season's national league rookie of the year, currently is tied for the senior circuit's batting lead with Don Mueller of the New York Giants. Each is hitting .375.

In 1954 Moon finished with a .304 average and had the distinction of hitting home runs on his first and last at bats of the season.

The speedy St. Louis outfielder has collected 27 hits in 72 trips while Mueller has 24 safeties in 64 times at bat.

Bill Skowron of the New York Yankees is the American League's leader with a .451 mark. He collected 23 hits in 51 at bats before he was sidelined with a torn leg muscle last Wednesday.

Al Kaline, the young Detroit outfielder who received a $34,000 bonus for signing two years ago, is paying the Tigers back in base hits. He's second to Skowron with .419.

Vic Power of Kansas City is third with .414, followed by Detroit's Harvey Kuenn with .386. The records include afternoon games of Monday.

In the National League, the Cards' Rip Repulski holds down the No. 3 spot with .357 followed by Johnny Logan of Milwaukee with .356.

Carl Furillo, Brooklyn's celebrated No. 8 batter, is the National League's home run leader with seven. In the American League, Sherman Lollar of Chicago is the top man with six homers.

Gromek Baffles New York Yanks, Tigers Win, 7-1

Detroit Is Victor Over Lefty Wiesler

DETROIT, May 2 (AP) — Steve Gromek, who has made a career of beating the Yankees, did it again today with a six-hitter that gave the Detroit Tigers a 7-1 victory over the New Yorkers.

Gromek retired the first 12 batters in order and seldom was in trouble as he ran his lifetime record against the Yanks to 17-10.

The Yankees defense, considered one of the best in baseball, fell apart in the third inning, committing three errors to hand the Tigers a pair of unearned runs.

The loss knocked New York back to fourth place.

Gromek was sharp with his control, issuing no walks, and his teammates backed him up with eight hits, including a two-run double by Ferris Fain in the first inning and a home run by Jim Delsing in the eighth.

The Yankees used four pitchers, with starter Bob Wiesler getting the loss. It was Wiesler's first appearance of any kind this season, and the young left hander was wild. In 2 1-3 innings he gave up five walks, three of them resulting in runs.

Furillo's Home Run In 12th Nets Brooks 2-0 Win Over Braves

BROOKLYN, May 2 (AP) — Carl Furillo slammed his eighth home run of the season with Jackie Robinson on base in the 12th inning to break up a brilliant scoreless pitching duel between Brooklyn's Carl Erskine and Milwaukee's Gene Conley tonight and give the Dodgers a thrilling 2-0 triumph.

Furillo's blow, a long drive that landed in the lower left field stands, came after Gil Hodges had opened the bottom half of the 11th by becoming Conley's eighth strikeout victim and Robinson followed with a walk, Conley's sixth of the game.

Until then, Conley had outpitched Erskine, permitting only three hits to six for the Brooklyn righthander. The Braves had Erskine in trouble in both the 11th and 12th innings but each time Carl wriggled out of a jam, leaving three runners stranded in the 11th and two in the 12th.

The victory, Brooklyn's 16th in 18 starts this season, put them six games in front of the second place Chicago Cubs and 6½ ahead of the third place Braves.

The victory enabled the Cubs to complete a double win over the Phils. They had won the first Sunday game 8-7, coming from behind in the ninth inning with a pair of runs.

Archie Moore Whips Valdes

Jim Braddock Gives Decision To Champ

LAS VEGAS, Nev., May 2 (AP)—Ancient Archie Moore of California moved his heavyweight campaign into high gear tonight when he pounded out a decision over Nino Valdes of Cuba in a bruising 15-round fight.

The 38-year-old king of the light heavyweights, weighing 196½ captured the verdict over the Havana fighter, 209½, who is rated the No. 1 challenger to Marciano's heavyweight championship.

Referee Jimmy Braddock, the sole arbiter, called the champion from San Diego the winner of eight rounds. He gave the 30-year-old Nino five and called two even.

It was Archie's 20th straight victory and the first loss in 12 straight matches for Valdes.

Moore closed fast to win the decision, and in the eyes of many ringsiders, he had to come with a rush to overtake the long armed Cuban. The Associated Press had it all even going into the fifteenth.

Archie started Valdes' left eye swelling in the sixth round and this may have been the payoff, because Moore knocked it completely shut toward the end of the 13th.

Valdes fought the last two rounds blind in one eye.

There were no knockdowns but this was a bruiser from start to finish.

A turnout estimated at around 7,000 watched the non-televised match in the Las Vegas ball park. Promoter Jack Kearns said the turnout was 10,800 and gate receipts were $102,608, most of it taken in blocks of tickets bought by the hotel people.

Whether Moore will get a chance to meet Marciano, provided Rocky whips Don Cockell in San Francisco May 16, is anyone's guess.

In his dressing room, Moore said he still wants to fight Rocky for the title, but if he can't he will risk his own crown against Bobo Olson, the world middleweight champion.

Orioles Leader Refuses Trucks For Woodling

Richards Would Like To Land Vic Power

KANSAS CITY, May 2 (AP)—Baltimore Oriole Manager Paul Richards, who needs an effective pitcher who can go the distance, was reported today to have refused to give up outfielder Gene Woodling for Chicago hurler Virgil Trucks in a straight swap.

Before the White Sox and Orioles split a seven-and-a-half-hour doubleheader yesterday, Richards and Chicago's Frank Lane talked trade.

Among other propositions discussed, it was learned, was Lane's bid to exchange the veteran righthander, Trucks, for Woodling, former Yankee who has batted a poor .189 in 17 Baltimore games to date.

"I'd like to have Woodling," Lane admitted, "despite his low batting average. Don't worry about that fellow. The records show he's a good hitter and a solid all-around player. He'll hit for you and I'd like to have him hitting for me."

It was understood Lane offered Trucks for Woodling even up, but Richards turned him down.

The Oriole manager has made no bones about wanting to get Trucks, a 19-12 performer for the Sox last year. But he figures he'd have to get more for Woodling.

Richards has gone on the trading path again. When the team left Chicago yesterday to come here for a two-game series beginning tomorrow, Richards took off to look over some minor league talent.

But before leaving Chicago, he also admitted he would like to have Vic Power, the Athletics' outfielder-first baseman.

Richards and Boudreau will probably have their heads together the next two days.

Three Kentucky Derby Starters Will Run In Trial Today

Half-Dozen Others Will Test Fitness For Saturday Race

By ORLO ROBERTSON

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2 (AP)—A trio of horses already booked for Saturday's 81st running of the Kentucky Derby and a half-dozen others who hope to make the grade will test their fitness for the $125,000 added turf classic in the mile of the Derby Trial tomorrow.

The names of the nine were dropped into the entry box today as the Derby's name candidates—Nashua, Summer Tan and Swaps—jogged around the Churchill Downs oval and then returned to their stalls.

Nashua Works Today

Only Nashua, the odds-on-favorite from William Woodward' Jr's Belair stud, has anything strenuous scheduled for the next few days. The stoutly built son of Nasrullah winner of three $100,000 plus races this year, will work out tomorrow morning under the guidance of his regular jockey, Eddie Arcaro. Bart Sweeney, stable foreman, said Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, the colt's 80-year old trainer, had directed from New York that Nashua be sent a swift mile and gallop out another eighth. The Derby is a mile and a quarter.

Summer Tan from Mrs. John W. Galbreath's stable had his last hard workout Sunday, when he went the full Dermy distance in 2:08 and a fraction. And Swaps showed in his winning race at the Downs last Saturday that he is fit and ready to carry the silks of Rex Ellsworth.

Three Run In Trial

The field for the Derby Trial, a $10,000 added event which Citation, Hill Gail and Dark Star used as a springboard for Derby victories, is headed by Jean's Joe from the Murcain Stable of Mrs. Clint Murchison and Mrs. Effie Marie Cain of near Dallas, Tex., Flying Fury from Harry F. Guggenheim's Cain Hoy Stable and Honeys Alibi, the hope of Harry Warner's W. L Ranch.

These three definitely are slated to be in the Derby post parade Saturday.

SEVENTH RACE—Purse $10,000 Added. The Derby Trail, 3 year olds, 1 mile.

Nabesna	112	Styrunner	112
Flying Fury	118	Gemerica	109
Prince Noor	118	Royal Mon	112
Honeys Alibi	112	Jett Flame	110
Jean's Joe	118

Linotype Operator Wins Race Horse In National Contest

CINCINNATI, May 2 (INS) — Wilter Mills, a 31-year-old Cincinnati linotype operator, who never saw a thoroughbred race until last year, won a two-year-old filly today for submitting the winning name for the horse in a nationwide contest.

Mills won uthe second annual Kentucky Club Derby contest with the name Delphidessa. The filly, a granddaughter of famous Sir Galahad III, will be raced for the first time Friday at Churchill Downs.

The horse will be officially presented to Mills the previous day, and he will remain for the Kentucky Derby on Saturday. Filliqueen, won by a 63-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Evelyn Foley of Danvers, Mass., in last year's contest, has been in the money seven times in ten starts on New England tracks.

Hank Greenberg Sued For Divorce

CLEVELAND, May 2 (INS) — Hank Greenberg, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, was sued for divorce today by his attractive wife, the former Caral Gimbel.

Mrs. Greenberg filed the suit in a Cuyahoga County, Ohio, court charging gross neglect and extreme cruelty.

The Greenberg's, married Feb. 18, 1946 in Brunswick, Ga., have three children—Glenn, 8, Stephen, 6, and Alva, 2.

Mrs. Greenberg, 40, asked the court for custody of the children. She also asked that her husband be restrained from disposing of his property and from taking the children out of the jurisdiction of the court.

Greenberg, who was watching the Indians whip Boston 4 to 2 when he was informed of his wife's action, refused to comment.

Chicago White Sox Sign Vern Stephens

CHICAGO, May 2 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox announced today the signing of Vernon Stephens as a utility infielder and right handed pinch hitter.

Stephens, a free agent, was released about a week ago by Baltimore. He played 101 games with the Orioles last year, batted .285, drove in 46 runs and had hit 8 home runs.

The addition of Stephens, 34, brings the Sox roster to 28 players. Stephens was with the Sox in 1953 and also played with the St. Louis Browns and the Boston Red Sox.

Jockey Clark Rides Triple

Rock Cottage Takes Feature At Laurel

LAUREL, Md., May 2 (AP)—Booting home his third winner out of only three mounts on today's card here, Jockey Charles M. Clark drove Thorncliff Farm's Rock Cottage to a length and a half victory in the featured seventh race at Laurel track.

Earlier Clark—who does the bulk of his riding on the half-mile circuit—scored with both halves of the $131 daily double (Nos. 11 and 4). Scoring in the double were Intheswim ($18.40) and Suppressor ($11.80).

Rock Cottage, moving from a distance last place, lugged in slightly through the stretch, and for this reason Bill Passmore, rider of the runner-up, Gallito, claimed foul.

But the stewards wasted little time examining the motion pictures and making the result official.

Henry H. Hecht's One Throw went off even-money favorite in the mile and a sixteenth race. But he engaged in a rigorous duel early with Air Colonel and neither had anything left when the real racing began.

Air Colonel did, however, salvage third money, four length behind the runner-up.

Bill Hartack, the meeting's leading rider, picked up his twenty-third score in the 13-day-old session in the third race, driving Glenn C. Smith's Pennsy Flier to a neck victory over Darcy. Pennsy Flier and Darcy, coupled as an entry in the betting, returned a $3.20 mutuel.

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, May 2 (INS)—It almost breaks our tender heart to have to puncture a ballyhoo fight balloon before it gets three feet off the ground. But we can't refrain from handing you a few facts, instead of fancies, about John Holman.

As you know, Holman knocked out washed-up Ezzard Charles in the ninth round last week when Charles was leading on points.

So Jim Norris' International Boxing Club tub thumpers immediately dubbed Holman as "the new sensation" and a "terrific threat" to Rocky Marciano.

The chances are that unless you live in or near Chicago, you may never have heard of Holman. He is a tall, 200-pounder who has been fighting for nine years during which he has scored 16 knockouts, won 11 decisions, lost six decisions, fought one draw and was knocked out four times.

He was knocked out twice last year by Bob Satterfield, a fellow Nat Fleischer aptly describes as the man "with an iron fist and a tin chin." Satterfield flattened Holman in 10 rounds in June and again stopped him in one round in November.

Holman is a wild swinger who can hit but who is wide open and whose own chin is vulnerable.

Ring magazine in its monthly ratings gives Holman a place among the first 10 heavyweights, which is fair enough. The first 10 today as the sorriest lot so rated in several decades.

Although he has been fighting nine years, this is the first time Holman ever was mentioned among the "elite." He is placed fifth behind Nino Valdes, Don Cockell, Bob Baker and Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson and ahead of Ezzard Charles, Earl Walls, Rex Layne, Hans Neuhaus and James J. Parker.

The IBC is now trying to arrange a Holman-Charles rematch for Madison Square Garden in June. This will go through if Truman Gibson approves.

Gibson is the IBC's astute attorney, but he also controls behind the scenes more fighters than any dozen managers you can name.

Bernie Glickman is Holman's ostensible manager. When the fight mob heard that Glickman had offered Marcian a $200,000 guarantee to fight Holman, they fell off their chairs laughing. Now if Glickman had said 200 bucks ----.

Meanwhile, we doubt that Marciano is worrying any more about Holman than he is about Cockell, whom he meets in two weeks at San Francisco.

Road Racer Dies

His was the lone death of the race although 21 persons were injured.

Parnell Given O. K.

BALTIMORE, May 2 (INS) — Dr. George Bennett of Johns Hopkins Hospital today gave the green light for Boston Red Sox lefthander Mel Parnell to resume pitching immediately .

Dr. Bennett diagnosed Parnell's ailment as "an enlarged right knee cap" and said the pitcher would be okay if he wore a knee guard similar to that used in basketball.

Prince Hill Pays $68.30 In Feature Race At Belmont

ELMONT, N. Y., May 2 (AP)—Christopher T. Chenery's Prince Hill, ignored in the betting by the crowd of 27,487, closed with a rush in the stretch to win the Cherry Hill Purse at Belmont Park today.

The 4-year-old son of Princequillo-Hildene, therefore a full brother to Hill Prince, stepped the seven furlongs in the good time of 1:25 4/5 to beat Brookmeade Stable's First Aid by a neck. Two and a quarter lengths back came Edward M. O'Brien's Galdar, who had a spread of four lengths over F. Ambrose Clark's Acefull, the early pace-setter.

Prince Hill, ridden by Willie Boland, returned the across the board prices of $68.30, $20.20 and $10.50. First Aid paid $5.20 and $4.10 and Galdar was $4.50 to show.

Wynn Registers Initial Victory Over Bosox, 4-2

Pope Belts 3-Run Homer For Indians

CLEVELAND, May 2 (AP) — Early Wynn hurled his first pitching victory of the season today as the Cleveland Indians defeated the Boston Red Sox 4-2. Dave Pope hit a three run homer for the Indians and Jackie Jensen homered for the Red Sox.

Pope's homer, his first of the season, came in the first inning after Al Smith led off with a double and Ralph Kiner walked. Pope was playing centerfield for Larry Doby, who was sidelined by a strained muscle.

The Indians, held to four hits by three Boston pitchers, scored again in the second when starter Russ Kemmerer walked Smith and Bobby Avila and Vic Wertz singled.

Jensen's homer, his third of the season, came in the sixth with nobody on.

The Red Sox scored in the ninth when Ted Lepcio led off with a double, took third on a wild pitch, and scored on a sacrifice fly by Bill Klaus.

Wynn, sidelined at the opening of the season by bronchial pneumonia, was knocked out of the box in his first start. The big righthander pitched out of a jam in the fourth. The Red Sox filled the bases on a double by Sam White, a walk to Harry Agganis, and a single by Jensen, but Ted Lepcio popped out to Hank Majeski to end the threat.

Pirates Gather 14 Hits To Beat Cardinals, 5-1

Haddix Is Victim, Bob Purkey Victor

PITTSBURGH, May 2 (AP)—Pitcher Bob Purkey of the Pittsburgh Pirates gave up only seven scattered hits to the St. Louis Cardinals today while his teammates were lambasting three Card hurlers for 14 hits to chalk up a 5-1 victory.

The Cards' only run off Purkey was an unearned tally in the fifth inning when Pirate centerfielder Ramon Mejias dropped Harvey Haddix's fly ball, allowing Ken Boyer to score from third.

Purkey didn't allow more than one hit in an inning except for the sixth when the Cards put together two singles.

Purkey also hit three singles and drove in two runs.

He got a big lift from the Pirate defense with four double plays.

The Cards' starting pitcher, Harvey Haddix, gave up 11 of the 14 Pirate hits and all of the runs. During the 6 2-3 innings that he pitched he struck out seven and issued four walks, three of them intentional. He was relieved in the seventh by Frank Smith who was replaced in the eighth by Louis Arroyo.

Baltimore Announces Eight Ladies' Days

BALTIMORE — The Orioles announced today that every Saturday afternoon when the club is home will be Ladies' Day. The established price for women on that day will be thirty-five cents.

Their are eight Saturday day games scheduled for the remainder of the season, the first being on May 14, when the Birds will play host to the Chicago White Sox. Other Ladies' Days will be June 18 (Detroit), June 25 (Kansas City), July 30 (Cleveland), August 6 (Chicago), August 13 (New York), September 10 (Detroit) and September 17 (Washington).

White Skies, Leading Sprinter, Is Destroyed

The chestnut son of Sun Again had been purchased by his present owner, William M. Wickham, for $7,500 at a yearling sale in 1950 and had since won $246,025.

White Skies won 20 of his 37 starts.

Half-Dozen Others Will Test Fitness For Saturday Race

By ORLO ROBERTSON

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2 (AP)—A trio of horses already booked for Saturday's 81st running of the Kentucky Derby and a half-dozen others who hope to make the grade will test their fitness for the $125,000 added turf classic in the mile of the Derby Trial tomorrow.

The names of the nine were dropped into the entry box today as the Derby's name candidates—Nashua, Summer Tan and Swaps—jogged around the Churchill Downs oval and then returned to their stalls.

Nashua Works Today

Only Nashua, the odds-on-favorite from William Woodward' Jr's Belair stud, has anything strenuous scheduled for the next few days. The stoutly built son of Nasrullah winner of three $100,000 plus races this year, will work out tomorrow morning under the guidance of his regular jockey, Eddie Arcaro. Bart Sweeney, stable foreman, said Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, the colt's 80-year old trainer, had directed from New York that Nashua be sent a swift mile and gallop out another eighth. The Derby is a mile and a quarter.

Summer Tan from Mrs. John W. Galbreath's stable had his last hard workout Sunday, when he went the full Dermy distance in 2:08 and a fraction. And Swaps showed in his winning race at the Downs last Saturday that he is fit and ready to carry the silks of Rex Ellsworth.

Three Run In Trial

The field for the Derby Trial, a $10,000 added event which Citation, Hill Gail and Dark Star used as a springboard for Derby victories, is headed by Jean's Joe from the Murcain Stable of Mrs. Clint Murchison and Mrs. Effie Marie Cain of near Dallas, Tex., Flying Fury from Harry F. Guggenheim's Cain Hoy Stable and Honeys Alibi, the hope of Harry Warner's W. L Ranch.

Linotype Operator Wins Race Horse In National Contest

CINCINNATI, May 2 (INS) — Wilter Mills, a 31-year-old Cincinnati linotype operator, who never saw a thoroughbred race until last year, won a two-year-old filly today for submitting the winning name for the horse in a nationwide contest.

Mills won uthe second annual Kentucky Club Derby contest with the name Delphidessa. The filly, a granddaughter of famous Sir Galahad III, will be raced for the first time Friday at Churchill Downs.

The horse will be officially presented to Mills the previous day, and he will remain for the Kentucky Derby on Saturday. Filliqueen, won by a 63-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Evelyn Foley of Danvers, Mass., in last year's contest, has been in the money seven times in ten starts on New England tracks.

Hank Greenberg Sued For Divorce

CLEVELAND, May 2 (INS) — Hank Greenberg, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, was sued for divorce today by his attractive wife, the former Caral Gimbel.

Mrs. Greenberg filed the suit in a Cuyahoga County, Ohio, court charging gross neglect and extreme cruelty.

The Greenberg's, married Feb. 18, 1946 in Brunswick, Ga., have three children—Glenn, 8, Stephen, 6, and Alva, 2.

Mrs. Greenberg, 40, asked the court for custody of the children. She also asked that her husband be restrained from disposing of his property and from taking the children out of the jurisdiction of the court.

Greenberg, who was watching the Indians whip Boston 4 to 2 when he was informed of his wife's action, refused to comment.

Chicago White Sox Sign Vern Stephens

Stephens, a free agent, was released about a week ago by Baltimore. He played 101 games with the Orioles last year, batted .285, drove in 46 runs and had hit 8 home runs.

The addition of Stephens, 34, brings the Sox roster to 28 players. Stephens was with the Sox in 1953 and also played with the St. Louis Browns and the Boston Red Sox.

Jockey Clark Rides Triple

Rock Cottage Takes Feature At Laurel

LAUREL, Md., May 2 (AP)—Booting home his third winner out of only three mounts on today's card here, Jockey Charles M. Clark drove Thorncliff Farm's Rock Cottage to a length and a half victory in the featured seventh race at Laurel track.

Earlier Clark—who does the bulk of his riding on the half-mile circuit—scored with both halves of the $131 daily double (Nos. 11 and 4). Scoring in the double were Intheswim ($18.40) and Suppressor ($11.80).

Rock Cottage, moving from a distance last place, lugged in slightly through the stretch, and for this reason Bill Passmore, rider of the runner-up, Gallito, claimed foul.

But the stewards wasted little time examining the motion pictures and making the result official.

Henry H. Hecht's One Throw went off even-money favorite in the mile and a sixteenth race. But he engaged in a rigorous duel early with Air Colonel and neither had anything left when the real racing began.

Air Colonel did, however, salvage third money, four length behind the runner-up.

Bill Hartack, the meeting's leading rider, picked up his twenty-third score in the 13-day-old session in the third race, driving Glenn C. Smith's Pennsy Flier to a neck victory over Darcy. Pennsy Flier and Darcy, coupled as an entry in the betting, returned a $3.20 mutuel.

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, May 2 (INS)—It almost breaks our tender heart to have to puncture a ballyhoo fight balloon before it gets three feet off the ground. But we can't refrain from handing you a few facts, instead of fancies, about John Holman.

As you know, Holman knocked out washed-up Ezzard Charles in the ninth round last week when Charles was leading on points.

So Jim Norris' International Boxing Club tub thumpers immediately dubbed Holman as "the new sensation" and a "terrific threat" to Rocky Marciano.

The chances are that unless you live in or near Chicago, you may never have heard of Holman. He is a tall, 200-pounder who has been fighting for nine years during which he has scored 16 knockouts, won 11 decisions, lost six decisions, fought one draw and was knocked out four times.

He was knocked out twice last year by Bob Satterfield, a fellow Nat Fleischer aptly describes as the man "with an iron fist and a tin chin." Satterfield flattened Holman in 10 rounds in June and again stopped him in one round in November.

Holman is a wild swinger who can hit but who is wide open and whose own chin is vulnerable.

Ring magazine in its monthly ratings gives Holman a place among the first 10 heavyweights, which is fair enough. The first 10 today as the sorriest lot so rated in several decades.

Although he has been fighting nine years, this is the first time Holman ever was mentioned among the "elite." He is placed fifth behind Nino Valdes, Don Cockell, Bob Baker and Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson and ahead of Ezzard Charles, Earl Walls, Rex Layne, Hans Neuhaus and James J. Parker.

The IBC is now trying to arrange a Holman-Charles rematch for Madison Square Garden in June. This will go through if Truman Gibson approves.

Gibson is the IBC's astute attorney, but he also controls behind the scenes more fighters than any dozen managers you can name.

Bernie Glickman is Holman's ostensible manager. When the fight mob heard that Glickman had offered Marcian a $200,000 guarantee to fight Holman, they fell off their chairs laughing. Now if Glickman had said 200 bucks ----.

Meanwhile, we doubt that Marciano is worrying any more about Holman than he is about Cockell, whom he meets in two weeks at San Francisco.

Road Racer Dies

His was the lone death of the race although 21 persons were injured.

Parnell Given O. K.

BALTIMORE, May 2 (INS) — Dr. George Bennett of Johns Hopkins Hospital today gave the green light for Boston Red Sox lefthander Mel Parnell to resume pitching immediately.

Dr. Bennett diagnosed Parnell's ailment as "an enlarged right knee cap" and said the pitcher would be okay if he wore a knee guard similar to that used in basketball.

Prince Hill Pays $68.30 In Feature Race At Belmont

ELMONT, N. Y., May 2 (AP)—Christopher T. Chenery's Prince Hill, ignored in the betting by the crowd of 27,487, closed with a rush in the stretch to win the Cherry Hill Purse at Belmont Park today.

The 4-year-old son of Princequillo-Hildene, therefore a full brother to Hill Prince, stepped the seven furlongs in the good time of 1:25 4/5 to beat Brookmeade Stable's First Aid by a neck. Two and a quarter lengths back came Edward M. O'Brien's Galdar, who had a spread of four lengths over F. Ambrose Clark's Acefull, the early pace-setter.

Prince Hill, ridden by Willie Boland, returned the across the board prices of $68.30, $20.20 and $10.50. First Aid paid $5.20 and $4.10 and Galdar was $4.50 to show.

Wynn Registers Initial Victory Over Bosox, 4-2

Pope Belts 3-Run Homer For Indians

CLEVELAND, May 2 (AP) — Early Wynn hurled his first pitching victory of the season today as the Cleveland Indians defeated the Boston Red Sox 4-2. Dave Pope hit a three run homer for the Indians and Jackie Jensen homered for the Red Sox.

Pope's homer, his first of the season, came in the first inning after Al Smith led off with a double and Ralph Kiner walked. Pope was playing centerfield for Larry Doby, who was sidelined by a strained muscle.

The Indians, held to four hits by three Boston pitchers, scored again in the second when starter Russ Kemmerer walked Smith and Bobby Avila and Vic Wertz singled.

Jensen's homer, his third of the season, came in the sixth with nobody on.

The Red Sox scored in the ninth when Ted Lepcio led off with a double, took third on a wild pitch, and scored on a sacrifice fly by Bill Klaus.

Wynn, sidelined at the opening of the season by bronchial pneumonia, was knocked out of the box in his first start. The big righthander pitched out of a jam in the fourth. The Red Sox filled the bases on a double by Sam White, a walk to Harry Agganis, and a single by Jensen, but Ted Lepcio popped out to Hank Majeski to end the threat.

Pirates Gather 14 Hits To Beat Cardinals, 5-1

Haddix Is Victim, Bob Purkey Victor

PITTSBURGH, May 2 (AP)—Pitcher Bob Purkey of the Pittsburgh Pirates gave up only seven scattered hits to the St. Louis Cardinals today while his teammates were lambasting three Card hurlers for 14 hits to chalk up a 5-1 victory.

The Cards' only run off Purkey was an unearned tally in the fifth inning when Pirate centerfielder Ramon Mejias dropped Harvey Haddix's fly ball, allowing Ken Boyer to score from third.

Purkey didn't allow more than one hit in an inning except for the sixth when the Cards put together two singles.

Purkey also hit three singles and drove in two runs.

He got a big lift from the Pirate defense with four double plays.

The Cards' starting pitcher, Harvey Haddix, gave up 11 of the 14 Pirate hits and all of the runs. During the 6 2-3 innings that he pitched he struck out seven and issued four walks, three of them intentional. He was relieved in the seventh by Frank Smith who was replaced in the eighth by Louis Arroyo.

Jack Shepard led the Pirate attack with four hits, two of them doubles.

White Skies, Leading Sprinter, Is Destroyed

NEW YORK, May 2 (INS) — White Skies, one of the nation's top thoroughbred sprinters, was destroyed today at Jamaica after a training accident.

The six-year-old sprinter suffered a compound fracture of his right hind cannon bone during a workout and could not be saved.

The chestnut son of Sun Again had been purchased by his present owner, William M. Wickham, for $7,500 at a yearling sale in 1950 and had since won $246,025.

White Skies won 20 of his 37 starts.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Remember the child's definition of an adult: a person who doesn't grow up anymore—only sideways?

It isn't necessary to grow sideways or fore and aft, and nature didn't intend that you should after you've reached maturity and your correct weight. But it is necessary to take the problem firmly in hand. In regard to soft abdominal muscles particularly, which give way to the first bulge and the least attractive one you can have. It shouts middle age and a careless attitude.

Check your weight at the least sign of a too-rounded abdomen. Check it with the scales and with my booklet, "How Much Should You Weigh?", which calculates according to bone structure and age as well as height. Cut calories if even an extra pound or two registers, but count on exercise for necessary muscle strengthening and flesh firming.

Begin exercising this way, because too much strain at first does more harm than good: Lie flat on the floor, knees bent so your feet rest on the floor. Pull your abdominal muscles in hard until the small of your back touches the floor. Take five deep breaths in this position, then relax. Repeat five times. Increase day by day to twenty-five times.

Now you're ready for this one: Lie on the floor again with your legs straight up. Lower them very, very slowly until the small of your back begins to arch. Return to starting position immediately. Three times for this the first day, but daily increase should take the number to fifteen.

HOW MUCH SHOULD YOU WEIGH? A new, lightning calculator that tells you how to compute your own individual ideal weight. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c (in coin) and a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ask for "How Much Should You Weigh?"

Tomorrow: A for Attractiveness.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 2 (INS) — Tyrone Power's doctor says he isn't well enough to travel to Italy, so his plan to make "Lorenzo, the Magnificent" this summer is out.

Instead, Ty will head for Hollywood to star in "Music by Duchin," the first musical he's made since "Alexander's Ragtime Band." "Music by Duchin" is the dramatic story of the young pianist who died at the age of 44. Ty, I think, is a very good choice. He even looks a little like Eddy.

Ty talked to Harry Cohn on the long distance telephone and the deal was made. George Sidney, of course, is directing. All is ready to go as soon as Ty can leave the Katharine Cornell play, "The Dark Is Light Enough."

When Ava Gardner comes back to Hollywood she'll bring with her a pot of kohl, the black eye make-up which the ladies of India have used for centuries. She's been experimenting with it while on location there.

According to an article written from Lahore, Ava is different from the girl we know here.

"She finds the days on location in tropical heat so exhausting that she's been doing a Garbo off duty. She spends her evenings sewing and listening to Beethoven and Mozart on her record machine. Her present ambition is to meet Sir Thomas Beecham," says the article.

Ava, who has had so much bad luck whenever she's been on location, was really admired in Pakistan. Two of the frontier force riflemen were assigned to guard her hotel room, and they were the envy of all the other soldiers.

Someway, Nancy Oakes Von Honyigen-Huene didn't sound happy to me. She says she hasn't been well since the birth of her baby.

This girl has had so much tragedy in her life. Her first husband, Count Alfred De Marigny, stood trial for the murder of her father, Sir Harry Oakes, and was acquitted. The case was never solved.

Nancy saw her mother, who was returning from a trip around the world on the Coronia and stopped in California. She tells me she brought one of the trustees of her father's estate along because they had so much business to talk with her mother. Her husband, Baron Von Honyigen-Huene, will study at Columbia University this winter so she will move from her home in Nassau to spend the winter in New York.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Dorothy and Bob Mitchum board a freighter May 9 starting their four months trip abroad. When school is out the children will join them in Italy.

Spencer Tracy leaves this week with Robert Wise to scout locations for "Jeremy Rodock" in Colorado. While they're there they'll get in a little fishing and a vacation. Still no leading lady.

Nancy Sinatra brought a reluctant Henry Ginsberg to a surprise birthday party in his honor at the home of Jimmy Van Heusen — reluctant, because Henry thought Jimmy was having a party and he didn't want to barge in.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

A MENTAL SWITCH

IT IS an excellent idea for a declarer to change places mentally with this or that defender and decide what he himself would have led or played under given circumstances. But there may be a fatal flaw in this process. The declarer, putting modesty aside, must be sure that his own ideas about leads and plays are the same as the opponents'—otherwise he can scarcely hope to reach the same conclusions.

If all this seems rather abstruse, perhaps we can clear it up with an illustrative deal:

South dealer.

♠ Q J 9 7
♦ Q 6 4
♣ J 10 2

♥ A Q 10
♦ J 9 7 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 ♣	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
5 ♠	Pass	6 ♠ (final bid)

Undeniably, South had a powerful hand, but he was nevertheless pushing when he bid again over North's raise to four spades. North had not shown anything except spade support, and he would have had to give the raise on any four trumps—he did not guarantee possession of Q-J-9-7.

West, no ace-leader by habit or inclination, did not lay down the ace of hearts from his tenace—he elected to open a trump. As it happened, however, South himself was an habitual ace-leader; so, using wish-fulfillment as a substitute for genuine analysis, he took it for granted that because West hadn't led the heart ace, he didn't have it.

Accordingly, South drew trumps, ending in dummy, and confidently led a heart toward his hand, putting in the king when East played low. South was deeply disillusioned when West took the trick and cashed the heart queen, defeating the contract.

Obviously, South's reasoning about the position of the heart ace was unsound, but, apart from that, he overlooked the really good line of play for the contract. After taking the first trick with the spade ace, he should have cashed the diamond ace, then led the spade three to dummy's nine. He should ruff a diamond with the spade king, lead a low club to the ten and ruff the last diamond, then go back to the club jack and draw trumps, discarding two hearts. He could then run enough clubs to fulfill the contract.

Bob Hope, Renovated

Bob Hope, who has not consistently or even very intermittently entertained me for a good many years now, came up with the best show I have ever seen him in last Tuesday night. Hope earlier got some very nice and well-deserved notices for his handling of the Academy Award telecast on which he was relaxed, pleasant and funny.

On this show, unless my eyes were playing me tricks, there seemed to be a determined effort to remould the Hope personality into something a little less brash and a little more winning. This is a formidable task, Hope being the volcanic person that he is, and it wasn't entirely successful, but it was partially so, and that is at least a beginning. In one early sketch Hope played the part of an American yokel on the Eiffel Tower, being pursued by a French charmer named Line Renaud.

In this one, Hope was in mood a lot closer to his "road" movies. The jokes were bounced off him by the two other characters rather than the other way around. Not all of them, of course. We mustn't expect miracles. Hope couldn't resist making a few toppers of his own, a serious mistake, but in general he was a lot more subdued and much easier to take.

All the sketches, I thought, were fresh and reasonably original. One in which Hope teamed up with Lloyd Nolan was a satire on the model prison theme. Hope and Nolan were cast as prisoners in Happy Hideaway Rehabilitation Camp, where they lived in such posh luxury that they didn't want to leave. In fact, they had to be thrown out and promptly staged a prison break back in. There were a few lapses in taste, but it was otherwise a good sketch.

The last sketch was a parody on "This Is Your Life" in which Lassie, the long-lived collie, had all her relatives and friends trotted out. This was the confoundedest dog act I ever saw, the little beasts being all dressed up and walking on their legs and one thing and another. This was too long and it was also on film. (I suppose it had to be filmed; they couldn't have trusted all those canine actors to run through their paces live, but it might have made a very

IT IS an excellent idea for a declarer to change places mentally with this or that defender and decide what he himself would have led or played under given circumstances. But there may be a fatal flaw in this process. The declarer, putting modesty aside, must be sure that his own ideas about leads and plays are the same as the opponents'—otherwise he can scarcely hope to reach the same conclusions.

If all this seems rather abstruse, perhaps we can clear it up with an illustrative deal:

South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 ♣	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
5 ♠	Pass	6 ♠ (final bid)

Undeniably, South had a powerful hand, but he was nevertheless pushing when he bid again over North's raise to four spades. North had not shown anything except spade support, and he would have had to give the raise on any four trumps—he did not guarantee possession of Q-J-9-7.

West, no ace-leader by habit or inclination, did not lay down the ace of hearts from his tenace—he elected to open a trump. As it happened, however, South himself was an habitual ace-leader; so, using wish-fulfillment as a substitute for genuine analysis, he took it for granted that because West hadn't led the heart ace, he didn't have it.

Accordingly, South drew trumps, ending in dummy, and confidently led a heart toward his hand, putting in the king when East played low. South was deeply disillusioned when West took the trick and cashed the heart queen, defeating the contract.

Obviously, South's reasoning about the position of the heart ace was unsound, but, apart from that, he overlooked the really good line of play for the contract. After taking the first trick with the spade ace, he should have cashed the diamond ace, then led the spade three to dummy's nine. He should ruff a diamond with the spade king, lead a low club to the ten and ruff the last diamond, then go back to the club jack and draw trumps, discarding two hearts. He could then run enough clubs to fulfill the contract.

Marlene S. Miller vs. Thomas James Miller, also known as James Thomas Miller, No. 24,076 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of annulment for the Plaintiff, Marlene S. Miller, and against the Defendant, Thomas James Miller, also known as James Thomas Miller, who is a non-resident of the State of Maryland.

The bill states that on June 23, 1952, Thomas James Miller, also known as James Thomas Miller, was married to Marlene S. Miller, at Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland; that the parties lived together until October of 1954 when Thomas James Miller abandoned and deserted the said Plaintiff, without just cause or reason; that one son was born of said marriage, viz: Jeffrey Alan Miller, born on the 27th day of February, 1953, at Uniontown, Fayette County, Pennsylvania; that subsequent to their marriage the said Plaintiff, Marlene S. Miller, discovered that her marriage to the Defendant, the said Thomas James Miller, was bigamous, and that he was, in fact, married and the father of a child at the time of his marriage to the Plaintiff, Marlene S. Miller; that at the time of their marriage the Plaintiff had no knowledge of her husband being at that time married with a wife in California.

It is thereupon this 16th day of April, 1955, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in equity, that the Plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 18th day of May, 1955, giving notice to the said Thomas James Miller, also known as James Thomas Miller, of the object and substance of this bill of annulment, and warning him to be and appear in this Court in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 3rd day of June, 1955, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

interesting shambles if they'd tried.) I don't know what happens to comedy on film, but something does; they miss a beat somewhere. Incidentally, "This Is Your Life" has now been parodied by everything but a troupe of elephants, and I think we can now pass on to other matters.

Hope even got himself mixed up in the commercials and these were pretty funny, too, especially one about a ready-mix "that anyone can throw together"—anyone, that is, except the wide-eyed and very dumb blonde who'd been hired to demonstrate it. ("No, dear. Put it in the other bowl.")

Of course, I have some small complaints. There were far, far too many jokes about Arthur Godfrey firing all his—uh—friends, a gag that has seen strenuous service in the last week or so. Also, I don't know what all the fuss is about. The manner of the firing was hardly in the best of taste and some of Godfrey's subsequent remarks were pretty painful. But, actually, the idea of renovating a tired show whose ratings were slipping badly is not at all unreasonable. Everyone else does it and invariably some actors have to get dropped overboard. Why not Godfrey?

Anyhow, I'm happy Mr. Hope decided to renovate himself. It was high time.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of annulment for the Plaintiff, Marlene S. Miller, and against the Defendant, Thomas James Miller, also known as James Thomas Miller, who is a non-resident of the State of Maryland.

The bill states that on June 23, 1952, Thomas James Miller, also known as James Thomas Miller, was married to Marlene S. Miller; that at the time of their marriage the Plaintiff had no knowledge of her husband being at that time married with a wife in California.

It is thereupon this 16th day of April, 1955, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in equity, that the Plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 18th day of May, 1955, giving notice to the said Thomas James Miller, also known as James Thomas Miller, of the object and substance of this bill of annulment, and warning him to be and appear in this Court in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 3rd day of June, 1955, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

interesting shambles if they'd tried.) I don't know what happens to comedy on film, but something does; they miss a beat somewhere. Incidentally, "This Is Your Life" has now been parodied by everything but a troupe of elephants, and I think we can now pass on to other matters.

Hope even got himself mixed up in the commercials and these were pretty funny, too, especially one about a ready-mix "that anyone can throw together"—anyone, that is, except the wide-eyed and very dumb blonde who'd been hired to demonstrate it. ("No, dear. Put it in the other bowl.")

Of course, I have some small complaints. There were far, far too many jokes about Arthur Godfrey firing all his—uh—friends, a gag that has seen strenuous service in the last week or so. Also, I don't know what all the fuss is about. The manner of the firing was hardly in the best of taste and some of Godfrey's subsequent remarks were pretty painful. But, actually, the idea of renovating a tired show whose ratings were slipping badly is not at all unreasonable. Everyone else does it and invariably some actors have to get dropped overboard. Why not Godfrey?

Anyhow, I'm happy Mr. Hope decided to renovate himself. It was high time.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Social Security Possible For State Employes

Enabling Act Is Signed By Governor

A copy of the enabling act which sets up machinery for allowing employes of the State of Maryland and its political subdivisions to obtain Social Security coverage has been received by Del. Charles M. See, chairman of the Allegany County Delegation.

Passed as House Bill 228, the measure was signed by Governor McKeldin on April 25 and is effective on June 1, 1955. It sets up as a policy of the Legislature the extending of Social Security to workers of the state.

It specifies that the program be administered by the Social Security Division of the Employees Retirement System and authorizes that unit to enter into an agreement with the U. S. Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare for the added protection.

Sets Up Machinery

To be treated as separate units are the State Employes Retirement System, the Teachers Retirement System and the staffs of each institution of higher learning.

The state units, and each political subdivision is authorized to submit for approval of the state agency a plan for extending the benefits to all its members, except those excluded by Social Security laws.

Each unit must pay into a contribution fund its share, the share of costs collected from workers through payroll deductions, and a pro-rated share of the cost of operating the state agency.

Officials Must Ask

The governor is empowered to authorize referendum for any political subdivisions "upon request of the governing body" of the subdivision.

The governor must designate an agency or individual to supervise referendums which must be approved by at least a majority of those entitled to vote on the issue.

No referendum may be held before June 30, 1956,

Del. See said the providios that no referendums may be held until next year was inserted so any state unit or political subdivision could insert funds in its budget to provide for matching funds.

No State Funds May Be Spent On Bridge Job

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners apparently has permission from the State Roads Commission to do anything it wishes with the Flat Rock Bridge located about a mile south of Barton but the improvement and the necessary approach road to State Route 36 will have to be done exclusively at county expense.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson yesterday released a letter he received over the weekend from G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the SRC. Wilkinson had suggested at the April 22 meeting of the county commissioners that steps be taken to reopen the bridge.

In his letter, Chaires quotes from a letter he had received from Russell H. McCain, chairman of the State Roads Commission.

"It is the feeling of the State Roads Commission that whatever improvement the Board of County Commissioners of Allegany County decide to make to this structure, that this improvement and the necessary approach road to our State Route 36 should be at the full expense of the county," McCain wrote.

Included by Chaires with his letter to Wilkinson is a copy of an opinion filed in Allegany County Circuit Court in 1943 by the then Judge D. Lindley Sloan. The equity suit in question then was an effort by the old Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad Company to prevent the county commissioners from reopening the road at the Flat Rock Bridge.

"The contract entered into does not bar the right of the county commissioners, the State Roads Commission being no longer interested, to reopen the old road if it pleases," Judge Sloan wrote then. "It was within its power to agree to close it in the first place as long as it received in lieu thereof what was then and is now regarded as a great public improvement. The county commissioners are just as free now to exercise their rights and powers over the Flat Rock Bridge and the connection with the old road as they heretofore had been . . ."

Driver Who Burned To Death Identified

Pennsylvania State Police have identified the motorist who was burned to death yesterday on the Turnpike about 50 miles east of Bedford as Glenn Williamson, 22, of Clarksburg, W. Va.

They said the soldier was fatally burned when a tractor trailer struck the rear of his auto and drove it into the rear of another tractor trailer. The auto caught fire.

Police indicated Williamson was en route to Philadelphia when he halted behind a truck driven by Ralph E. Irvin of Altoona. The officers said a truck operated by Marvin Morris of Lawrenceburg, Ky., then crashed into the soldier's car and drove it into Irvin's truck. Neither truck driver was injured.

New Contract Is Signed

Company and union officials sat down here yesterday and signed a new contract covering some 1,700 hourly paid employes of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant. Inking identical copies of the agreement are F. T. Bell, personnel manager of the company; William A. Kuehner, international representative of the United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America (CIO), and William G. Rice, president of Local 26, URCLPWA (CIO).

Kelly Plant And Local 26 Sign Working Agreement

The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America (CIO), concluded their current contract negotiations by signing a contract at 2:30 p, m. yesterday. The effective date of the new contract is yesterday and and the period covered extends to March 1, 1957.

An improved method of selection of vacation periods, the extension of recall rights, make-up pay for jury duty, and provision for leave of absence if elected to federal or state public office are among the provisions of the new contract.

The company has indicated its intention of shutting down production operations during the week between Christmas and New Year's Day for the purpose of maintenance operations, taking inventory and vacations. In the new contract, production employes will be given the opportunity to designate the week between Christmas and New Year's as one week of their vacation with the balance of the vacations being scheduled from February 1 through the balance of the year.

Under the change of recall rights, employes with two years or more continuous service at the time of furlough will have unlimited recall rights under certain conditions.

The new contract was signed for Local 26, URCLPWA (CIO), by William G. Rice, local union president; A. E. Johnson and C. E. O'Baker, representing the production employes; L. F. Barkman and R. C. Adams, representing engineering employes, and William Kuchner, International union representative. F. T. Bell, personnel manager; H. H. Lowery, efficiency department manager; H. C. Reed, shift superintendent, and Harry Nelson, employment manager, signed for the company.

Local No. 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America-CIO, and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company have thus continued their fine record of settling their contract negotiations without any loss of work. This record has been maintained since the union was recognized as a bargaining unit in 1936.

Local Man Engineer Of Huge Tunnel

A former resident, Edward V. Jones, a representative of the engineering firm, Singstad and Baillie, with offices in Baltimore, is the engineer of the $130,000,000 Patapsco Tunnel project now underway in that city.

Completion date for the huge tunnel has been set for 1957, according to plans of the State Roads Commission. The project is an addition to the highway system which will link Canton and Fairfield to provide a key north-south traffic link around Baltimore.

Within the next three years the world's first double-tube automobile tunnel of sectional construction will have been sunk in place in a 100-foot-day trench dug beneath the Patapsco River; two ten-story ventilation buildings will have become Baltimore waterfront landmarks and 14 miles of superhighway will have joined the tunnel with nearby routes.

According to Jones, who received his early education in Cumberland, the roadway will be brick, with lanes marked by white blocks, the ceilings a pale yellow and the upper walls a deep canary yellow.

For the past two years SRC officials and consulting engineers have been making survey reports and using drawing boards to get the project to the building stage.

This stage was officially reached on April 1 when the contract of the construction of the tunnel sections and shafts were let.

The tunnel is to be built in 21 sections, each of which is 300 feet long, 69 feet across and approximately 35 feet high. The sections weigh 23,000 tons, about the same as a heavy cruiser, and will be constructed on shipbuilding ways.

Jones, who is a brother of Dr. Emmett L. Jones Jr., LaVale, local oculist, and Mrs. Olivia White, 522 Washington Street, was born and reared in Cumberland and attended the old West Side School. His later education included studies at Phillips Exeter Academy in New Hampshire as well as the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Pigeon Races Resume Here

The first old bird race of the Allegany Racing Pigeon Club's 1955 series Sunday from West Union, W. Va., was a closely contested affair in which only 15 yards separated the first 10 birds.

Inspiration, from the Lost Loft of Dudley Shafer, North Mechanic Street, was the winner with a speed of 1,245.9 yards per minute for the 100 miles between West Union and Cumberland. The birds were liberated by James Martin, the club's special liberator in clear weather.

The birds encountered variable winds en route home.

Other birds among the top 10: Big John, Excello Loft of M. M. Green, North Mechanic Street, 1,244.84 yards; Kansas City Silver, MacArthur Loft of C. A. Smith and J. J. McAtee, LaVale, 1,243.87 yards; Red Tick, MacArthur Loft, 1,241.96 yards; White Hawk, Wills Creek Loft of John Jenkins, North Mechanic Street, 1,241.23 yards; Ants, Excello Loft, 1,240.18 yards; Bill Bones, Wills Creek Loft, 1,237.85 yards; Blue Dilly, North End Loft, Francis Stitcher, 1,237.19 yards; Little One, Lost Loft, 1,235.67 yards; Charcoal, Columbia Loft of Robert Kiiffner, 1,230.01 yards.

The second race will be another 100-mile event from West Union Sunday, May 8.

Police, Firemen's Ball Scheduled Early This Year

Planned July 1 At Clary Club

The 33rd annual Police and Firemen's ball will be held at the Clary Club July 1, the sponsoring Police and Firemen's Welfare Association announced last night.

The annual dance is being held earlier this year because the local association has shifted its fiscal year from July 1 to June 30, officials of the organization stated.

Last year's dance, which also was held at the Clary Club on October 1, had approximately 250 couples in attendance.

The association began its ticket selling campaign yesterday and the officers noted that all members of the group who will be selling tickets to the dance will carry identification cards while soliciting funds.

For the fourth straight year the local organization will handle the promotion of the ball itself with no outside promoters to be used. All monies obtained from the affair will go into the welfare fund to provide for sickness, accident and death benefits of its approximately 90 members.

Vincent Wegman, treasurer, said the support of business and professional people in the past has been greatly appreciated and helpful in promoting the successful affairs.

John Morrissey, program chairman, has arranged for the Midnighters Orchestra to play for dancing from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m. Robert C. Long, ticket committee chairman, said tickets may be obtained from any member of the welfare association or by contacting Central Fire Station.

Working on the ticket and program committees are Wegman, Jacob Winters, Earl Hershberger, George Lease, John Carney, Thomas Lindner, James Hunter, Harry Iser, Warren Brehem, Richard Lashley, Paul Penrod and others.

Officers of the welfare association are Charles Cubbage, president; Robert Long, secretary; Vincent Wegman, treasurer; and John Morrissey, Virgil McClure and William Shook, trustees.

As one of its golden anniversary projects, the Cumberland Rotary Club will present the Community Room at Central YMCA to the Y Board of Directors today during the regular weekly luncheon meeting at 12:15 p. m.

Located on the lower floor of the building, the newly decorated and enlarged dining room will accommodate over 200 persons. Engineer of the project was Charles Herath.

Funds for the renovations were underwritten by the local Rotarians who guaranteed $5,000 of the costs. The name was decided upon by a joint committee of Rotary members and the Y Board of Directors.

The speaker's table has been raised and the ceiling equipped with the latest acoustical materials. The interior of the room has been completely repainted.

Md. Land Week Plans Center On Union Grove

Committee Begins Pushing Program

A coordination meeting of the Western Maryland area Maryland Land Week committee was held yesterday afternoon at the County Extension office in the local Court House and plans were furthered for the observance of Land Week, October 11 to 15.

Here in Allegany County on October 13 timber marking will take place at the Union Grove Campgrounds with a tour of the Ralph Ferguson farm also slated.

The Union Grove Homemakers, according to Joseph M. Steger, county agent, will serve a lunch on that day. Also scheduled is a meeting at a local high school at which time an outstanding speaker from Cumberland will give a talk.

Yesterday's meeting was presided over by Foster Yost, chairman of the Land Week Committee of this area. Attending the meeting besides Steger and Yost were Fred Bull, extension soil conservation specialist from the University of Maryland; his assistant, Paul Galbraith, James McHenry, secretary of the committee, county agents, soil conservationists and other committee members.

Committee members from Allegany County include Charles L. Kopp, Floyd Buser and Mrs. Holmes Cessna. Frederick County's committeemen are Charles H. Mrs. Jack McGolerick while Yost, Dorsey Guard and Mrs. Ralph Buckel are committeemen from Garrett County.

Ralph McCauley, Clyde Creek and Mrs. Ray Rohrer are the committeemen of Washington County. McCauley is also treasurer of the Land Week Committee.

MAGISTRATE MORRIS BARON

Magistrate Baron Assumes Duties In Juvenile Court

Morris Baron, 72-year-old attorney and former substitute magistrate, yesterday assumed the duties of magistrate for juvenile causes and "spent a quiet, routine day getting organized," in Juvenile Court.

The recently-appointed magistrate who has spent the past four years as a substitute trial magistrate in Allegany County took over the office upon the retirement of Magistrate Alban C. Thompson. Baron was sworn in in ceremonies in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday by Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden.

The Juvenile Court magistrate is a graduate of Harvard University, class of 1904, and remembers his most distinguished classmate as the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt, who became President of the United States.

He went to the Jewish Theological Seminary of America and obtained his degree of Master of Hebrew Letters and Rabbi there while at the same time getting his Masters degree in law at Columbia in 1905.

A native of New England, Magistrate Baron came to Cumberland in 1906 as Rabbi of B'er Chayim congregation, in which capacity he served until 1914 when he passed his bar examinations and was admitted to the Maryland and Allegany County Bar Associations. He has practiced law in the Queen City since that time, having been appointed as substitute magistrate in 1951 by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin.

The father of two daughters and a son, Magistrate Baron now resides with his son-in-law, and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel G. Wiseman, 516 Washington Street. His wife, the former Reine N. Weiner of Baltimore, died in 1945.

When he took his seat in Juvenile Court Baron said, "I can see that very few people realize the importance of the proper function of the Juvenile Court. Instead of being some second rate legal adjutant to the judicial system of the state, it has become a very important part of it.

"The fortunes of hundreds of families and hundreds of boys and girls of the teen-age group will depend upon the proper functioning of the Juvenile Court. It has to be administered with sympathy, knowledge and at the same time with firmness.

"My present plans are to call upon the help and participation of the clergy, of the county, of the school personnel and the welfare agencies for the knowledge and assistance, of the Parent Teacher Associations and of all people who are interested in the future growth and development of our younger citizens."

Child Improves

Charlotte Hockenberry, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hockenberry, 410 South Cedar Street, was reported improving last night in Sacred Heart Hospital where she was admitted Sunday after becoming ill from an apparent overdose of sleeping pills.

Blood Bank Again Tops City Quota

152 Pints Taken On One-Day Visit

Cumberland again met its quota in the Red Cross Blood Bank, when the mobile unit visited here yesterday.

A total of 152 pints of blood was collected, with 19 pints from first-time donors and 10 pints from seven-timers who made the Gallon Club.

Recruiters for donors had scheduled a total of 252 persons for yesterday's blood bank. However, only 119 of these kept their appointments. Sickness, death in families, work schedules and other reasons kept the majority away. However, 44 volunteer walk-ins . . . people who just came in to give a pint of blood . . . saved the day.

Of the total of 119 appointments and 44 walkins, 11 were rejected after examination by Dr. W. Royce Hodges, the attending volunteer physician for the day. Most of the rejections were due to colds or other minor ailments.

The ten new members of the Gallon Club are Arthur Bopp, 1621 Bedford Road; Charles Edward Brode, 555 Greene Street; Richard L. Bucy, Bowling Green; Taylor A. Dickens, Valley Road; Mrs. W. W. Hartman, 507 Warren Street; Robert P. Mertens, Bedford Road; Philip M. Reuschel, 611 Oldtown Road; Mrs. Eola Scott, 907 Fayette Street; Marvin W. Smith, Cresap Drive; and Mrs. William Loren Ranck, 100 Mellon Street.

Sponsored by the Allegany County Chapter American Red Cross, the bloodmobile unit comes to the county every month. Last month and this month, one-day visits were scheduled, but throughout the rest of the year, two-day visits may be necessary to keep the required supply of blood flowing to the Memorial Hospital, Sacred Heart Hospital and Miners Hospital, as well as fill the area's quota to the Armed Forces.

Will Push Flood Plan

The George's Creek Flood Control Association will conduct meetings tonight and tomorrow night in Barton to stimulate interest in a flood control program for the area, according to Charles S. Harvey, chairman.

Tonight at the Barton PTA meeting, starting at 7:30 o'clock at Barton Elementary School, representatives of the association will explain the aims of the group. They also will show a movie entitled "Valley of Still Waters" and distribute flood control questionnaires to those attending.

Then a community-wide meeting is scheduled at the Barton Fire Hall at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow. It will be conducted along the same lines as tonight's program.

Tonight's program will be conducted by Harvey, G. Franklin Martens of Frostburg, association secretary, and Martin M. Gordon, soil conservation aid for the Soil Conservation Service here. It is expected that John Barnard, soil conservationist at College Park, will attend the Wednesday night session.

Last Friday the Board of Supervisors of the Allegany County Soil Conservation District petitioned Edward M. Davia, state conservationist of the United States Soil Conservation Service in College Park to do all in his power to get the Department of Agriculture to authorize a survey and the preparation of a flood protection program for the George's Creek Valley.

Delegation Receives Early Copies Of Bills

Advance sheets of bills enacted by the 1955 General Assembly are being forwarded to members of the Allegany County Delegation, according to Del. Charles M. See, chairman.

He said the laws are being forwarded as they come from the printer and are exact copies of pages which will be found in bound copies.

He said all of the legislation should be received in advance form by June 1.

U. S. Asks Report On Office Staff Here

BALTIMORE, May 2 (AP)—Joseph Sherbow, Baltimore lawyer and former circuit judge who has a reputation born of service as chairman or member of numerous State commissions, today took over the investigation of alleged irregularities in the Department of Employment Security.

Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert, whose department was placed in charge of the probe last week, announced the appointment and said Sherbow had accepted.

"I feel that such an investigation must be undertaken promptly: it must be fair and impartial; and it must be thorough and complete," Sybert said.

"We have the assurance of fullest cooperation of Robert B. Kimble, new chairman of the Employment Security Board, and of the governor and all State agencies whose aid and assistance will be required.

Reports To Sybert

"I have requested Joseph Sherbow, an attorney of long and wide experience to conduct the investigation on behalf of the attorney general. He will report directly to me," Sybert said.

The attorney general said Sherbow "will promptly undertake this task, which is of importance not only to all employers and employes whose funds are involved, but important as well to the many employes of the Employment Security Board, and to the citizens of the State of Maryland."

Sherbow will probe charges concerning past operation of the Employment Security Department, including use of a $234,000 administrative fund to buy cars and cover $6,000 in luncheon and travel expenses, padding of the payroll of the Cumberland office with unnecessary employes and other irregularities.

Gov. McKeldin already has asked for a report concerning the award of a $13,380 floor-waxing contract to a firm operated by law associates of James N. Phillips, legal counsel to the ESB.

U. S. Asks Report

The U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Employment Security, which provides about 3 million dollars annually for operating expenses of the State agency, has asked for a report on the alleged hiring of seven employes in the Cumberland office who were described as "unneeded."

Judge Sherbow, former people's counsel and general counsel to the Public Service Commission, headed the commission on distribution of State tax revenues.

He revealed inequities in the distribution of welfare funds which led to administrative changes that corrected the situation.

While a member of Baltimore's Supreme Bench, Sherbow helped form the Youth Court where offenders under 21 are tried and was credited with focusing attention on the growing use of drugs by the city's teenagers.

His action led to formation of a special police narcotics squad and adoption of laws fixing stiffer penalties for narcotics violators.

Ogden is a graduate of West Virginia University at Morgantown, where he received his Bachelor of Science degree in June of 1952. He majored in forestry.

His duties in this area will be the care of the wildlife management program in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties. A native of Morgantown, Ogden attended high school there and during his senior year enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps.

He was overseas in the Pacific for 23 months and saw duty on Okinawa, the Solomon Islands as well as the Pellieu Islands.

Following his discharge from the Marines, he completed his high school education at Confluence, Pa. For several years he worked as a draftsman in Pittsburgh, Pa., and Fairmont, W. Va.

Social Security Possible For State Employes

Enabling Act Is Signed By Governor

A copy of the enabling act which sets up machinery for allowing employes of the State of Maryland and its political subdivisions to obtain Social Security coverage has been received by Del. Charles M. See, chairman of the Allegany County Delegation.

Passed as House Bill 228, the measure was signed by Governor McKeldin on April 25 and is effective on June 1, 1955. It sets up as a policy of the Legislature the extending of Social Security to workers of the state.

It specifies that the program be administered by the Social Security Division of the Employees Retirement System and authorizes that unit to enter into an agreement with the U. S. Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare for the added protection.

Sets Up Machinery

To be treated as separate units are the State Employes Retirement System, the Teachers Retirement System and the staffs of each institution of higher learning.

The state units, and each political subdivision is authorized to submit for approval of the state agency a plan for extending the benefits to all its members, except those excluded by Social Security laws.

Each unit must pay into a contribution fund its share, the share of costs collected from workers through payroll deductions, and a pro-rated share of the cost of operating the state agency.

Officials Must Ask

The governor is empowered to authorize referendum for any political subdivisions "upon request of the governing body" of the subdivision.

The governor must designate an agency or individual to supervise referendums which must be approved by at least a majority of those entitled to vote on the issue.

No referendum may be held before June 30, 1956.

Del. See said the providios that no referendums may be held until next year was inserted so any state unit or political subdivision could insert funds in its budget to provide for matching funds.

No State Funds May Be Spent On Bridge Job

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners apparently has permission from the State Roads Commission to do anything it wishes with the Flat Rock Bridge located about a mile south of Barton but the improvement and the necessary approach road to State Route 36 will have to be done exclusively at county expense.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson yesterday released a letter he received over the weekend from G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the SRC. Wilkinson had suggested at the April 22 meeting of the county commissioners that steps be taken to reopen the bridge.

In his letter, Chaires quotes from a letter he had received from Russell H. McCain, chairman of the State Roads Commission.

"It is the feeling of the State Roads Commission that whatever improvement the Board of County Commissioners of Allegany County decide to make to this structure, that this improvement and the necessary approach road to our State Route 36 should be at the full expense of the county," McCain wrote.

Included by Chaires with his letter to Wilkinson is a copy of an opinion filed in Allegany County Circuit Court in 1943 by the then Judge D. Lindley Sloan. The equity suit in question then was an effort by the old Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad Company to prevent the county commissioners from reopening the road at the Flat Rock Bridge.

"The contract entered into does not bar the right of the county commissioners, the State Roads Commission being no longer interested, to reopen the old road if it pleases," Judge Sloan wrote then. "It was within its power to agree to close it in the first place as long as it received in lieu thereof what was then and is now regarded as a great public improvement. The county commissioners are just as free now to exercise their rights and powers over the Flat Rock Bridge and the connection with the old road as they heretofore had been . . ."

Driver Who Burned To Death Identified

Pennsylvania State Police have identified the motorist who was burned to death yesterday on the Turnpike about 50 miles east of Bedford as Glenn Williamson, 22, of Clarksburg, W. Va.

They said the soldier was fatally burned when a tractor trailer struck the rear of his auto and drove it into the rear of another tractor trailer. The auto caught fire.

Police indicated Williamson was en route to Philadelphia when he halted behind a truck driven by Ralph E. Irvin of Altoona. The officers said a truck operated by Marvin Morris of Lawrenceburg, Ky., then crashed into the soldier's car and drove it into Irvin's truck. Neither truck driver was injured.

New Contract Is Signed

Company and union officials sat down here yesterday and signed a new contract covering some 1,700 hourly paid employes of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant. Inking identical copies of the agreement are F. T. Bell, personnel manager of the company; William A. Kuehner, international representative of the United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America (CIO), and William G. Rice, president of Local 26, URCLPWA (CIO).

Kelly Plant And Local 26 Sign Working Agreement

The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America (CIO), concluded their current contract negotiations by signing a contract at 2:30 p. m. yesterday. The effective date of the new contract is yesterday and and the period covered extends to March 1, 1957.

An improved method of selection of vacation periods, the extension of recall rights, make-up pay for jury duty, and provision for leave of absence if elected to federal or state public office are among the provisions of the new contract.

The company has indicated its intention of shutting down production operations during the week between Christmas and New Year's Day for the purpose of maintenance operations, taking inventory and vacations. In the new contract, production employes will be given the opportunity to designate the week between Christmas and New Year's as one week of their vacation with the balance of the vacations being scheduled from February 1 through the balance of the year.

Under the change of recall rights, employes with two years or more continuous service at the time of furlough will have unlimited recall rights under certain conditions.

The new contract was signed for Local 26, URCLPWA (CIO), by William G. Rice, local union president; A. E. Johnson and C. E. O'Baker, representing the production employes; L. F. Barkman and R. C. Adams, representing engineering employes, and William Kuchner, International union representative. F. T. Bell, personnel manager; H. H. Lowery, efficiency department manager; H. C. Reed, shift superintendent, and Harry Nelson, employment manager, signed for the company.

Local No. 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America-CIO, and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company have thus continued their fine record of settling their contract negotiations without any loss of work. This record has been maintained since the union was recognized as a bargaining unit in 1936.

Local Man Engineer Of Huge Tunnel

A former resident, Edward V. Jones, a representative of the engineering firm, Singstad and Baillie, with offices in Baltimore, is the engineer of the $130,000,000 Patapsco Tunnel project now underway in that city.

Completion date for the huge tunnel has been set for 1957, according to plans of the State Roads Commission. The project is an addition to the highway system which will link Canton and Fairfield to provide a key north-south traffic link around Baltimore.

Within the next three years the world's first double-tube automobile tunnel of sectional construction will have been sunk in place in a 100-foot-day trench dug beneath the Patapsco River; two ten-story ventilation buildings will have become Baltimore waterfront landmarks and 14 miles of superhighway will have joined the tunnel with nearby routes.

According to Jones, who received his early education in Cumberland, the roadway will be brick, with lanes marked by white blocks, the ceilings a pale yellow and the upper walls a deep canary yellow.

For the past two years SRC officials and consulting engineers have been making survey reports and using drawing boards to get the project to the building stage.

This stage was officially reached on April 1 when the contract of the construction of the tunnel sections and shafts were let.

The tunnel is to be built in 21 sections, each of which is 300 feet long, 69 feet across and approximately 35 feet high. The sections weigh 23,000 tons, about the same as a heavy cruiser, and will be constructed on shipbuilding ways.

Jones, who is a brother of Dr. Emmett L. Jones Jr., LaVale, local oculist, and Mrs. Olivia White, 522 Washington Street, was born and reared in Cumberland and attended the old West Side School. His later education included studies at Phillips Exeter Academy in New Hampshire as well as the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Planned July 1 At Clary Club

The 33rd annual Police and Firemen's ball will be held at the Clary Club July 1, the sponsoring Police and Firemen's Welfare Association announced last night.

The annual dance is being held earlier this year because the local association has shifted its fiscal year from July 1 to June 30, officials of the organization stated.

The association began its ticket selling campaign yesterday and the officers noted that all members of the group who will be selling tickets to the dance will carry identification cards while soliciting funds.

For the fourth straight year the local organization will handle the promotion of the ball itself with no outside promoters to be used. All monies obtained from the affair will go into the welfare fund to provide for sickness, accident and death benefits of its approximately 90 members.

Vincent Wegman, treasurer, said the support of business and professional people in the past has been greatly appreciated and helpful in promoting the successful affairs.

John Morrissey, program chairman, has arranged for the Midnighters Orchestra to play for dancing from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m. Robert C. Long, ticket committee chairman, said tickets may be obtained from any member of the welfare association or by contacting Central Fire Station.

Working on the ticket and program committees are Wegman, Jacob Winters, Earl Hershberger, George Lease, John Carney, Thomas Lindner, James Hunter, Harry Iser, Warren Brehem, Richard Lashley, Paul Penrod and others.

MAGISTRATE MORRIS BARON

Magistrate Baron Assumes Duties In Juvenile Court

Morris Baron, 72-year-old attorney and former substitute magistrate, yesterday assumed the duties of magistrate for juvenile causes and "spent a quiet, routine day getting organized," in Juvenile Court.

The recently-appointed magistrate who has spent the past four years as a substitute trial magistrate in Allegany County took over the office upon the retirement of Magistrate Alban C. Thompson. Baron was sworn in in ceremonies in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday by Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden.

The Juvenile Court magistrate is a graduate of Harvard University, class of 1904, and remembers his most distinguished classmate as the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt, who became President of the United States.

He went to the Jewish Theological Seminary of America and obtained his degree of Master of Hebrew Letters and Rabbi there while at the same time getting his Masters degree in law at Columbia in 1905.

A native of New England, Magistrate Baron came to Cumberland in 1906 as Rabbi of B'er Chayim congregation, in which capacity he served until 1914 when he passed his bar examinations and was admitted to the Maryland and Allegany County Bar Associations. He has practiced law in the Queen City since that time, having been appointed as substitute magistrate in 1951 by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin.

The father of two daughters and a son, Magistrate Baron now resides with his son-in-law, and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel G. Wiseman, 516 Washington Street. His wife, the former Reine N. Weiner of Baltimore, died in 1945.

When he took his seat in Juvenile Court Baron said, "I can see that very few people realize the importance of the proper function of the Juvenile Court. Instead of being some second rate legal adjutant to the judicial system of the state, it has become a very important part of it.

"The fortunes of hundreds of families and hundreds of boys and girls of the teen-age group will depend upon the proper functioning of the Juvenile Court. It has to be administered with sympathy, knowledge and at the same time with firmness.

"My present plans are to call upon the help and participation of the clergy, of the county, of the school personnel and the welfare agencies for the knowledge and assistance, of the Parent Teacher Associations and of all people who are interested in the future growth and development of our younger citizens."

Blood Bank Again Tops City Quota

152 Pints Taken On One-Day Visit

Cumberland again met its quota in the Red Cross Blood Bank, when the mobile unit visited here yesterday.

A total of 152 pints of blood was collected, with 19 pints from first-time donors and 10 pints from seven-timers who made the Gallon Club.

Recruiters for donors had scheduled a total of 252 persons for yesterday's blood bank. However, only 119 of these kept their appointments. Sickness, death in families, work schedules and other reasons kept the majority away. However, 44 volunteer walk-ins . . . people who just came in to give a pint of blood . . . saved the day.

Of the total of 119 appointments and 44 walkins, 11 were rejected after examination by Dr. W. Royce Hodges, the attending volunteer physician for the day. Most of the rejections were due to colds or other minor ailments.

The ten new members of the Gallon Club are Arthur Bopp, 1621 Bedford Road; Charles Edward Brode, 555 Greene Street; Richard L. Bucy, Bowling Green; Taylor A. Dickens, Valley Road; Mrs. W. W. Hartman, 507 Warren Street; Robert P. Mertens, Bedford Road; Philip M. Reuschel, 611 Oldtown Road; Mrs. Eola Scott, 907 Fayette Street; Marvin W. Smith, Cresap Drive; and Mrs. William Loren Ranck, 100 Mellon Street.

Sponsored by the Allegany County Chapter American Red Cross, the bloodmobile unit comes to the county every month. Last month and this month, one-day visits were scheduled, but throughout the rest of the year, two-day visits may be necessary to keep the required supply of blood flowing to the Memorial Hospital, Sacred Heart Hospital and Miners Hospital, as well as fill the area's quota to the Armed Forces.

Will Push Flood Plan

The George's Creek Flood Control Association will conduct meetings tonight and tomorrow night in Barton to stimulate interest in a flood control program for the area, according to Charles S. Harvey, chairman.

Tonight at the Barton PTA meeting, starting at 7:30 o'clock at Barton Elementary School, representatives of the association will explain the aims of the group. They also will show a movie entitled "Valley of Still Waters" and distribute flood control questionnaires to those attending.

Then a community-wide meeting is scheduled at the Barton Fire Hall at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow. It will be conducted along the same lines as tonight's program.

Tonight's program will be conducted by Harvey, G. Franklin Martens of Frostburg, association secretary, and Martin M. Gordon, soil conservation aid for the Soil Conservation Service here. It is expected that John Barnard, soil conservationist at College Park, will attend the Wednesday night session.

Last Friday the Board of Supervisors of the Allegany County Soil Conservation District petitioned Edward M. Davia, state conservationist of the United States Soil Conservation Service in College Park to do all in his power to get the Department of Agriculture to authorize a survey and the preparation of a flood protection program for the George's Creek Valley.

Delegation Receives Early Copies Of Bills

Advance sheets of bills enacted by the 1955 General Assembly are being forwarded to members of the Allegany County Delegation, according to Del. Charles M. See, chairman.

He said the laws are being forwarded as they come from the printer and are exact copies of pages which will be found in bound copies.

He said all of the legislation should be received in advance form by June 1.

U. S. Asks Report On Office Staff Here

BALTIMORE, May 2 (AP)—Joseph Sherbow, Baltimore lawyer and former circuit judge who has a reputation born of service as chairman or member of numerous State commissions, today took over the investigation of alleged irregularities in the Department of Employment Security.

Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert, whose department was placed in charge of the probe last week, announced the appointment and said Sherbow had accepted.

"I feel that such an investigation must be undertaken promptly; it must be fair and impartial; and it must be thorough and complete," Sybert said.

"We have the assurance of fullest cooperation of Robert B. Kimble, new chairman of the Employment Security Board, and of the governor and all State agencies whose aid and assistance will be required.

"I have requested Joseph Sherbow, an attorney of long and wide experience to conduct the investigation on behalf of the attorney general. He will report directly to me," Sybert said.

The attorney general said Sherbow "will promptly undertake this task, which is of importance not only to all employers and employes whose funds are involved, but important as well to the many employes of the Employment Security Board, and to the citizens of the State of Maryland."

Sherbow will probe charges concerning past operation of the Employment Security Department, including use of a $234,000 administrative fund to buy cars and cover $6,000 in luncheon and travel expenses, padding of the payroll of the Cumberland office with unnecessary employes and other irregularities.

Gov. McKeldin already has asked for a report concerning the award of a $13,380 floor-waxing contract to a firm operated by law associates of James N. Phillips, legal counsel to the ESB.
